IF RELEASED IN TEXAS

Doctor Says Gov. Long May Enter Hospital In N.O.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — One of Louisiana Gov. Earl Long's doctors said Saturday night there is a possibility Long will voluntarily enter a New Orleans hospital for treatment if he is successful in avoiding commitment here after a sanity hearing in Texas.

The doctor, who asked not to be identified, said Long "is in condition to do that now if he can stick to it." The doctor hinted that Long's condition has improved to such an extent that the doctors who signed the papers supporting Mrs. Long's application for commitment of the governor might no longer feel such commitment necessary.

HEARING MONDAY

Scheduled for hearing here Monday is Long's application for a writ of habeas corpus, designed to free him from custody. Set for the next day is a sanity hearing. Because of involved legal questions, especially the issue of jurisdiction, the case may take an unexpected turn.

The doctor said Saturday night "I believe he (Gov. Long) is anxious to go to the hospital in New Orleans if he can leave here."

He added the governor probably won't become a voluntary patient at John Sealy Hospital where he has been confined under court order since June 2. He entered the hospital May 30, Long claims, after he was drugged, trussed up on a stretcher, whisked away from the mansion in Baton Rouge in an ambulance, and flown to Galveston.

"The governor is much better now than he was and has been very pleasant and agreeable the past day or two," the doctor said.

Previously some psychiatrists had complained that Long was not co-operative.

In answer to a direct question, "Do you feel the governor's commitment is still necessary?" the doctor replied, "Please don't ask me that question. If I answered

Faubus Fires Blast At Ike, High Tribunal

BILOXI, Miss. (UPI) — Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus Saturday declared that if the South's cause is lost "it would be a good thing if the Russians do destroy us."

A shouting, perspiring, arm-waving Faubus drew an occasional cheer and subdued, but regular, applause from Mississippi Bar Assn. members as he blazed away at the President, the federal government, the Supreme Court, the press and integrationists.

WORKING FOR ALL

The governor from Little Rock announced that he was working for the good of "all the people, whatever their race or creed" and noted some advances in integration in Arkansas. He said that where once he had been "a hero," now he was "a villian" and "all the accomplishments I have made have gone unnoticed."

Faubus said this was "simply because I cannot be controlled and it cannot be dictated to me what my decision will be in the controversial field of federal powers and the racial question."

But Faubus said, "I tell you this. They may again occupy Little Rock. They may again occupy Arkansas. They may occupy the South. But as far as I am concerned, they are the ones who are going to do the dirty work."

He said he did not believe states were required to enforce Federal Court orders and that the government had "agents" to do the job. "Let them do it," he said.

Faubus said his was the cause of separate but equal opportunity

DAVID PICKLES

Boy Is Held For Slaying Mother, 33

CHICAGO (UPI) — A teen-age boy, who admitted killing his mother and beating her with an Indian tomahawk, was returned to Chicago Saturday under the custody of four detectives.

The boy, David Pickles, 14, appeared tired and quiet. There was no indication the youth was remorseful over the death of his mother.

After a meal and questioning by the state's attorney's office, the youth was to be placed in the Audy Home for Juveniles pending further investigation.

David admitted orally at Morrison, Ill., to Sheriff J. H. Hamilton, several hours after he was picked up by state police hitchhiking near Rock Falls, that he had suffered a "blackout" and killed his mother.

BODY FOUND

The half-clad body of the boy's mother, Mrs. Geraldine Nesius, 33, was found in the dinette of her blood - spattered, ransacked North Side apartment Friday. A tomahawk head, a relic, covered with blood, lay nearby, and a stocking was wound loosely about her neck.

However, a coroner's physician ruled out the tomahawk blows as the cause of death. Dr. Victor Levine advised the coroner's office that death was due to strangulation.

"The boy said he had sort of a blackout," the sheriff said, "and he can't remember what exactly took place.

"But David," the sheriff added,

Arson Murder Plot Uncovered

2 Children Attempt To Kill Parents

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Resentful of "nagging all the time," two children admitted Saturday they set fire to their sleeping parents to "get rid of them so we could do the things we want."

The murder plot was uncovered by arson squad officers investigating the fire in which the parents were critically burned by flaming gasoline.

Officers said Doreen Baker, 15, and her brother Bruce, 12, admitted throwing gasoline on their parents as they slept early Friday. The children said their parents were "too strict."

ADMIT PLOT

Doreen told police, "we thought if we could get rid of them we could do more of the things we want to do."

Arson squad detectives suspected the blaze was deliberately set and said the children admitted the plot under questioning.

The father, Sterling Baker, 62, a World War I veteran retired on pension, suffered burns over more than half his body. His wife, 44, was burned almost as severely.

State Police Detective Joseph Tersis said the girl and her brother told of frequent family quarrels over discipline. Doreen added she was not allowed to have dates "or do the things other girls do, like babysitting." Bruce said he

Army Happy Over Master Defense Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army Saturday expressed jubilant approval of the administration new 'master plan" to step up defenses against enemy missiles.

Republican legislators also praised the plan which would cut back defenses against conventional bombers by $1,500,000,000 and give the Army $157,000,000 to expand its system of anti-missile missiles.

Some Democratic critics, however, have dubbed the proposal an inadequate "master compromise" in the Army-Air Force feud over their respective missile roles in national defense.

The plan would allow the Army to improve and expand its Nike-Zeus program, designed to knock out attacking ballistic missiles. The Air Force, meanwhile, would sustain a bigger slash in its Bomarc A program and would be barred from developing an anti-missile system.

Except for the short-range artillery types, an Army spokesman said, this would be the Army's first chance to develop a missile without competition from the Air Force.

The Nike-Zeus, moreover, is a missile that can command unlimited funds if it can demonstrate an ability to destroy the Soviet intercontinental ballistic missile.

The Army feels the system already has demonstrated this anti-ICBM ability, and would have gone into production with the Zeus early this year if the Defense Department had given permission. The total spent or earmarked for

Sondheimer Man Critical After Crash

A two-car collision near Tallulah and a boating mishap on Horseshoe Lake yesterday claimed the lives of five persons and left a sixth in critical condition.

John C. Givens, 67-year-old Sondheimer farmer, was killed instantly in a car crash yesterday morning eight miles west of Tallulah.

His son, Fred Givens, 41, also of Sondheimer, suffered a broken leg, broken arm, chest injuries and fractured jaw. He was taken to Mercy Hospital at Vicksburg, Miss.

OVERLOADED

Sgt. Clyde May with State Police said Henderson's car had a blowout and that the car veered into the path of one driven by Fred Givens.

John Givens and Henderson were killed instantly, May said.

About 11:45, less than an hour later, three Monroe Negroes drowned in Horseshoe Lake, after their boat flipped over.

Authorities said the craft was apparently overloaded. A fourth Negro in the boat was rescued.

Ouachita Parish Coroner Dr. John P. Burton rendered a verdict of accidental drowning. The victims were identified as O. D. Simmons, 20, 1613 Louise Ann St.; Dock Rogers, 23, 2015 Adams

JURY RECOMMENDS MERCY

Four Convicted In Assault Case

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., (UPI) — An all-white jury found four white youths guilty early Sunday of the mass rape of a Negro coed, but the jury recommended mercy.

The judge did not pass sentence immediately. It was expected four or five days might elapse before he does so, if not longer. There was utter silence in both the white and Negro spectators' seats when the verdicts were read in the jammed court at 12:40 a.m. EST. The jury deliberated two hours and 43 minutes.

UP TO JUDGE

Without a recommendation of mercy the verdict in all four cases would have meant death in the electric chair. Judge W. May Walker has the discretion to give them a sentence ranging from life imprisonment to a lecture.

Not one of the youths betrayed any emotion when the verdict was read. They filed out of the room quietly and calmly.

There were about 100 persons standing on the sidewalks in front of the courthouse. There was no demonstration although Negroes walked around grinning broadly.

Prosecutor William Hopkins did not specifically ask for the death sentence in his final argument to the all-male, all-white jury.

Monroe Native, Miss Mulhearn, Dies In Boston

Miss Caroline S. Mulhearn, a Monroe native, died in Boston, Mass., Saturday after a short illness. She was 57.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete Saturday night but will be under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home here with interment in Riverview Burial Park.

A graduate of Monroe city High School and Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans, Miss Mulhearn was affiliated for many years with the Federal Land Bank in New Orleans.

She later returned to Monroe where she was secretary of Mulhearn Protective Insurance Co., Inc.; president of Mulhearn Rental Properties; secretary of the funeral home, and vice president of the North Louisiana Investment Co.

Miss Mulhearn was active in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Monroe and was a mem-

Two Missing As Tug Sinks In East River

NEW YORK (AP) — A tugboat sank in the East River Saturday after it was rammed by its own barges. Two men were feared lost.

Three others were rescued from the water shortly after the sinking of the tug James F. Murphy, owned by the Gallagher Sand and Gravel Co.

The tug sank to the bottom with only her pilot house and the top of her smokestack showing. It was feared for a time that the sunken craft would block the river's main shipping channel to deep-draft vessels. The Coast Guard, however, said after a survey that the channel would not be blocked.

At first it was believed only the engineer of the sunken craft, Ronald Carroll, was missing, but later the owners of the tug reported an oiler, John McCann, also was not accounted for.

Police and fire department launches were joined by Coast Guard vessels in efforts to reach the men believed trapped in the tug.

However, hours after the sinking they were still missing and chances of rescue seemed slim.

The captain, William Sharman, 52, of the Bronx, and two crewmen, Howard Scheiner, 25, of Brentwood, N.Y., and Thomas Bowen, 47, of Brooklyn, swam to the Manhattan shore and were pulled out of the water by utility employes working on the East River Drive.

They were rushed to a hospital and treated for the effects of submersion.

The tug was heading south in the river when she tried to turn toward the Manhattan shore south of Randalls Island, in the vicinity of 119th St.

Fall Injuries Prove Fatal For Student

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — A college student mountain climber, injured by a fall on 12,600-foot Mt. Conness, died Saturday as rescuers were carrying him down 11 miles of twisting trails.

Don Goodrich, University of California graduate student from Susanville, Calif., was pronounced dead after rangers reached the Tuolumne Meadows ranger station ending rescue efforts of more than 20 hours.

Goodrich, 27, apparently had suffered a skull fracture in his fall. He lay more than 10 hours on a ledge on the peak's steep face before the rescue climbers reached him.

Goodrich, scaling the mountain with four companions, fell when a steel climbing peg pulled loose from the rock face about 3 p.m. Friday.

Roped in with his fellow climbers, Goodrich dropped some 30 or 40 feet, then swung on the rope against the cliff. His head struck against the rock.

His companions lowered the unconscious Goodrich by rope about 80 feet to the ledge. The climber was about 200 feet up the cliff when he fell.

Starting out at 6 p.m., the first rescue rangers toiled in darkness over the steep slope of rocks and boulders at the base of Mt. Conness.

They reached Goodrich about 1:30 a.m. it took until after daybreak to bring the injured man across the rock strewn slope, which drops 800 feet in half a mile.

JES' Ramblin'

Classes

Classes were well attended here last week at sessions for waitresses sponsored by the Ouacita Valley Vocational School and the State Department of Education.

Miss Ruth Parkman of Baton Rouge is the instructor and classes will continue this week. Starting tomorrow classes will meet at the Virginia Hotel from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 2 to 4 p.m. they will be held at the Rendezvous.

The course, called "Food Service Selling," is open to girls and women.

Pair Bound Over In Sniper-Killing

CLINTON, Tenn. (UPI) — Two Campbell County youths were held without bond Saturday after they were bound to the grand jury on charges of first degree murder in the sniper-killing of a veteran mine operator, Jess Fessler, 53.

Atty. Gen. J. H. McCartt said he will try to call a special session of the Anderson County grand jury next month to handle the case. The next regular session of the jury is slated for September.

Geneva Talks May Recess Next Tuesday

GENEVA (UPI)—The Big Four Foreign Ministers Saturday consulted their home governments on whether to try to salvage something from the wrecked talks on Berlin or end them. American officials said the conference probably would wind up in recess Tuesday if Russia refuses to back down.

The five-week-old conference was at a dead standstill. It probably will get nowhere unless Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev withdraws an ultimatum to the West to get out of West Berlin in a year or "face the consequences."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville flew home for consultations with their chiefs.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan warned in London that if Russia does not stop its threats and stalling at Geneva, "the Berlin situation still may become dangerous."

Only the big two—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko remained behind in Geneva. They were studiously avoiding each other.

Herter received some cables from Washington and sent some. Presumably, Gromyko did the same.

A secret meeting of all four ministers was scheduled for Monday, but there was nothing stirring this weekend.

High American officials said

"Aren't you in the wrong car" she asked.

"No," he said, and drove away.

TO ROCKET 100 MILES UP

Monkeys To Blaze Man's Space Trail

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP) —Monkeys soon are going to pioneer man's safe return from trips into space, officials said Saturday.

They will be rocketed 100 miles up inside the full-sized capsules being developed as man's home while in space. Then the capsules will parachute down for recovery at sea, or on land.

The goal is to prove out absolutely reliable methods for recovering the capsule and its human or animal occupant—everytime. It is one more step advancing the day of man in space.

This is one project at America's third and newest space-port here at Wallops Island, the others being Cape Canavelal, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Operated now by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, it will start putting scientific rockets into orbit late this year.

Already a dozen of the 12-foot-high space capsules have been dropped from planes flying four to eight miles high. These tests developed reliable palachutes, are testing all signalling devices to pinpoint the capsule when it lands at sea.

Project officials said rhesus monkeys and a chimpanzee will zoom up beginning late in July or in August in rockets dubbed Little Joes. These are combinations of Sergeant and Recruit rockets, developing about 250,000 pounds of thrust.

Rhesus monkeys will ride up 10 to 100 miles high, landing 10 to 150 miles out at sea for recovery

3 MILLION MILES AN HOUR

Speedy New Space Engine Is Proposed

AZUSA, Calif. (AP) — A new space engine capable of speeds up to three million m.p.h. on fuel costing less than 50 cents a pound was proposed Saturday by a space scientist.

Y. C. Lee, Chinese-born chief of Aerojet-General's new space technology division, said the propulsion system would be "feasible within three to five years without requiring scientific breakthroughs."

He said Aerojet has 50 people working on the project now. With government funding, he said, the new engine could be ready to use as the top stage of the proposed Convair - Jet Propulsion Laboratory's Vega space rocket.

Lee's colloidal propulsion system depends—as do the various ion rockets now under development—upon ejection of tiny electrically charged particles through a nozzle. The new Aerojet engine would be used only after it had been boosted to space by conventional liquid- or solid-fuel engines. Lee said the engine operates on a secret "but commonly obtainable" material costing 25 to 50 cents a pound.

Ion engines currently under study use such fuels as cesium, which is rare and costs $900 a pound, he said.

The electrical energy needed to charge the fuel's particles prior to ejection would be supplied by small nuclear reactors which Lee expects to be perfected by the time his engine is ready to go into operation.

Once in space, Lee said, the engine will increase its speed three feet per second every second it operates, reaching a top velocity in about a month of three million m.p.h.

Boy Shot After Hitting His Aunt

KNOXVILLE (UPI)—A 14-year-old Knox County boy was in good condition at St. Mary's Hospital Saturday after being shot in the stomach by his aunt.

Sessions Judge Floyd Ambrister said Walter Brown Jr., of the Heiskell community eight miles north of here, was shot Saturday in the stomach with a 22-caliber rifle by his aunt Mrs. Zola Mae Pickett, of Heiskell.

The judge said Mrs. Pickett was released on $1,000 bond on a charge of felonious assault.

He said Walter and his brother went to their aunt's home and started fighting. He said when she tried to put them out Walter hit her. She then shot him.

The possibility of more rain faces Monroe residents today, tonight and tomorrow, with no important temperature changes.

Yesterday's high was 91, low 72, compared with Friday's readings of 87-70.

Traces of rain were recorded by CAA yesterday, and more may be expected today.

Arkansas readers may look for partly cloudy skies today through tomorrow with no important temperature changes. High today should be in the 85-90 range.

Young Man Dies Saving Children

SAUGERTIES, N.Y. (AP) — A young operator of a Ferris wheel saved several children from injury or death Saturday by shoving them away as the wheel toppled in a violent wind. He was crushed to death.

The wheel was empty of passengers when it fell at a firemen's carnival, but several children were in its path as it crashed. Five of them were injured.

When the wind, hail and lightning storm broke out, children who had been aboard and others attending the carnival began to scatter for cover.

The operator, Franklin H. Nikola Jr., 17, was throwing a tarpaulin over the engine. He shoved several children free, but could not escape as the wheel, about 25 feet in diameter, hurtled down.

Geology Students Mountains Bound

Since we can't bring mountains to the classroom, we take our geology class to the mountains for laboratory work, John McCarter, associate professor of geology at Northeast State, said.

McCarter and Dr. Frank Welder, also of the geology faculty, will leave Monday with students in the Geology 161 class, a summer field course prefaced by lectures on the Northeast campus.

The group will spend four weeks in field study, including work in the vicinity of Columbia and a three-week period around Batesville, Ark., where they will be housed at Arkansas College.

Selection of Batesville was based on the area's rich material for geological study, McCarter explained. It offers many types of minerals and soil structures. Reports of gold in the section will offer opportunity to do a little searching for this mineral.

The field course includes making cross sections and geologic maps, collecting fossils and minerals, visiting quarries, mines, caves, and other geological points of interest.

Following the Batesville project, the class will extend their work to different parts of the United States as they camp along the way. The second phase of the course will be devoted to making reports of the summer field study. These reports are inclusive enough to include photographs made by members of the class who use cameras to complete their units of study.

Former field classes have proved quite practical, both McCarter and Welder said. One of the main factors in the work is realizing that observation of structure on the surface makes it possible to visualize sub surface materials, they explained.

Actor Denies Charges Of Wife Beating

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Ernest Bognine Saturday denied charges he beat his wife. He said her accusations are "the action of a bitter woman."

He also accused her of having "ridiculed and insulted me in front of my friends."

Borgnine said he still plans to wed actress Katy Jurado in September.

His wife, Rhoda Borgnine, 34, filed a petition in Superior Court Friday, asking that it set aside her interlocutory decree of divorce.

Her affidavit said: "A woman never forgets getting beat up—lips swollen, eye blackened, black and blue marks so that the dress for the Academy Wards back in 1956 had to be changed in style so the marks didn't show."

In denying his wife's charges, Borgnine said in an interview: "It's utterly ridiculous for her to say I beat her. I couldn't and wouldn't have done such a thing.

"My only concern in this matter is that two innocent people may be hurt—my daughter, Nancy, and Miss Jurado."

He braded as untrue Mrs. Borgnine's charges that the Mexican actress was the cause of their marriage breakup.

"That started long before Katy and I ever met," declared Borgnine.

City Playgrounds Announce Plans For Activities

A checker tournament is being planned for this week by the Monroe Recreation Department.

The tournament is set up for all playgrounds with brackets for Pee Wee's, age 11 and under; midgets, 11-13, and junior, 13-15.

Friday morning, all playgrounds will have a wheel parade, with ribbons to be given for the various winners, officials said.

Fuel Prices Brought Into Strauss Case

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—What he called efforts by the oil and gas industry to win Senate confirmation for Lewis L. Strauss were labeled disturbing Saturday by Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt).

Aiken said in an interview that he still is inclined to vote for confirmation of Strauss' nomination to be secretary of commerce. But he said "I've got to be assured that his nomination is not part and parcel of a campaign to force New England to pay higher fuel prices."

"When I see the coal and oil industry working as hard as possible to get the nomination confirmed," he said, "it is very disturbing to me."

Last March, after President Eisenhower ordered mandatory curbs placed on oil imports, Aiken protested in the Senate that the action would force increases in creases in the price of fuel oil and add to the cost of living.

He also was among a group of New England senators who wrote to Eisenhower prior to the issuance of the order opposing proposals for further restricting imports of crude oil and residual fuel oil.

Eisenhower acted on the recommendation of defense mobilization authorities and a special Cabinet committee headed by Strauss, who has been serving as secretary of commerce since last November under an appointment made while Congress was in recess.

The tightened curbs on imports had been urged by the domestic oil and coal industry as vital to national defense.

Senate GOP leaders have been counting on virtually solid support from the 34 Republican senators in the battle over Strauss' nomination, submitted by President Eisenhower last Jan. 17.

So far the only Republican senator who has announced that he will vote against confirmation is William Langer of North Dakota.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas plans to Monday or Tuesday to obtain an agreement to limit further debate on the nomination. He hopes to get a vote later in the week.

Debate got under way on June 5 after the Senate Commerce Committee, following 16 days of turbulent hearings on the nomination, voted 9-8 to recommend confirmation.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), a leader of the opposition to Strauss, injected the dispute over residual fuel oil imports into the Senate debate two days ago.

He remarked that it was "a rather hot question in some of the New England States" and referred to reports that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, is supporting Strauss' nomination.

The mine workers union long has battled for restrictions on imports of residual fuel oil, a competitor of coal.

Aiken said that the mandatory controls on oil imports have not yet brought any price increases in New England except on asphalt, a byproduct.

But he said sharp increases are anticipated in fuel oil prices in the fall, with the start of the heating season.

In referring to what he called the efforts of the coal and domestic oil industry to get Strauss confirmed, he said he was disturbed by anything that would force New England "to use oil at their price."

DR. JAMES F. MONROE

J.F. Monroe Is Slated To Receive Ph.D

James F. Monroe, assistant professor of music at Northeast Louisiana State College, has just completed requirements for the Ph.D. degree at the University of North Carolina. The degree will be conferred at August commencement exercises.

He did his doctoral study in music theory, composition and piano. His dissertation "Italian Keyboard Music in the Interim between Frescobaldi and Pasquini" is concerned with works which fill the gaps between 1641 and 1700. He made a theoretical analysis of contents of ten keyboard sources in that period obtained from Italian libraries through the use of microfilm.

Monroe holds the bachelor of music degree in piano from Baylor University, the master of arts from the University of North Carolina and the master of music in theory and composition from the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. Among his noted teachers at the conservatory was Dr. Leo Sowerby.

He has also studied in Cincinnati under such artist teachers as Severn Eisengerger and Daniel Ericourt.

Monroe, a native of Mississippi, has been a member of the Northeast State faculty since 1946. Prior to then he had three years of experience as a teaching fellow at Baylor and one year each at Southeast Missouri State Teachers College, Springfield, and Friends University, Wichita, Kans.

Professional organizations with which he is affiliated include Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national honorary music fraternity, Music Teachers National Association, and others.

Police Hunt For Missing Financier, 68

Germain, former president of the Dunlop iTre & Rubber Co., has not been seen since Thursday night when he attended a dinner in honor of the president of the Bank of New York. Donald Elliman of New York City.

He was last seen walking toward his automobile in the parking lot of the Buffalo Club, presumably to return to his summer home at Bay Beach, Ont. His automobile also is missing.

Charles R. Diebold, president of the Western Savings Bank, said Mrs. Germain called him about 10 a.m. Friday.

"I was absolutely shocked when she said, 'Where's Ed'" Diebold said.

Buffalo police issued a missing persons report and asked Ontario provincial police for help.

Friends and relatives could not explain his absence.

Germain is a director of the Marine Midland Corp. and a member of the executive board of the Marine Trust Co. of western New York. He was assistant secretary of the Navy under Frank Knox during World War II and president of Dunlop from 1922 to 1954.

ELLENDER SAYS

Higher Debt Limit Would Weaken U.S.

WASHINGTON (Special) —Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D) La., said yesterday President Eisenhower wants to raise government interest rates in order to borrow more money to give to foreign countries.

He said the President's request for a higher lebt limit and an increase in interest rates on government bonds can only "weaken the very foundations which support our nation."

Ellender said the only "road to economic and fiscal health lies along the route of reduced expenditures."

"The President last week asked Congress to increase the permanent national debt limit from $283 to $288 billion dollars, and boost the temporary debt limit from $288 billion to $295 billion.

JUGGLING

"This juggling of the national debt," Ellender said, "has become almost an annual event over the past two years," with periodic increases since 1957, when the limit was set at $278 billion.

The White House also requested a one-half of one per cent boost in the interest paid on government bonds. Ellender said this move would only prompt increases in interest rates on private investments and state and local securities, and eventually defeat its own purpose.

In addition, the interest rate increase would add another half billion dollars to the annual cost of servicing the national debt — already an eight billion dollar item in the budget.

Moreover, Ellender said, at the same time Eisenhower is asking for bigger interest charges, he is requesting $500 million additional in foreign aid funds over the amount Congress gave him last year.

"In other words," Ellender said, "The President seems to be asking the Congress to raise the interest rates on government bonds, so Uncle Sam can borrow more money to give away to foreign nations."

The Louisiana Senator added that considerable savings could also be made by trimming unnecessary military expenses. He cited a current $775,000 request for a non-commissioned officer's club at Andrews Air Force Base, just a few miles from Washington, D. C., where seven other major military installations are completely equipped with recreational facilities.

He also noted a $102,000 request for a post exchange in Pittsburgh. Ellender said the PX's now merely sell goods at prevailing prices and asked, "are there no privately-owned supermarkets in that large city?"

Affidavit Law Upheld

In a fine line of demarcation, a three-judge federal court in Little Rock upheld a law requiring teachers to state their membership affiliations but struck down a related measure barring members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People from holding state jobs.

In effect, the ruling was that if a teacher is a member of the N.-A. A. C. P. he must so inform his school board but that the mere fact of his membership in that organization is not sufficient to bar him from state employment.

The ruling left school boards considerable authority to hire and fire. The court said that despite its ruling against the N. A. A. C. P. law, "it does not follow that this court . . . can compel any school board to hire a person as a teacher or retain him in its employment, or to forbid it to discharge him.

It was noted by the court that Arkansas teachers have recourse in the courts of hiring or firing action against them. The court referred specifically to the laws in Arkansas, but many other states, including Louisiana, have teacher tenure laws which prohibit the firing of teachers except for specific acts, once they have passed the probationary period and are under the teacher tenure law. Thus, it would be much easier in those states to keep from hiring a member of the N. A. A. C. P. than to fire one after he had been teaching long enough for the teacher tenure law to apply.

The federal suit was lodged two months ago by B. T. Shelton, Little Rock Negro teacher, who is a member of the N. A. A. C. P. He had declined to sign act 10, the teacher affidavit law, and had attacked act 115, the anti-N. A. A. C. P. measure, as unconstitutional.

Act 10 expresses the principle that "a public employer has a right to know the organizations to which its employees, including teachers, belong, or to which they have made or are making financial contributions." The court held there is no abridgement in that function.

The jurists held, however, that act 15 violates previous federal ruling that the association factor cannot be used as a bar to employment.

How the affidavit ruling will stand up when it reaches the United States supreme court is problematical. That court has already held that the N.A.A.C.P. is not required to reveal its membership, athough some states, including Louisiana, have laws requiring all chartered organizations, regardless of their nature, to file lists of their members. So far as is known, the supreme court has never rendered a decision adverse to the desires of the N.A.A.C.P. or its members. If it should hold that N.A.A.-C.P. members were required to reveal their membership to school boards and other public organizations, it would seem to be a change of position.

In this connection, however, the high court recently apparently reversed its position of Communist investigations and state sedition laws, upholding the right of congress to investigate and supporting a state anti-sedition law, whereas it had previously denied the right of states to enforce laws against sedition.

The decision requiring disclosure of membership probably would enable most school boards to get N.A.A.C.P. members out as teachers if they desired to do so. They could refuse to hire any members and might discharge those already employed for other causes.

School principals and superintendents in Louisiana have sought to amend the teacher tenure law to permit a certain percentage of dismissals without cause. Some support for this change might come from the Arkansas decision requiring disclosure of membership.

Adams Rides Again

This makes at least two Rockefeller backers who are not endorsed by the Republicans who believe in conservation and integrity. Walter Reuther, big boss of the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations had previously come out in favor of Rockefeller, labeling him a "good Democrat in the Republican party."

Gov. Rockefeller of New York has publicly announced he will not block the entering of his name in the Republican presidential nomination race in the 1960 New Hampshire G.O.P. primary, and Rep. Chester Merrow (R.-N.H.) has said he will file Rockefeller's name in the key primary.

Historically, presidential candidacies have hinged on this New Hampshire contest, the nation's first every presidential year. Vice-President Richard Nixon is already in the race in New Hampshire.

Human Events, a publication devoted to fundamental American principles, announced it has learned from highest Republican circles in New Hampshire that Adams has been quietly promoting Rockefeller's candidacy in the granite state. Since the Goldfine vicuna coat scandals Adams has kept out of the political limelight. Now, however, through his political friend Merrow and the sprouting Rockefeler boomlet in New Hampshire, "Sherman rides again," say the politicos in that state.

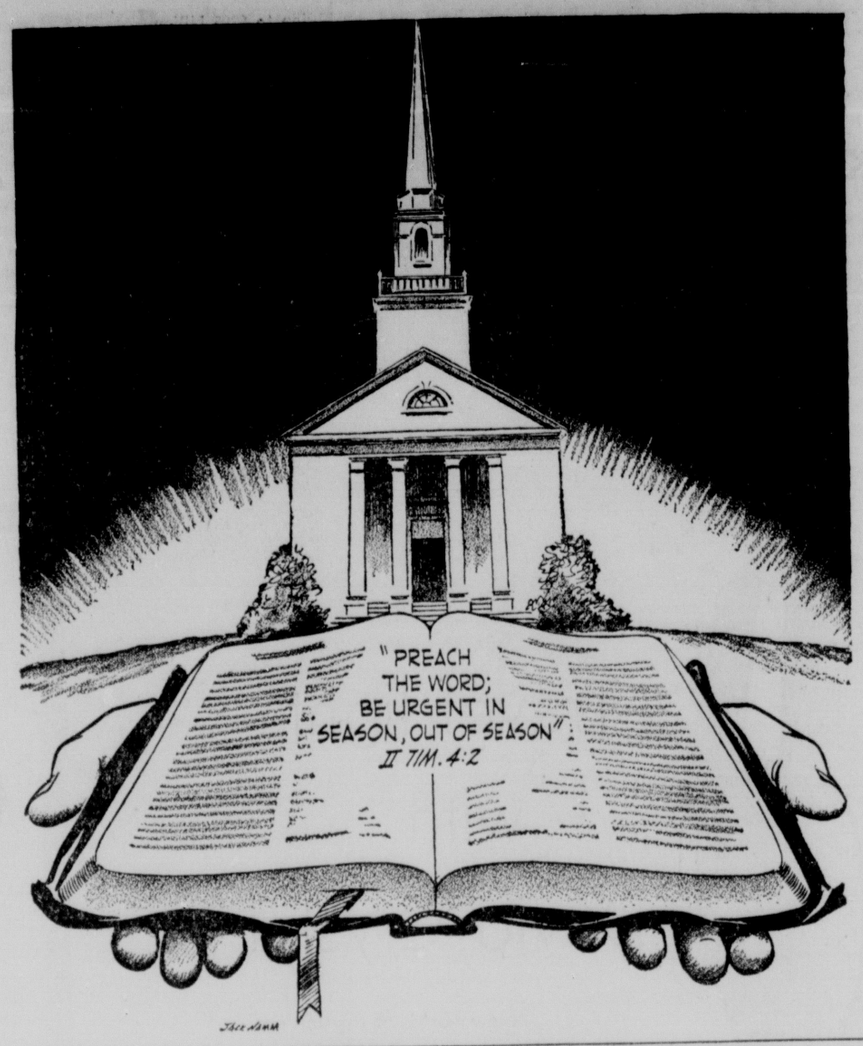

G. O. P. politicians in Washington think this development has been inevitable. Apart from his friendly personal relations with Rockefeller during the latter's service in the white house in 1955-56, Adams is naturally aligned against Rockefeller's rival for the G. O. P. crown, Vice-President Nixon.

No love has been lost between Adams and Nixon in the last seven years. Adams favored dropping Nixon from the G. O. P. presidential campaign ticket when the "Nixon fund" episode occurred in September 1952. He was also reportedly on the side of Stassen when the latter sought to block Nixon's renomination in 1956. On December 21, 1957, Human Events reported: "Nixon is privately showing no little animus towards Adams and the Palace Guard."

After the Goldfine scandals, in which Adams was shown to have received many favors from Bernard Goldfine, in addition to the vicuna coat, and Goldfine reportedly profited largely by a close connection with the white house, Adams resigned with great reluctance.

Adams at one time was reported closer to the president's ear than anyone in the country and his advice was credited with causing the presidents to make some poor decisions, including the one to send troops into Little Rock. After having ridden so high it is not surprising that Adams is trying again for a political candidate who, he thinks, might put him on top again.

The Church That Shall Prosper

Oratory Flows In June

Every University And College, Big And Little, Has Its Commencement

Comes June and oratory flows in the land. Every university and college, big and little, has its commencement and its speakers who instruct the few young and the many oldsters who come to see youth sent out into the world.

Sometimes the addresses of the great men who speak at these fiestas are published in the newspapers, in whole or in part, and usually much of it is a collection of words which are neither elevating nor of sound composition. Oratory, having long ceased to exist as an art, is never provided any more and the reading of manuscripts is sometimes alleviated by the teleprompter, which, however, has the effect of making some speakers appear to be cockeyed.

Despite all that has happened in the world in recent years, particularly the intensification of nationalism and the betrayal of the Western world by Soviet Russia, there are still those who feel compelled to rise on occasions such as these to advocate limited sovereignty, to pronounce favorably on internationalism and to give youth the concept that patriotism is a sin.

Unfortunately such prophets are not only poisoning the well-springs of America but they are misleading the young who sooner or later, if they are not contrivers or unfortunate, will be called upon to serve their country and its flag and who will waken each morning for two or three years to feel the full force of this country's sovereignty.

The one-worlder does have Isaiah to back him up but not the draft which every boy, as soon as he gets out of college, is likely to face. Some do evade it by trickery but should war come, as it often has, they have an unpaid debt to settle and many of them are caught by their own devices at most inconvenient times. The draft dodger remains a louse in the American concept of fair play.

Of course, girls may listen to the one-world speeches with starry-eyed emotionalism, hoping that the day may come when their marriages will not be postponed by such unpleasantness as universal military service. However, American women—that is, those who are truly American — have never wanted their menfolk to be either cowards or cheats and they have never run away from the consequences of life. We still breed a good stock.

The one-worlder does advocate a noble ideal, but history is moving the other way. Asia has thrown off the shackles of imperialism to replace them by the shackles of intensive nationalism. So has Africa. So has most of Europe.

Only the United States has lost its sense of nationalism and patriotism and is paying a fearful price for accepting phraseology for truth and hope for fact. The danger is that some of our people think not in terms of the welfare of their own country and their responsibility for its survival, but rather in terms so broad, so widespread, as to be realistically meaningless except as a cover for blatant selfishiness.

The good old Commencement Day orator who preached love of country in poetic language and heated oratory was much closer to the truth and to morality than those unfortunate weary old men who hope to be regarded by youth as forward looking because they preach a doctrine of a world of love, as did Micah and Confucius and about everybody else, including Leo Tolstoy, only it never happened. The idea is that if one sets his ideals far enough ahead, say four or five thousand years away, he cannot possibly be wrong, for who will say him nay?

So, one spends an hour or two reading the reported remarks of the so-called great men, some of whom are truly useful in their own limited fields but who, when they speak in terms philosophical, generally have to hire a speech-writer to bring Edmund Burke or Patrick Henry or perhaps Karl Marx up-to-date and so their words are nostalgic and one wonders where he read them before and in what context. It becomes particularly amusing to listen to a hard-boiled businessman, who in his proper domain fights against doctrines which, in the hired speech, flow from his lips like manna from Heaven. And then one wonders, does he know what he is reading? Does he know that a prankster played a trick on him?

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Berlin Defense

Col. Fred Weyand Thinks Russians Would Have Hard Time In Attack On Germany

WEST BERLIN — In the spring of 1945 the Russians besieged Berlin for eight days with numerical superiority of something like 16 to 1. At the peak of the battle, the Russian advance was at the rate of about one city square per day. Whenever an American commander talks hypothetically about defending Berlin from the enveloping Communist hordes of today, he is apt to fall back upon that example of 14 years ago.

Col. Fred Weyand of Berkeley (Calif.), commander of the Third Battle Group, 6th Infantry Division, told me that in terms of World War III, he would expect the Russians to attack southward into West Germany and to send the East Germans to capture Berlin. Should this happen, Col. Weyand and all other officers with whom I have talked are confident of holding their own. "I think they know it."

The city, although seemingly undermanned and underarmed, is a tight little bastion where specialized training and selected weapons make up for lack of numbers and firepower. There are about 3,000 bat troops and another 1,000 service troops in the American complement of two battle groups and a tank company. The British have a little more than this, while the French have a little less. The U. S. infantrymen are kept in peak physical condition by marching some four miles from McNair barracks to the Gruenwald, a public recreational forest, and by carrying out tactical exercises at the rate of three days a week.

Usually peacetime exercises are a bore to officers and men alike, and are of limited benefit. But here in this Communist-surrounded fortress, the training is serious business. Even the elements of make-believe are cheerfully accepted. No live ammunition is used in the Gruenwald. The foxholes must be refilled after use, the area policed for trash and damaged trees must be replaced with saplings. Berliners love their vast sylvan playground, and Americans can understand and respect this affection.

The six companies under Col. Weyand perform with battlefield dispatch. The tactical problems involve breaking contact with the enemy (retreating), regrouping and counterattacking. This is hard by night, and harder still by daylight. Weyand said that the Berlin mission is principally defensive, as are most of the problems, but that the counterattack finale is good for the troop spirits. The several junior officers crouched with him in the verdant wilderness grinned and nodded with approval.

The most discussed weaponry of our period — air power and atomic explosives — are non-existent in the Berlin Command. The only aircraft are a few 2-seater reconnaissance helicopters, the H-13's. They carry a pilot and a forward observer. Like everything else on the Berlin Command, they are peculiar to close-contact, street-to-street fighting. Another basic vehicle is the M-59 armored personnel carrier, a swift tank-like omnibus for infantry squads. The M-48 Patton tanks work very closely with the infantry, supplying the big punch with their 90-mm guns, and being protected in turn by the foot soldiers from guerilla attacks.

Every soldier in Berlin is armed to the teeth. The tank crews are issued .45 revolvers, sub-machine guns and all the hand grenades they want. The infantrymen have M-1 rifles or M-30 carbines, and all are well-trained with the bayonets. Aside from the tanks and machine guns, the basic artillery weapon is the 4.2-inch mortar which lobs its explosives on an almost vertical trajectory, so as to be of maximum usefulness in street fighting. There is much emphasis on the use of tear gas and mine laying.

Col. Weyand's men were digging their foxholes in the British sector of Berlin when I made the visit. There seems to be no jealousy between the three allies. Only two of the three can hold tactical exercises at the same time, owing to the limitations of space in the Grunewald. But joint exercise of alternating partners are held several times a year. Still closer liaison work is done with the West German constabulary. At least once a year the Berlin forces move into West Germany where they repeat these exercises with live ammunition.

West Berlin is possibly the one place on earth where there is no "Yankees Go Home" sentiment among the loyalist population. The Yanks feel they are needed here. This is the biggest factor in the high state of morale and effiency.

Having spent most of my life in Northeast Louisiana I still consider Louisiana my homestate. I had hoped to hear Governor Faubus' speech in Ruston next Tuesday, but as I will not be able to attend the meeting make his welcome so loud and clear that I can hear it here in the Ozarks.

Do it up "brown" complete with sirens, if necessary. Here in Arkansas, we love the Governor and we are really grateful for the support you have given us in our fight for freedom.

BASCOM TIMMONS

Defense Bill Up

Senate Not Likely To Make Many Changes In House-Passed Measure

The Senate is not likely to make many changes in the national defense appropriations bill as it passed the House of Representatives, barring of course, some sudden flare-up in our relations with Russia, which is unlikely in the short time which will elapse before Senate consideration of the measure begins.

No great controversy arose between the Administration and the House of Representatives over the bill, although it departed in some important particulars from the Budget recommendations. But the highly capable Representative George H. Mahon of Texas, chairman of the subcommittee which prepared the measure, explained to the House that the Budget was prepared last autumn and reached the House of Representatives floor after Committee consideration in June.

"I might say," explained Mahon, "that if a new Budget were submitted today by the President it would not be the same in all respects to that which came to Congress in January. This is a fast moving world and some things recommended six months ago are out of date now. That would be true under any Administration."

The House bill of $38,843, 339,000 was $1,039,868,100, or approximately $1 billion less than for the current year, and $400 million less than the Budget recommendations for the new fiscal year. But as every one understands there will be deficiency appropriations and the sum will wind up considerably larger, how much larger no one can now guess for, as Mahon sadly but aptly told the House:

"It is raining in Washington today and I understand there is no sunshine in Geneva; so probably this is as good a time as any for Congress to begin consideration of the Defense Department Appropriations bill."

Unfortunately the budget and legislation for the years following this seem fated to be prepared under the same gloomy conditions that now exist.

So we start the new fiscal year on July 1 with an Army of 870,-000 men, 630,000 in the Navy, 175,-000 in the Marine Corps, 845,000 in the Air Corps. Back of this total of 2,523,000 men in uniform are 1,200,000 civilian employees in the Department of Defense. This aggregate of 3,723,000 is startling, not because it has changed much, but because of its very sameness and the certainty that it is not going to be decreased or even held where in the foreseeable future.

The same holds true of the costs: $11.6 for military personnel; $10.4 billion for operation and maintenance of the three services; $13 billion for procurement and $3.8 billion for research and development. The one certain thing is that these costs will increase next year and again the next year.

Add to the bill as it passed the House the costs of military construction which are in another bill and the deficiency bills to be passed later and you have a $40,-000,000 military expenditure in the coming year, with the certain prospect that it will be progressively larger year by year.

The advocates of better preparation for small war are, of course, disappointed with the bill. Again Mahon told the House:

"There are those who are saying: 'Get your mind off a big atomic war; there is not going to be one. The thing to be concerned about is limited war.' This is a very dangerous doctrine. We must face the stark reality that the issue involved is the survival of the United States. If the fire department of a great city is able to put out a fire in a 40-story building, the chances are that it will be able to put out a little-fire in a 1-story building."

Thus, in its bill, the House adopted the philosophy expressed by General Thomas S. Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command, that if this nation has sufficient armed forces it can tailor a force to handle any small wars.

The biggest shuffle made by the House of Representatives in the President's recommendations was the elimination of $260,000,000 for a proposed Navy super aircraft carrier, an instrument for smaller wars.

In this country the object of our military preparations is peace not war. And undoubtedly the people of the United States want to be assured beyond preadventure of a doubt that this nation has the ability to deter global war and to cope with the situation should such a war be forced on us.

So the overwhelming majority of the people of the United States are behind the overall determination of the Administration and of Congress to increase its preparations to meet what seem to be the greatest Russian threats. These threats without doubt are long-range ballistic missiles and the increasing fleet of Russian submarines, many of them capable of firing intermediate range ballistic missiles.

CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

Foreign Imports

Protection Of American Products To Be On Political Agenda

For the first time in a third of a century, protection of American production against foreign imports will be on the agenda of both political conventions next year. As a proposed platform resolution, the subject is likely to make more headway at the Republican than the Democratic gathering. But the Democratic party is no longer the champion of free trade, and labor as well as management is beginning to make suggestions that American workers be protected against law wages abroad.

This has a reminiscent ring of the '20s, when the Republicans forced through the Smoot Hawley tariff bill, putting many duties at an all time high, in the teeth of spreading employment. The aftermath was much greater unemployment.

When reciprocal trade in 1934 gave foreign trade a new shot in the arm, die hard Republicans grumbled that the country would live to regret the day. Now the Democrats, though still regarding reciprocal trade and the resultant agreements with European and Latin American countries as one of the great New Deal accomplishments, are wondering what can be done about low cost foreign competition.

Tariff used to be a simple solution, in the days when few governmental problems were really complex. But now the loss of foreign markets for U. S. produced goods is as much a threat as the invasion of foreign goods. Obviously a tariff wall, or even a restriction on imports wouldn't be a complete answer.

Politicians like issues to be simplified and two sided, so that they can be discussed with glib facility on the stump. But how can they so capsulize an issue which involves the gradual loss of the U. S. automobile market in South America, the many American branch plants being established in Europe to take advantage of cheap wages and other favoring factors, the steady sales growth of European steel products, in the U. S., as sales of U. S. steel products abroad steadily decline, and the growing threat of Communist competition, both Soviet and Chinese, in foreign markets where the U. S. has had an advantage?

To meet this unpromising outlook the reciprocal trade act of 1934 is beginning to look as obsolete as the autos of that era. The procedure to lower import duties on foreign goods is actually much simpler than that to increase them, unless Congress should act on specific and individual items, which is almost impossible. To increase an import duty requires an "escape clause" investigation, of which there have been approximately 100 in the 25 year history of the act. The U. S. tariff commission has recommended duty increases in approximately 30 of these and in about 10, the President of the U.S. has made increases which cannot be more than 50 per cent of the duty.

Now the U.S. is in a position of having its trade agreements with other nations negotiated partly on the recommendations agreed upon by the international organization known as GATT — General Agreement on Trades and Tariffs — which some of the interested parties in this country say is a deterrent to foreign trade.

The Eisenhower administration has worked consistently for extensions of the Reciprocal Trade Act without change and has been able to obtain most of what it asked. This act originally gave American industry new openings for markets abroad, which have been an important stimulus to U. S. prosperity. The portion of those markets retained by branch plants established abroad makes no contribution to that prosperity, except in such taxes as may be paid here on their profits.

In the last year a new competitor for the chief American product, the automobile, has become important both in this country and abroad. In the old high tariff days, imports of foreign cars were so small that automobile manufacturers took no interest in import duties, except to request there be none on automobiles. Now the situation has changed but American makers know that because of high wages and material costs, they can not compete pricewise with most foreign cars.

How the best political minds will meet the dilemma will be something to watch. For the next man to move into the White House it will be a very important problem, because more and more businesses are likely to be hurting from foreign competition.

Doctor Says Gov. Long May Enter Hospital In N.O.

either way I might have to change my mind later."

Earlier Saturday, doctors said the 63-year-old governor was "better in every respect" and he was looking forward cheerfully to next week's legal battle which could free him from custody.

The dynamic, 63-year-old Long, ever-proud of the magic touch of his name in Louisiana politics, is fighting for freedom from a mental clinic. He still wants to run for governor again.

'IN BEST PLACE'

If the courts will take into consideration the advice of Governor Long's doctors, Mrs. Long said, "I feel that they will realize he is in the best place to get the right care and medical attention he needs.

"Governor Long is in a wonderful hospital, for the John Sealy was highly recommended to us."

The determined governor said in his application for a writ of habeas corpus hearing Monday that he had been drugged, trussed up and kidnaped aboard a National Guard plane for the flight from Baton Rouge to Galveston —all against his will.

To this Mrs. Long calmly replied in Baton Rouge:

"I think when any person is unable to make the right decisions for himself, it is time for his family to make them for his benefit.

"The family must make decisions in such critical moments, and I was not alone in the decision. Joining me were his sisters, his nieces and his nephew."

Mrs. Long made the comments in a long distance interview with The Associated Press.

One of Governor Long's nephews, U.S. Sen. Russell Long, son of the assassinated Huey P. Long was at the governor's bedside when he collapsed two weeks ago.

Should Long succeed in his habeas corpus plea, he could walk free from the hospital and return immediately to Louisiana as its chief executive.

Should he fail in the Monday hearing, Long faces a sanity hearing in probate court Tuesday and the possibility of a 90-day commitment from such a hearing.

The habeas corpus open hearing will be held in the court room of District Judge L. D. Godard Monday at 10 a.m.

The scheduled sanity hearing the next day would be closed. It has been set by probate Judge Hugh Gibson Jr.

Mrs. Long and Dr. Arthur D. Long, a physician and cousin of the governor, two weeks ago signed the papers placing the ill Gov. Long under protective custody of the Dr. Titus Harris Clinic at John Sealy Hospital.

Daniel Bobbitt, John Sealy director of hospitals, said Long today "was in a cheerful mood, anxious to get on with the court hearing, his personal doctors report."

In Baton Rouge, at the Mansion, Mrs. Long said she doubted that she would return to Galveston for the court session.

"I've already done what I believe to be in the best interests of Gov. Long," she said." I really felt he needed hospital and medical care."

While the Louisiana Legislature was still in session two weeks ago after angry shouting speeches Long announced that he was planning to tour the state in his new campaign for governor.

2 Children Attempt To Kill Parents

had been spanked for smoking.

The children told police they planned the slaying for more than a week. At first, they said they were going to hit their parents over the head with a hammer but discarded that plan as too risky. Then they gave this account:

The family returned to their home in nearby Michigan Center late Thursday after visiting friends. The children decided to go through with the plot because their older brother William, 24, was away.

They filled two tumblers with gasoline from a can in the garage and crept up to their parents' bedroom. When they heard snores, Doreen said she emptied the gasoline over the bed and Bruce touched it off with a match.

Mrs. Baker ran screaming from the house, her hair in flames. Neighbors smothered the blaze with blankets and rescued the badly burned father.

Baker was taken to Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor and his wife was in Mercy Hospital in Jackson. Both were reported in fair condition.

Saturday that all signs point to a breakup next week. They said the conference probably would be forced to resume Tuesday if Russia fails to 'soften its demands. But Soviet sources said Gromyko would resist a recess—and possibly force the West to end it completely. The idea of a recess was meeting favor in the West.

American delegation officials said there was no point in going on if, after the weekend break, Gromyko still refuses to back down.

Soviet delegation sources continued to express optimism and discounted Western reports of a rupture.

East German Communists in Berlin, taking their cue from the adamant Russian stand, insisted that the Western Allies had one year to clear out of West Berlin.

In London, a Moscow radio broadcast charged that the "reactionary press" in the West was trying to blame Russia in advance for a breakdown of the conference.

Army Happy Over Master Defense Plan

the Zeus is now about one billion dollars.

The "master plan" treats the Zeus as an unproved weapon and would furnish funds to put it on an operational, production basis.

Two years ago, the Air Force was assigned sole operational control of the 1,500-mile intermediate missile, the Army being permitted only to complete development of its 1,500-mile Jupiter for the Air Force.

As a "consolation prize," the Army got the anti-missile missile, then regarded as a nebulous project. Subsequent developments brought this system into increasing favor.

In defending against enemy missiles of the intercontinental range (currently considered to be around 5,000 miles), the plan favors a system of missiles carrying heavy nuclear warheads that could be fired in salvos within 15 minutes after the attacking missile is detected.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.Y.) praised the plan and predicted Congress will accept it substantially as submitted. Bridges is the top-ranking GOP member of the Senate Appropriations Committee and the Senate Armed Services Committee. The plan had been received with some skepticism. Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy outlined details of the proposal to the Senate Armed Services Committee on Friday.

A Republican member of the committee, Sen. Francis Case (S.D.) said that "if you accept some of the premises on which this was based you could go a lot further by way of savings."

Negro Injured, Building Struck, In Mishap Here

A pedestrian was injured and a building considerably damaged here yesterday about 8 p.m. when hit by a car driven by a 23-year-old Negro identified by police as Solomon Johnson II, 1600 Hudson Lane.

Authorities said Johnson was headed east on Renwick Street and turned right onto a parking lot. The car's brakes did not hold, and a pedestrian was injured as the auto hit the front of a snack bar, police said.

The pedestrian was identified as Roger Salbarry, Negro of 3409 Owl Street. He went to his family doctor for treatment.

Johnson was charged with reckless driving, no brakes, and damage to property. His bond was set at $500.

Boy Is Held For Slaying Mother, 33

"said it had something to do with his wristwatch. He said the incident took place about 8:30 a.m. (cdt)."

The back of Mrs. Nesius' head had been smashed in, and she had been struck over the right eye and ear also, police said. Although her housecoat was pulled up to her shoulders and her panties lay nearby, there was no indication of sexual molestation, police added.

The boy's step - father said David, a child by the woman's previous marriage, recently graduated third in his class from a grade school. Although he was criticized by his mother for making noise early Friday. Nesius said, the boy did not seem upset over the reprimand.

Affidavit Law Upheld

In a fine line of demarcation, a three-judge federal court in Little Rock upheld a law requiring teachers to state their membership affiliations but struck down a related measure barring members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People from holding state jobs.

In effect, the ruling was that if a teacher is a member of the N.-A. A. C. P. he must so inform his school board but that the mere fact of his membership in that organization is not sufficient to bar him from state employment.

The ruling left school boards considerable authority to hire and fire. The court said that despite its ruling against the N. A. A. C. P. law, "it does not follow that this court . . . can compel any school board to hire a person as a teacher or retain him in its employment, or to forbid it to discharge him.

It was noted by the court that Arkansas teachers have recourse in the courts of hiring or firing action against them. The court referred specifically to the laws in Arkansas, but many other states, including Louisiana, have teacher tenure laws which prohibit the firing of teachers except for specific acts, once they have passed the probationary period and are under the teacher tenure law. Thus, it would be much easier in those states to keep from hiring a member of the N. A. A. C. P. than to fire one after he had been teaching long enough for the teacher tenure law to apply.

The federal suit was lodged two months ago by B. T. Shelton, Little Rock Negro teacher, who is a member of the N. A. A. C. P. He had declined to sign act 10, the teacher affidavit law, and had attacked act 115, the anti-N. A. A. C. P. measure, as unconstitutional.

Act 10 expresses the principle that "a public employer has a right to know the organizations to which its employees, including teachers, belong, or to which they have made or are making financial contributions." The court held there is no abridgement in that function.

The jurists held, however, that act 15 violates previous federal ruling that the association factor cannot be used as a bar to employment.

How the affidavit ruling will stand up when it reaches the United States supreme court is problematical. That court has already held that the N.A.A.C.P. is not required to reveal its membership, athough some states, including Louisiana, have laws requiring all chartered organizations, regardless of their nature, to file lists of their members. So far as is known, the supreme court has never rendered a decision adverse to the desires of the N.A.A.C.P. or its members. If it should hold that N.A.A.-C.P. members were required to reveal their membership to school boards and other public organizations, it would seem to be a change of position.

In this connection, however, the high court recently apparently reversed its position of Communist investigations and state sedition laws, upholding the right of congress to investigate and supporting a state anti-sedition law, whereas it had previously denied the right of states to enforce laws against sedition.

The decision requiring disclosure of membership probably would enable most school boards to get N.A.A.C.P. members out as teachers if they desired to do so. They could refuse to hire any members and might discharge those already employed for other causes.

School principals and superintendents in Louisiana have sought to amend the teacher tenure law to permit a certain percentage of dismissals without cause. Some support for this change might come from the Arkansas decision requiring disclosure of membership.

Adams Rides Again

This makes at least two Rockefeller backers who are not endorsed by the Republicans who believe in conservation and integrity. Walter Reuther, big boss of the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations had previously come out in favor of Rockefeller, labeling him a "good Democrat in the Republican party."

Gov. Rockefeller of New York has publicly announced he will not block the entering of his name in the Republican presidential nomination race in the 1960 New Hampshire G.O.P. primary, and Rep. Chester Merrow (R.-N.H.) has said he will file Rockefeller's name in the key primary.

Historically, presidential candidacies have hinged on this New Hampshire contest, the nation's first every presidential year. Vice-President Richard Nixon is already in the race in New Hampshire.

Human Events, a publication devoted to fundamental American principles, announced it has learned from highest Republican circles in New Hampshire that Adams has been quietly promoting Rockefeller's candidacy in the granite state. Since the Goldfine vicuna coat scandals Adams has kept out of the political limelight. Now, however, through his political friend Merrow and the sprouting Rockefeler boomlet in New Hampshire, "Sherman rides again," say the politicos in that state.

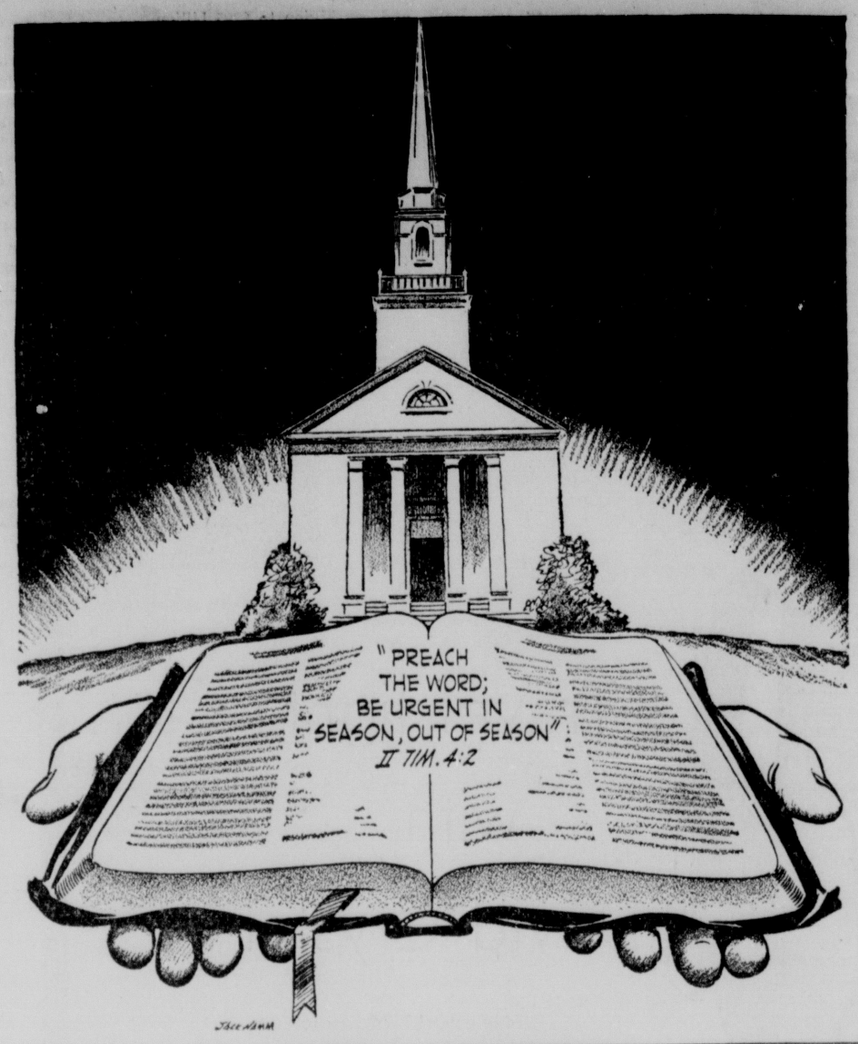

G. O. P. politicians in Washington think this development has been inevitable. Apart from his friendly personal relations with Rockefeller during the latter's service in the white house in 1955-56, Adams is naturally aligned against Rockefeller's rival for the G. O. P. crown, Vice-President Nixon.

No love has been lost between Adams and Nixon in the last seven years. Adams favored dropping Nixon from the G. O. P. presidential campaign ticket when the "Nixon fund" episode occurred in September 1952. He was also reportedly on the side of Stassen when the latter sought to block Nixon's renomination in 1956. On December 21, 1957, Human Events reported: "Nixon is privately showing no little animus towards Adams and the Palace Guard."

After the Goldfine scandals, in which Adams was shown to have received many favors from Bernard Goldfine, in addition to the vicuna coat, and Goldfine reportedly profited largely by a close connection with the white house, Adams resigned with great reluctance.

Adams at one time was reported closer to the president's ear than anyone in the country and his advice was credited with causing the presidents to make some poor decisions, including the one to send troops into Little Rock. After having ridden so high it is not surprising that Adams is trying again for a political candidate who, he thinks, might put him on top again.

Oratory Flows In June

Every University And College, Big And Little, Has Its Commencement

Comes June and oratory flows in the land. Every university and college, big and little, has its commencement and its speakers who instruct the few young and the many oldsters who come to see youth sent out into the world.

Sometimes the addresses of the great men who speak at these fiestas are published in the newspapers, in whole or in part, and usually much of it is a collection of words which are neither elevating nor of sound composition. Oratory, having long ceased to exist as an art, is never provided any more and the reading of manuscripts is sometimes alleviated by the teleprompter, which, however, has the effect of making some speakers appear to be cockeyed.

Despite all that has happened in the world in recent years, particularly the intensification of nationalism and the betrayal of the Western world by Soviet Russia, there are still those who feel compelled to rise on occasions such as these to advocate limited sovereignty, to pronounce favorably on internationalism and to give youth the concept that patriotism is a sin.

Unfortunately such prophets are not only poisoning the well-springs of America but they are misleading the young who sooner or later, if they are not contrivers or unfortunate, will be called upon to serve their country and its flag and who will waken each morning for two or three years to feel the full force of this country's sovereignty.

The one-worlder does have Isaiah to back him up but not the draft which every boy, as soon as he gets out of college, is likely to face. Some do evade it by trickery but should war come, as it often has, they have an unpaid debt to settle and many of them are caught by their own devices at most inconvenient times. The draft dodger remains a louse in the American concept of fair play.

Of course, girls may listen to the one-world speeches with starry-eyed emotionalism, hoping that the day may come when their marriages will not be postponed by such unpleasantness as universal military service. However, American women—that is, those who are truly American — have never wanted their menfolk to be either cowards or cheats and they have never run away from the consequences of life. We still breed a good stock.

The one-worlder does advocate a noble ideal, but history is moving the other way. Asia has thrown off the shackles of imperialism to replace them by the shackles of intensive nationalism. So has Africa. So has most of Europe.

Only the United States has lost its sense of nationalism and patriotism and is paying a fearful price for accepting phraseology for truth and hope for fact. The danger is that some of our people think not in terms of the welfare of their own country and their responsibility for its survival, but rather in terms so broad, so widespread, as to be realistically meaningless except as a cover for blatant selfishiness.

The good old Commencement Day orator who preached love of country in poetic language and heated oratory was much closer to the truth and to morality than those unfortunate weary old men who hope to be regarded by youth as forward looking because they preach a doctrine of a world of love, as did Micah and Confucius and about everybody else, including Leo Tolstoy, only it never happened. The idea is that if one sets his ideals far enough ahead, say four or five thousand years away, he cannot possibly be wrong, for who will say him nay?

So, one spends an hour or two reading the reported remarks of the so-called great men, some of whom are truly useful in their own limited fields but who, when they speak in terms philosophical, generally have to hire a speech-writer to bring Edmund Burke or Patrick Henry or perhaps Karl Marx up-to-date and so their words are nostalgic and one wonders where he read them before and in what context. It becomes particularly amusing to listen to a hard-boiled businessman, who in his proper domain fights against doctrines which, in the hired speech, flow from his lips like manna from Heaven. And then one wonders, does he know what he is reading? Does he know that a prankster played a trick on him?

Berlin Defense

Col. Fred Weyand Thinks Russians Would Have Hard Time In Attack On Germany

WEST BERLIN — In the spring of 1945 the Russians besieged Berlin for eight days with numerical superiority of something like 16 to 1. At the peak of the battle, the Russian advance was at the rate of about one city square per day. Whenever an American commander talks hypothetically about defending Berlin from the enveloping Communist hordes of today, he is apt to fall back upon that example of 14 years ago.

Col. Fred Weyand of Berkeley (Calif.), commander of the Third Battle Group, 6th Infantry Division, told me that in terms of World War III, he would expect the Russians to attack southward into West Germany and to send the East Germans to capture Berlin. Should this happen, Col. Weyand and all other officers with whom I have talked are confident of holding their own. "I think they know it."

The city, although seemingly undermanned and underarmed, is a tight little bastion where specialized training and selected weapons make up for lack of numbers and firepower. There are about 3,000 bat troops and another 1,000 service troops in the American complement of two battle groups and a tank company. The British have a little more than this, while the French have a little less. The U. S. infantrymen are kept in peak physical condition by marching some four miles from McNair barracks to the Gruenwald, a public recreational forest, and by carrying out tactical exercises at the rate of three days a week.

Usually peacetime exercises are a bore to officers and men alike, and are of limited benefit. But here in this Communist-surrounded fortress, the training is serious business. Even the elements of make-believe are cheerfully accepted. No live ammunition is used in the Gruenwald. The foxholes must be refilled after use, the area policed for trash and damaged trees must be replaced with saplings. Berliners love their vast sylvan playground, and Americans can understand and respect this affection.

The six companies under Col. Weyand perform with battlefield dispatch. The tactical problems involve breaking contact with the enemy (retreating), regrouping and counterattacking. This is hard by night, and harder still by daylight. Weyand said that the Berlin mission is principally defensive, as are most of the problems, but that the counterattack finale is good for the troop spirits. The several junior officers crouched with him in the verdant wilderness grinned and nodded with approval.

The most discussed weaponry of our period — air power and atomic explosives — are non-existent in the Berlin Command. The only aircraft are a few 2-seater reconnaissance helicopters, the H-13's. They carry a pilot and a forward observer. Like everything else on the Berlin Command, they are peculiar to close-contact, street-to-street fighting. Another basic vehicle is the M-59 armored personnel carrier, a swift tank-like omnibus for infantry squads. The M-48 Patton tanks work very closely with the infantry, supplying the big punch with their 90-mm guns, and being protected in turn by the foot soldiers from guerilla attacks.

Every soldier in Berlin is armed to the teeth. The tank crews are issued .45 revolvers, sub-machine guns and all the hand grenades they want. The infantrymen have M-1 rifles or M-30 carbines, and all are well-trained with the bayonets. Aside from the tanks and machine guns, the basic artillery weapon is the 4.2-inch mortar which lobs its explosives on an almost vertical trajectory, so as to be of maximum usefulness in street fighting. There is much emphasis on the use of tear gas and mine laying.

Col. Weyand's men were digging their foxholes in the British sector of Berlin when I made the visit. There seems to be no jealousy between the three allies. Only two of the three can hold tactical exercises at the same time, owing to the limitations of space in the Grunewald. But joint exercise of alternating partners are held several times a year. Still closer liaison work is done with the West German constabulary. At least once a year the Berlin forces move into West Germany where they repeat these exercises with live ammunition.

West Berlin is possibly the one place on earth where there is no "Yankees Go Home" sentiment among the loyalist population. The Yanks feel they are needed here. This is the biggest factor in the high state of morale and effiency.

EDITOR:

Having spent most of my life in Northeast Louisiana I still consider Louisiana my homestate. I had hoped to hear Governor Faubus' speech in Ruston next Tuesday, but as I will not be able to attend the meeting make his welcome so loud and clear that I can hear it here in the Ozarks.

Do it up "brown" complete with sirens, if necessary. Here in Arkansas, we love the Governor and we are really grateful for the support you have given us in our fight for freedom.

Sincerely,

Defense Bill Up

Senate Not Likely To Make Many Changes In House-Passed Measure

The Senate is not likely to make many changes in the national defense appropriations bill as it passed the House of Representatives, barring of course, some sudden flare-up in our relations with Russia, which is unlikely in the short time which will elapse before Senate consideration of the measure begins.

No great controversy arose between the Administration and the House of Representatives over the bill, although it departed in some important particulars from the Budget recommendations. But the highly capable Representative George H. Mahon of Texas, chairman of the subcommittee which prepared the measure, explained to the House that the Budget was prepared last autumn and reached the House of Representatives floor after Committee consideration in June.

"I might say," explained Mahon, "that if a new Budget were submitted today by the President it would not be the same in all respects to that which came to Congress in January. This is a fast moving world and some things recommended six months ago are out of date now. That would be true under any Administration."

The House bill of $38,843, 339,000 was $1,039,868,100, or approximately $1 billion less than for the current year, and $400 million less than the Budget recommendations for the new fiscal year. But as every one understands there will be deficiency appropriations and the sum will wind up considerably larger, how much larger no one can now guess for, as Mahon sadly but aptly told the House:

"It is raining in Washington today and I understand there is no sunshine in Geneva; so probably this is as good a time as any for Congress to begin consideration of the Defense Department Appropriations bill."

Unfortunately the budget and legislation for the years following this seem fated to be prepared under the same gloomy conditions that now exist.

So we start the new fiscal year on July 1 with an Army of 870,-000 men, 630,000 in the Navy, 175,-000 in the Marine Corps, 845,000 in the Air Corps. Back of this total of 2,523,000 men in uniform are 1,200,000 civilian employees in the Department of Defense. This aggregate of 3,723,000 is startling, not because it has changed much, but because of its very sameness and the certainty that it is not going to be decreased or even held where in the foreseeable future.

The same holds true of the costs: $11.6 for military personnel; $10.4 billion for operation and maintenance of the three services; $13 billion for procurement and $3.8 billion for research and development. The one certain thing is that these costs will increase next year and again the next year.

Add to the bill as it passed the House the costs of military construction which are in another bill and the deficiency bills to be passed later and you have a $40,-000,000 military expenditure in the coming year, with the certain prospect that it will be progressively larger year by year.

The advocates of better preparation for small war are, of course, disappointed with the bill. Again Mahon told the House:

"There are those who are saying: 'Get your mind off a big atomic war; there is not going to be one. The thing to be concerned about is limited war.' This is a very dangerous doctrine. We must face the stark reality that the issue involved is the survival of the United States. If the fire department of a great city is able to put out a fire in a 40-story building, the chances are that it will be able to put out a little-fire in a 1-story building."

Thus, in its bill, the House adopted the philosophy expressed by General Thomas S. Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command, that if this nation has sufficient armed forces it can tailor a force to handle any small wars.

The biggest shuffle made by the House of Representatives in the President's recommendations was the elimination of $260,000,000 for a proposed Navy super aircraft carrier, an instrument for smaller wars.

In this country the object of our military preparations is peace not war. And undoubtedly the people of the United States want to be assured beyond preadventure of a doubt that this nation has the ability to deter global war and to cope with the situation should such a war be forced on us.

So the overwhelming majority of the people of the United States are behind the overall determination of the Administration and of Congress to increase its preparations to meet what seem to be the greatest Russian threats. These threats without doubt are long-range ballistic missiles and the increasing fleet of Russian submarines, many of them capable of firing intermediate range ballistic missiles.

Foreign Imports

Protection Of American Products To Be On Political Agenda

For the first time in a third of a century, protection of American production against foreign imports will be on the agenda of both political conventions next year. As a proposed platform resolution, the subject is likely to make more headway at the Republican than the Democratic gathering. But the Democratic party is no longer the champion of free trade, and labor as well as management is beginning to make suggestions that American workers be protected against law wages abroad.

This has a reminiscent ring of the '20s, when the Republicans forced through the Smoot Hawley tariff bill, putting many duties at an all time high, in the teeth of spreading employment. The aftermath was much greater unemployment.

When reciprocal trade in 1934 gave foreign trade a new shot in the arm, die hard Republicans grumbled that the country would live to regret the day. Now the Democrats, though still regarding reciprocal trade and the resultant agreements with European and Latin American countries as one of the great New Deal accomplishments, are wondering what can be done about low cost foreign competition.

Tariff used to be a simple solution, in the days when few governmental problems were really complex. But now the loss of foreign markets for U. S. produced goods is as much a threat as the invasion of foreign goods. Obviously a tariff wall, or even a restriction on imports wouldn't be a complete answer.

Politicians like issues to be simplified and two sided, so that they can be discussed with glib facility on the stump. But how can they so capsulize an issue which involves the gradual loss of the U. S. automobile market in South America, the many American branch plants being established in Europe to take advantage of cheap wages and other favoring factors, the steady sales growth of European steel products, in the U. S., as sales of U. S. steel products abroad steadily decline, and the growing threat of Communist competition, both Soviet and Chinese, in foreign markets where the U. S. has had an advantage?

To meet this unpromising outlook the reciprocal trade act of 1934 is beginning to look as obsolete as the autos of that era. The procedure to lower import duties on foreign goods is actually much simpler than that to increase them, unless Congress should act on specific and individual items, which is almost impossible. To increase an import duty requires an "escape clause" investigation, of which there have been approximately 100 in the 25 year history of the act. The U. S. tariff commission has recommended duty increases in approximately 30 of these and in about 10, the President of the U.S. has made increases which cannot be more than 50 per cent of the duty.

Now the U.S. is in a position of having its trade agreements with other nations negotiated partly on the recommendations agreed upon by the international organization known as GATT — General Agreement on Trades and Tariffs — which some of the interested parties in this country say is a deterrent to foreign trade.

The Eisenhower administration has worked consistently for extensions of the Reciprocal Trade Act without change and has been able to obtain most of what it asked. This act originally gave American industry new openings for markets abroad, which have been an important stimulus to U. S. prosperity. The portion of those markets retained by branch plants established abroad makes no contribution to that prosperity, except in such taxes as may be paid here on their profits.

In the last year a new competitor for the chief American product, the automobile, has become important both in this country and abroad. In the old high tariff days, imports of foreign cars were so small that automobile manufacturers took no interest in import duties, except to request there be none on automobiles. Now the situation has changed but American makers know that because of high wages and material costs, they can not compete pricewise with most foreign cars.

How the best political minds will meet the dilemma will be something to watch. For the next man to move into the White House it will be a very important problem, because more and more businesses are likely to be hurting from foreign competition.

Doctor Says Gov. Long May Enter Hospital In N.O.

either way I might have to change my mind later."

Earlier Saturday, doctors said the 63-year-old governor was "better in every respect" and he was looking forward cheerfully to next week's legal battle which could free him from custody.

The dynamic, 63-year-old Long, ever-proud of the magic touch of his name in Louisiana politics, is fighting for freedom from a mental clinic. He still wants to run for governor again.

'IN BEST PLACE'

If the courts will take into consideration the advice of Governor Long's doctors, Mrs. Long said, "I feel that they will realize he is in the best place to get the right care and medical attention he needs.

"Governor Long is in a wonderful hospital, for the John Sealy was highly recommended to us."

The determined governor said in his application for a writ of habeas corpus hearing Monday that he had been drugged, trussed up and kidnaped aboard a National Guard plane for the flight from Baton Rouge to Galveston —all against his will.

To this Mrs. Long calmly replied in Baton Rouge:

"I think when any person is unable to make the right decisions for himself, it is time for his family to make them for his benefit.

"The family must make decisions in such critical moments, and I was not alone in the decision. Joining me were his sisters, his nieces and his nephew."

Mrs. Long made the comments in a long distance interview with The Associated Press.

One of Governor Long's nephews, U.S. Sen. Russell Long, son of the assassinated Huey P. Long was at the governor's bedside when he collapsed two weeks ago.

Should Long succeed in his habeas corpus plea, he could walk free from the hospital and return immediately to Louisiana as its chief executive.

Should he fail in the Monday hearing, Long faces a sanity hearing in probate court Tuesday and the possibility of a 90-day commitment from such a hearing.

The habeas corpus open hearing will be held in the court room of District Judge L. D. Godard Monday at 10 a.m.

The scheduled sanity hearing the next day would be closed. It has been set by probate Judge Hugh Gibson Jr.

Mrs. Long and Dr. Arthur D. Long, a physician and cousin of the governor, two weeks ago signed the papers placing the ill Gov. Long under protective custody of the Dr. Titus Harris Clinic at John Sealy Hospital.

Daniel Bobbitt, John Sealy director of hospitals, said Long today "was in a cheerful mood, anxious to get on with the court hearing, his personal doctors report."

In Baton Rouge, at the Mansion, Mrs. Long said she doubted that she would return to Galveston for the court session.

"I've already done what I believe to be in the best interests of Gov. Long," she said." I really felt he needed hospital and medical care."

While the Louisiana Legislature was still in session two weeks ago after angry shouting speeches Long announced that he was planning to tour the state in his new campaign for governor.

2 Children Attempt To Kill Parents

had been spanked for smoking.

The children told police they planned the slaying for more than a week. At first, they said they were going to hit their parents over the head with a hammer but discarded that plan as too risky. Then they gave this account:

The family returned to their home in nearby Michigan Center late Thursday after visiting friends. The children decided to go through with the plot because their older brother William, 24, was away.

They filled two tumblers with gasoline from a can in the garage and crept up to their parents' bedroom. When they heard snores, Doreen said she emptied the gasoline over the bed and Bruce touched it off with a match.

Mrs. Baker ran screaming from the house, her hair in flames. Neighbors smothered the blaze with blankets and rescued the badly burned father.

Baker was taken to Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor and his wife was in Mercy Hospital in Jackson. Both were reported in fair condition.

Saturday that all signs point to a breakup next week. They said the conference probably would be forced to resume Tuesday if Russia fails to 'soften its demands. But Soviet sources said Gromyko would resist a recess—and possibly force the West to end it completely. The idea of a recess was meeting favor in the West.

American delegation officials said there was no point in going on if, after the weekend break, Gromyko still refuses to back down.

Soviet delegation sources continued to express optimism and discounted Western reports of a rupture.

East German Communists in Berlin, taking their cue from the adamant Russian stand, insisted that the Western Allies had one year to clear out of West Berlin.

In London, a Moscow radio broadcast charged that the "reactionary press" in the West was trying to blame Russia in advance for a breakdown of the conference.

Army Happy Over Master Defense Plan

the Zeus is now about one billion dollars.

The "master plan" treats the Zeus as an unproved weapon and would furnish funds to put it on an operational, production basis.

Two years ago, the Air Force was assigned sole operational control of the 1,500-mile intermediate missile, the Army being permitted only to complete development of its 1,500-mile Jupiter for the Air Force.

As a "consolation prize," the Army got the anti-missile missile, then regarded as a nebulous project. Subsequent developments brought this system into increasing favor.

In defending against enemy missiles of the intercontinental range (currently considered to be around 5,000 miles), the plan favors a system of missiles carrying heavy nuclear warheads that could be fired in salvos within 15 minutes after the attacking missile is detected.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.Y.) praised the plan and predicted Congress will accept it substantially as submitted. Bridges is the top-ranking GOP member of the Senate Appropriations Committee and the Senate Armed Services Committee. The plan had been received with some skepticism. Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy outlined details of the proposal to the Senate Armed Services Committee on Friday.

A Republican member of the committee, Sen. Francis Case (S.D.) said that "if you accept some of the premises on which this was based you could go a lot further by way of savings."

Negro Injured, Building Struck, In Mishap Here

A pedestrian was injured and a building considerably damaged here yesterday about 8 p.m. when hit by a car driven by a 23-year-old Negro identified by police as Solomon Johnson II, 1600 Hudson Lane.

Authorities said Johnson was headed east on Renwick Street and turned right onto a parking lot. The car's brakes did not hold, and a pedestrian was injured as the auto hit the front of a snack bar, police said.

The pedestrian was identified as Roger Salbarry, Negro of 3409 Owl Street. He went to his family doctor for treatment.

Boy Is Held For Slaying Mother, 33

"said it had something to do with his wristwatch. He said the incident took place about 8:30 a.m. (cdt)."

The back of Mrs. Nesius' head had been smashed in, and she had been struck over the right eye and ear also, police said. Although her housecoat was pulled up to her shoulders and her panties lay nearby, there was no indication of sexual molestation, police added.

The boy's step - father said David, a child by the woman's previous marriage, recently graduated third in his class from a grade school. Although he was criticized by his mother for making noise early Friday, Nesius said, the boy did not seem upset over the reprimand.

AFTER 50 YEARS SERVICE

DeValera Retiring As Ireland Leader

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Eamon de Valera, 77 and three-fourths blind, is about to step quietly into the shade in Irish political life.

The "long fellow," who has served or ruled Ireland for 50 of his years, leaves the active post of prime minister by way of a presidential election Wednesday. As president he will be called upon to do almost nothing except sign state papers and make ceremonial appearances.

Irishmen can be found who will bet on anything—except that De Valera will lose. Odds on such a bet would be about 1,000 to 1.

Sean MacEoin has the hopeless job of running against the man who has as much right to be called the father of his country.

There are 1,700,000 voters in Ireland and even Sean MacEoin's Fine Gael party—unofficially, of course—expects De Valera to get far more than half the votes.

President Sean T. O'Kelly, 76, cannot by law run for another five-year term. One of O'Kelly's last official acts was to go to the United States on a state visit last spring.

De Valtra's successor, to be named by his Fianna Fail party, is fairly certain to be Sean Lemass, the vice premier.

The presidential campaign has been going on for nearly three months but it has been the quietest Ireland ever had.

Both De Valera and 67-year-old MacEoin were revolutionists against British rule. They are called Ireland's two greatest living patriots. Both were condemned to die by the British. Once close friends, they turned against each other.

The only issue stirring up the Irish involves the question of continuing proportional representation which will be settled by a nationwide referendum.

De Valera who wrote "P.R." into the constitution, is now bitter against it. MacEoin's party favors it.

"P.R." calls for setting a quota of votes each candidate needs to win a seat in the Dail—Parliament. Once a candidate wins that many he is in. Any votes he gets above the quota are distributed among other candidates according to the preference shown by the voters.

There have been charges that to abolish "P.R." means the death in the Dail of small parties, such as labor, independents, farmers and republicans.

This might leave only De Valera's Fianna Fail and MacEoin's Fine Gael.

Fianna Fail has 78 seats in the 147 seat dail. Without "P.R." the number might increase in the next general election to a figure which would assure De Valer's party of completely dominating Parliament.

42 Give Surprise Shower, Honoree Never Shows Up

SCARBOROUGH, Maine (AP)—Forty-two friends gathered Friday night to give Mrs. Ronald P. Bugenske a surprise shower. But the guest of honor never showed up.

Mrs. Bugenske was giving birth to twin girls at a hospital in Biddeford—a month ahead of schedule.

Also due for a surprise is the father, a coastguardman, who is on ice patrol in the North Atlantic and won't be home until June 25.

LSU Board Elevates Hitt To New Post

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors, at a meeting on the lakefront campus here Saturday, elevated Dr. Homer Hitt to vice-president of L.S.U. in charge of the branch in New Orleans.

Dr. Hitt has held the title of dean of LSUNO and will continue as executive officer in charge of the New Orleans branch.

Among other action, the LSU Board named Dr. Joseph C. Tregle Jr. academic dean of LSUNO. Dr. Tregle has been serving as professor of history and chairman of the division of social sciences.

Other changes made by the LSU Board, all recommended by LSU President Troy H. Middleton, included:

Established the office of vice-president and dean of the LSU school of medicine. Dr. William W. Frye, dean of the medical school was appointed to the post.

Established the position of vice-president of the office of academic affairs at LSU and appointed to this position Milton M. Harrison, former dean of the LSU law school.

Discontinued the office of dean of administration and substituted for it the office of comptroller. Named as comptroller Walter B. Calhoun who has served as associate comptroller since 1952.

Singer Happy Over Reunion With Family

NEW YORK (AP)— Singer Vic Damone arrived here from London Saturday happy over his reconciliation with Pier Angeli and determined to make friends with his mother-in-law.

"I told my wife," Damone said, "'that for her sake I would make up with her mother as long as she will be a plain, nice mother-in-law, a nice little old lady. That would be wonderful."

Two months ago, before Damone and his wife patched up their marriage, the fur was flying between Damone and the actress' mother, Mrs. Enrica Pierangeli.

She accused Damone of choking her daughter. While denying the allegations, Damone was blaming his marital difficulties on Mrs. Pierangeli, who lived a few doors from the couple in Hollywood.

"She should have stayed in Italy," Damone said then.

Saturday Damone remarked that his reconciliation with Miss Angeli stemmed from a new approach to her mother.

"One of the things that was wrong before was that some of my friends bothered her and some of her friends bothered me," he said, referring to Mrs. Pierangeli.

"I also used to gamble, but I haven't made a bet in a year. I was in Las Vegas recently for a month and I didn't gamble a single dollar."

Damone said the next step in his plans with his wife is "'to have another baby."

The couple was married Nov. 24, 1954 and separated last Aug. 29. Miss Angeli won a divorce by default last December. Damone said it could not have become final until Oct. 31.

Macmillan Says Berlin Dispute At Danger Point

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Saturday the dispute over Berlin may reach the danger point unless the Soviets modify their new proposals for limiting Western rights in the divided city.

"I do not altogether despair of progress," Macmillan told a Conservative party rally. "At the same time we have to remember that unless the present Soviet attitude is considerably modified the Berlin situation may still become dangerous."

Macmillan said the West must be firm in its dealings with the Kremlin.

"We cannot abandon the people of West Berlin or weaken in any way our right to protect them," he said.

FROM REPUBLICAN JIBES

Butler Defends Advisory Council

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rival party chairman traded jibes Saturday about the usefulness of the controversial Democratic Advisory Council.

Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton said in a statement that the council should disband. Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler, also chairman of the council, retorted that creation of the council was "the most constructive thing the Democratic National Committee has done in the last quarter of a century."

Morton's statement came during the opening session of a two-day meeting of the council, which was set up as a between-conventions voice of the Democratic Party.

The council issued a statement Saturday applauding Democratic moves in Congress to beef up foreign economic aid for underdeveloped countries. It called on President Eisenhower to back up these proposals, although he has indicated opposition.

Marton said few Democrats paid any attention to the council and that the least attention was paid by the Democratic congressional leadership. Action to disband, he said, would be the first move it ever took that would win the support of Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson.

Butler replied at a news conference at which he said the council had no intention of disbanding. He said Morton apparently disagreed with former GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn, who had orgnized a similar agency under the Republican National Committee.

The Democratic chairman also voiced belief that the council represented the views of a majority of Democrats in Congress and in the country. Asked if his comment applied to Democratic congressional leaders who have taken a cold view of the council, he replied that he would hope so.

The council statement said it was "especially pleased at the present movement in Congress to strengthen the economic phases of the mutual security program."

It cited House Foreign Affairs Committee action to increase the administration request for the development loan fund and Senate Foreign Relations Committee action to authorize a five-year loan program of five billion dollars. The Senate committee proposal was identical with a recommendation made by the council last December.

Referring to the five-year approach, the council said it was convinced that aid to underdeveloped countries was less useful if it were "uncertain and fluctuating."

"The council hopes that the Senate and House will give full support to this most constructive lead," it said. "It hopes, also, that the administration will not hang back.

"At one time, it appeared that the Foreign Relations Committee's action would meet with administration approval. It would be a tragedy if administration timidity brought such erosion of will as to block so essential and sensible a proposal."

Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 and 1956 presidential nominee, arrived after the morning session but told newsmen that he concurred in the statement. Former President Truman did not come to Washington for the meeting but Butler reported that he had approved a preliminary draft of the statement.

PLANT RENOVATED

NEW YORK (UPI) — Avisun Corp., jointly owned by American Viscose Corp., and Sun Oil Co., announced it will renovate a polypropylene film plant near New Castle, Del. and build an adjacent pilot plant unit with annual capacity of 500,000 pounds of polypropylene continuous filament and staple figers.

Steps To Freedom

Ronald E. Alley, 36, a former Army major convicted of collaborating with the enemy in Korea, is shown as he stepped through the prison gate of the Army Disciplinary Prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., Saturday. He was released after serving three years and 7 months of his sentence. Alley was sentenced by a court martial at Ft. Meade, Md., in 1955 to 10 years at hard labor for giving information to the enemy and participating in Red Chinese propaganda efforts. (AP Wirephoto)

CLAIMS JUSTICE ERRS

Convicted Major Seeks Vindication

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — A former Army major convicted of collaborating with the enemy in Korea said Saturday he has contacted the Soviet Union in an effort to obtain information about 142 other Army officers "who are as much concerned in this as I am."

Ronald E. Alley, 36, released from Ft. Leavenworth Prison Saturday after serving three years and seven months, contends that he was made a scapegoat by the U.S. military.

He released a prepared statement at a news conference.

The former artillery officer was sentenced by a court-martial at Ft. Meade, Me., in 1955, to 10 years at hard labor for giving information to the enemy, soliciting information from the enemy and participating in Red Chinese propaganda efforts. The sentence later was reduced to five years. He was a prisoner of war in Korea for three years.

The portion of his statement dealing with his communication with the Soviet Union said: "I have been in communication with the government of the Soviet Union requesting the dossiers of 143 U.S. military officers whom I have indicated by name, rank and in both cases by serial numbers to the Soviet Union. This list was submitted to the Soviet Union some three months ago and only within the past two weeks have I received a reply, indicating channels through which these dossiers may be obtained."

"As many of your members of the press who attended my very lengthy trial at Ft. Meade, Md., will know," Alley said, "some 25 to 30 officers in the U.S. military forces readily admitted under oath that they also had committed acts similar to the act on which I was convicted and sent to prison. The truth of the matter is, that there are one hundred forty-two United States military officers with whom I was personally acquainted who are as much concerned in this as I am."

He charged that one of this group was given a high award and "another officer received duty at a desk in the Pentagon and a two-year delay in his promotion full colonel for his troubles."

"Some received no official att tion whatsoever," Alley's statement said, "but I submit that the treatment of my case has been entirely a miscarriage of justice, and I intend to vindicate myself."

Alley said his freedom of speech had been severely restricted while in prison. "In fact," he added, "up to this time I have been subject to instant court-martial should I make any public statements."

He said that he plans to make further public statements when he arrives in his hometown of Bar Harbor, Maine.

Of his contact with the U.S.S.R. Alley said: "We have documents where possible, such as personal history statements; autobiographies; military papers written on infanty, artillery, engineers, armor, Air Force, Marine and naval tactics and techniques; written speeches; motion picture film of senior officers as main character; newspaper articles; germ warfare confessions; and radio broadcast. It will be of interest to note that we have requested all information (pertaining) to myself.

"It is our intention that immediately upon receipt of this informaiton and its subsequent coordination, that it will be turned over to the press of this country, through whose medium, I personally feel it can be presented, at least partially, to the American public. The public will subsequently become, in effect, the court of last resort."

Alley said he had no firm plans except to return to Bar Harbor where his wife has been operating a motel. He said that he had learned the silk screen printing process and typewriter repair while in prison.

"I hardly know my children after having been away from them so many years.

Alley weighs 220 pounds and is about 6 feet 3.

Alley said his wife, Erna, whom he married in Baden Baden, Germany, had been making about $2,000 per year from the motel business. His children are Eevelyn 11, and Gary, 10.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SAYS

Long Can't Grant Himself Reprieve

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Attorney General Jack Gremillion said Friday that Louisiana Gov. Earl Long would not have the power to grant a reprieve in any insanity commitment proceedings brought against him in this state.

Gov. Long filed a petition in Galveston, Tex., Friday asking that he be released from custody of the John Sealy hospital, where his family brought him after a mental collapse May 30.

When Long enters Louisiana he automatically becomes governor under law. However, his power to grant reprieves pertains only to criminal cases, and any commitment proceedings brought against him would be a civil case, Gremillion said.

In Long's petition in Galveston, the chief executive charged he was drugged and bound hand and foot when his family removed him to the Galveston psychiatric center.

Gremillion said, "There are two routes the governor's family may pursue if they continue the commitment proceedings in Louisiana. They may obtain a coroner's commitment, or may file interdiction proceedings in behalf of the governor."

An interdiction order allows a family to intercede in behalf of persons incapable of taking care of themselves or their estate.

In Long's case, the interdiction proceedings would be filed at Winnfield, La., the governor's legal residence. A psychiatrist's examination would be required and the governor would have to attend the hearing.

The other route outlined by Gremillion was a coroner's commitment, a simple police function under Louisiana law.

In this procedure, a coroner and one other physician must examine the subject and certify he is in need of treatment. The coroner may then order the subject committed to a mental institution for 14 days.

Monkeys To Blaze Man's Space Trail

by picket ships and perhaps helicopters.

A chimpanzee in one capsule will test a special rocket escape mechanism, the officials added.

One fear is that the huge rocket shooting a man nnto space might explode at launching. An escape rocket atop the whole assembly can be fired automatically, lifting the capsule out of harm's way and letting it parachute to earth.

Rockets of this type already have been tested at Wallops. They shoot their exhaust flames downward to the sides, so they won't burn the capsule.

A full-scale capsule will be shot hundreds of miles by an Atlas rocket in Florida about mid-July, informants said. Speeding through the earth's atmosphere at 25 times the speed of sound, it will be an acid test of how well the capsule can withstand tremendous heat of friction.

The instand it landed, its parachute was automatically detached. A radio beacon began beeping a signal, green dye flowed out to mark its spot, it shot up a smoke signal, flashed a bright light.

As it bobbed in the sea, a helicopter soared out, snagged the capsule with a net, lifted it, and headed for shore.

But then—disaster. The net fell loose, the bell-shaped capsule fell like a bomb into the sea.

"It cracked open like an egg, and sank," said one 'copter crewman.

In deeper water, a ship could have lifted the capsule aboard. Helicopter recovery had worked before. But this time, any astronaut aboard would have been killed. There was none aboard, nor any animal.

"That's what tests are for—we must get absolute reliability in recovery," said Carl Sandahl, one of the NASA officials directing the project.

for the races in education and of states rights.

"If that cause is lost, then we are all lost and it would be a good thing if the Russians do destroy us with atom and hydrogen power rather than that we become a nation of criminals and indecent people."

He said the southern states were in the same position in relation to the federal government and integration as the government was in dealing with communism.

"The Communists are seeking to take over piecemeal," he said. He asserted the government could not afford to yield to the Communists. He said southern states were in "the same dilemma."

In defense of segregation, Faubus asserted that "Eisenhower's grandchildren attend private segregated schools. The only Supreme Court justice who has children attending school has his child in a private segregated school. The chief critics of segregation in Congress either have their children going to segregated public schools or to private segregated schools."

"Consistency, thou art a jewel, but jewels are damn hard to find in public life in this day and age," he said.

Faubus repeated an attack he made Friday on the national press during a speech at Montgomery, Ala. He alleged the press had surrounded the truth of the race issue with a "paper curtain."

The Ouachita Parish Chapter of the Order of DeMolay will meet Wednesday at the West Monroe Masonic Lodge at 7:30 p.m. to elect new officers.

Charles Blaylock, past scribe, urges a good attendance.

Convention

Mrs. James N. Riddle, principal of Lida Benton School, leaves Wednesday for Springfield, Mo., to attend the national convention of Kappa Kappa Iota, teachers sorority.

Mrs. Riddle is Louisiana president for the group.

She has also been invited to attend the National Teacher Conference at the University of Kansas June 23-26.

From June 29-July 3 she will attend the National Education Association's annual confab in St. Louis as one of the official delegates from the Louisiana Teachers Association.

Ceremonies Are Set For Trans-Texas

Inaugural ceremonies for Trans-Texas Airways, a newcomer to Monroe, will be conducted tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at Selman Field by Twin City officials and civic leaders.

Local officials will fly to Alexandria in a special "first flight" junket via Trans - Texas Super Starliner, for a luncheon.

Leaders from Arkansas, Tennessee, Texas and parts of Louisiana will meet the Twin City group.

Trans-Texas moved into Selman Field June 1 after CAB awarded it a direct flight from Monroe to Houston.

Chamber of Commerce project, the coming of Trans-Texas to the Twin Cities will be honored by members of the chamber aviation committee and board of directors.

OFFICIALS

Slated to make the inaugural flight are Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard, Mayor J. Allan Norris, James A. Noe and Monroe Chamber Manager Jim Williams.

The new route will include Beaumont - Port Arthur, Tex.; Lake Charles, Alexandria and Monroe, and El Dorado, Pine Bluff and Little Rock, Ark.

Trans-Texas schedules call for morning and evening flights in both directions over the new route.

Cool Air Brings Showers, Funnel Cloud Sighted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cool air spread across much of the Midwest and Eastern states region Saturday while southerly winds ran temperatures to 90-degree levels in the eastern Rockies and Western Plains.

Showers broke out in most 90-degree heat in the Gulf states and a funnel cloud was reported sighted near New Orleans.

Afternoon temperatures in the 50s and 60s prevailed in the Northwest, while readings above the 100-degree mark appeared in the desert regions of California and Arizona.

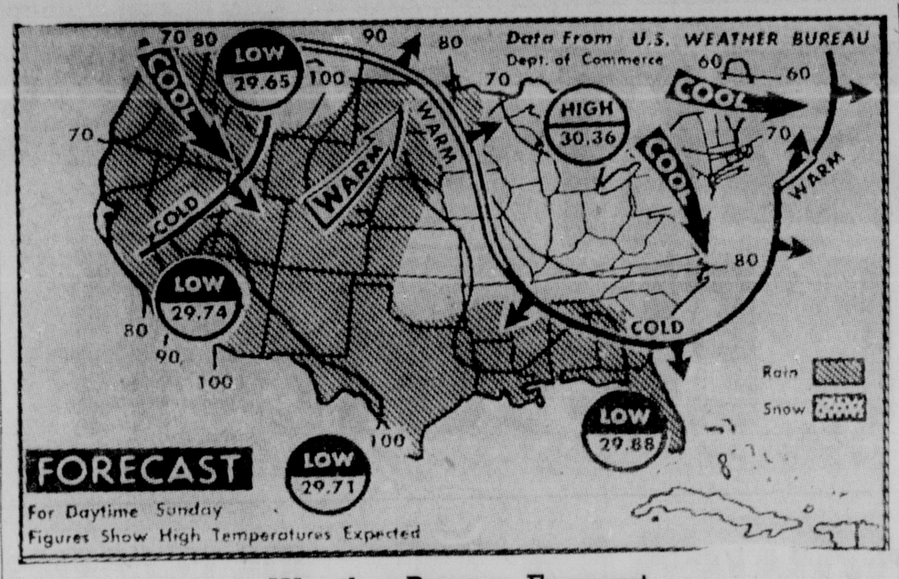

Readings in the 90s appeared as far north as Nebraska and Montana had afternoon temperatures in the 80s.

Showers and thunderstorms developed across the Rockies from Montana to Arizona and New Mexico. A few showers broke out in Washington. Showers or thunderstorms were on tap for all states west of the Rockies through Sunday.

A cool and dry Sunday was the prospect for much of the eastern half of the nation.

METHODISTS TO ALASKA

CHICAGO (AP) — The department of Methodist Men of the denomination's lay activities board is sponsoring a 16-day tour of Alaska July 7 to July 22 to acquaint laymen with church work in the new state.

Weather Bureau Forecast

Scattered rain is expected Sunday from Florida through Gulf states and across most of Plains to Pacific coast. Most of eastern and central U.S. should enjoy fair weather. It will be cooler in Northeast and mid-Atlantic states, Pacific northwest and extreme Southwest; warmer over northern and central Plains and through middle and upper Mississippi Valley. Today Noted As Flag Day

Today, Flag Day, marks the 182nd anniversary of the formal adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the national flag.

On June 14, 1777, Congress made the adoption.

A design for the flag was presented, resolving that "The flag of the United States shall be 13 stripes, alternate red and white, with a union of 13 stars of white on a blue field, representing a new constellation."

James Wood Recipient Of Optimist Award

James Wood, local businessman, last night received the past president's award of the Monroe Optimist Club.

Wood's selection was made on the basis of his work as chairman of the boys' activities committee.

The presentation came at the annual installation banquet attended by both members of the Optimist Club and the Opti-Mrs. Club.

Recipient of the Opti-Mrs. of the year award was Mrs. Barbara Tarver, wife of incoming president of the Optimist Club Earl Tarver.

Tarver was installed along with Wood, and Ryder Gore, vice presidents; Charlie Hamilton, secretary - treasurer, and W. L. Crow, parliamentarian.

Recognized at the banquet was outgoing president Billye Adams.

New officers installed for the Opti-Mrs. club were Mrs. Lynn Phillips, president; Mrs. Pat Merriman, vice president; Mrs. Martha Gore, secretary; Mrs. Tarver, treasurer; Mrs. Dot Marnell, reporter, and Mrs. Ezell Gentry, historian.

AT BIRTHDAY PAGEANTRY

Queen Stays Calm In Face Of Danger

LONDON (UPI) — A skittish horse reared and almost bolted at Queen Elizabeth on her own brown charger Saturday during the medieval pageantry of her royal birthday celebration. The Queen rode calmly on.

The incident occurred during the ancient ritual performed under warm, sunny skies for the Queen's 33rd birthday. Actually her birthday is April 21, but royal birthdays always are celebrated in June in hopes of pleasant weather.

As she rode down the mall in a close-fitting scarlet jacket with blue sash and a tri-coronered hat, a horse of the military escort 10 yards ahead of her became freightened by the cheers of the crowd.

The animal reared and turned toward the Queen. The crowd gasped as it appeared that the horse would charge the Queen. But its rider managed to rein it in.

Two other horses became unsettled.

Behind her on a white charger was her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, wearing the tall bearskin hat and scarlet jacket of the colonel of the Welsh guards.

Before the royal couple pranced the Coldstream, Grenadier and Irish guards all in bearskin busbys and uniforms that made a splash of color on the sunlit scene.

Usually, the warm weather rakes several guardsmen in their heavy uniforms topple over. Saturday not one trooper fainted. But 20 spectators did.

The crowd lined 10 to 20 deep behind rows of policemen cheered and roared. Many in the back rows held up periscopes to get a glimpse of the Queen.

Among those present for the ceremonies was Gen. Lauris Norstad of the U.S. Air Force, the Supreme Allied Commander in Europe.

Elizabeth sat under the glaring sun in 70-degree temperature for an hour to take the salutes of the wheeling platoons in the parade ground.

The ceremony was held for the first time on Saturday, when businesses close early, to avoid tying London traffic in knots.

Sondheimer Man Critical After Crash

St., and his wife, Roberta Rogers, 15.

Simmons' wife was rescued by C. F. Rogers, E. W. Rogers and Paul Wilhelm, who were fishing nearby. The fishermen also recovered the bodies of Dock and Roberta Rogers.

Simmons' body was recovered by Meeks and Butler, firemen manning the American Legion rescue unit.

Authorities said the accident occurred in about nine feet of water.

RITES

Crothers Funeral Home will be in charge.

Four Small Autos Slated For Debuts

DETROIT (AP)—By fall you're going to need a program to keep track of all the entries in the new car sweepstakes.

At least four new names will be in the field. In probable order of introduction they will be the Corvair, Falcon, Dart and Valiant.

Corvair, Falcon and Valiant will justify Detroit's standard claim to being "completely new." They are the smaller, economy cars of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. Each of the manufacturers has strenuously insisted they will not be stripped down versions.

The Dart, too, will be a lot different. It will be a smaller Dodge, built on a wheelbase four inches shorter than the 1959 Dodge and priced in the same field as Plymouth. It will use an engine designed for the Valiant, but in a slightly larger size. Dodge also claims the Dart will be different from other Dodges.

The Corvair is expected to be offered by Chevrolet dealers about Oct. 9. The Falcon will be in Ford showrooms about a week later. The Dart will show about Nov. 1 and the Valiant in late November or December.

Most radical of the new cars will be the Corvair, because its engine will be mounted in the rear. No such American-built car ever has been put into volume production.

The Corvair, with a 108-inch wheelbase, will use a pancake-shape aluminum engine. It will be a bigger car than either the Volkswagen or Renault and with 90-100 horsepower, twice as powerful.

In styling, the Corvair is expected to keep the flat-roof overhang used in the four-door hardtops of all General Motors cars this year.

Canada Pressing U.S. On Oil Use

HOUSTON (AP) — Canadians are challenging the United States for top ranking among oil consumers.

The United States per capita rate is 18.8 barrels or only 14 per cent more than Canada. In 1939 the United States average was twice that of Canada.

A Canadian oil executive believes his country soon may be the largest per capita consumer of petroleum energy in the world.

W. Harold Rea of Toronto says continued rapid increase in consumption for heating purposes, highway transports, and railway dieselization offers such a possibility.

On a recent visit to the United States the president of Canadian Oil Companies Ltd. said Canada is one of the world's few remaining frontiers of petroleum exploration.

Rea said the Canadian oil industry is comparatively small but already places his country on an equal footing with the United States in proven reserves on a per capita basis.

Canada has a population of 17 million, the United States about 170 million. Canadian crude reserves now approximate 3.6 billion barrels or about one-tenth that of the United States.

"On a per capita basis, reserves and productibility are about the same," he said. "Furthermore, our costs of finding, developing, and producing oil are all comparable to those of the United States."

Rea places current Canadian crude production at 450,000 barrels a day or about 50 per cent of capacity.

Exports to the United States have averaged about 90,000 barrels a day in recent months. Growth of this market outlet, however, was threatened by the federal government's oil imports mandatory controls program announced March 10. The program initially gave no special consideration to Canadian oil being imported by pipeline. On April 30, however, President Eisenhower placed Canada and Mexico on the exempt list, effective June 1.

Rea believes the action was in the best interests of both countries. After all, he points out, Canada is the only thing between the United States and Russia.

In the long term view of national security resource development there is so much in favor of developing these to our mutual advantage," he said. "Going it our own way simply leads to a lessening of cooperation and a heightening of tensions."

If Canada's oil is kept out of the United States, he said, then Canada will be forced to utilize her own oil at a loss to overseas nations.

ON KREMLIN TOUR

Crosses In Moscow Surprise Graham

MOSCOW (UPI) — American evangelist Billy Graham toured the Kremlin Saturday and expressed surprise at the crosses and religious pictures in the cathedral-museums in the center of the atheistic Communist government.

"Over the heart of the Kremlin, the cross," he said. "To have this religious spirit in the heart of the Kremlin is symbolic of some future date."

Graham made the ancient walled area known as the Kremlin the first stop on his sightseeing tour of Moscow. He arrived here Friday.

Within the walls are government buildings, historic monuments and ancient cathedrals which have been converted into museums by the Communists.

Graham said he had read there were cathedrals within the Kremlin but admitted he was surprised to see the gold crosses still atop the buildings.

Inside a gold-domed cathedral, Graham inspected the icons with interest and paused before a painting of the crucifixion.

"It's wonderful to see that picture of Christ," he said. "I am sure that many believers come here and are moved by it as it moves me.

"When I see something like that, it's a very moving and tender thing—especially to see it in the Kremlin. Religion still is alive here, too."

A government limousine pulled up to one of the palaces and a group of officials got out. They walked through a small park and into one of the government buildings.

A militiaman guarding the car said they included Khrushchev and members of the visiting East German delegation. Graham caught only a fleeting glance of the back of what was apparently the Soviet Premier.

Graham said he had no plans to seek an interview with Khrushchev during his five-day visit—"I am no politician."

Graham and his party just couldn't help running into the models from the Dior fashion show being presented in Moscow. The girls in their chic Paris creations were being photographed inside and outside buildings, and atop monuments and next to them.

Told that Soviet women enjoyed the Dior show, Graham smiled and said: "Women are women everywhere."

Graham also visited the Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum in Red Square and went shopping in Gums, the biggest department store in the Soviet capital.

Graham said he planned to meet with Russian Baptist church leaders and attend services Sunday at the local Baptist church. He said the church holds three services on Sunday "with standing room only."

Graham indicated he might preach at the church with an interpreter giving a Russian translation to the congregation. He already had made it clear, however, that he has no intentions of launching any "Crusade for Christ" during his stay.

Six Majorettes From Delhi To Attend Institute

DELHI (Special) — Six majorettes and baton twirlers from Delhi High School are scheduled to leave today for the University of Mississippi, where they will attend the Dixie Division of the National Baton Twirling Institute, to be held June 14-19.

The six girls are Carolyn Parks, Linda Lovelady, Beverly Herring, Jean Dishongh, Corre Anding, and Ann Kelly, all members of the Delhi high school band.

They will be accompanied by their parents.

Remodeling For Lake Providence School Planned

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) —M. M. Walsworth, Superintendent of East Carroll Parish Schools, informs that plans for the remodeling of the science and home economics departments at the Lake Providence High School were approved at the last school board meeting.

He also states that an emergency was declared for the purchasing of equipment for the science department in this school because the total cost exceeded $1000 and time did not permit the securing of bids and installation of equipment before the fall school session. This amount, according to Walsworth, will be drawn from the board's general fund.

The superintendent reports that a temporary building containing two class rooms is under construction and is located on the grounds at the Lake Providence High School to accomodate an overflow in the elementary school. He also listed repairs in process at other schools and buildings owned by the board.

Walsworth said that all teacher vacancies are filled at Transylvania Junior High School, and Monticello High School, but a fourth grade and a first grade teacher are needed at the Lake Providence High School.

Drive To Repeal U.S. Travel Tax Due In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new drive to repeal the 10 per cent passenger travel tax and perhaps some other federal excises will be launched in the Senate this month.

Sen. George S. Smathers (D-Fla) said Saturday he would try to tack the travel tax repealer onto the corporation and excise tax extension bill when it comes before the finance committee.

Last year the Senate adopted an identical Smathers amendment to the extension bill by a 50-35 vote. But it was dropped in conference with the House. Another proposal of the Florida senator, repeal of the 3 per cent freight tax, was retained and became law.

Science And You

By DARRELL GARWOOD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The specter of nuclear war is about to be raised in unprecedented proportions on Capital Hill.

At the same time, an attempt will be made to place peacetime radioactive fallout problems in proper perspective if nuclear war does not occur.

For new congressional hearinfs begining Monday, June 15, much testimony is to be based on an assumption that 224 targets in the United States have been hit by 260 nuclear bombs.

These bombs, according to the assumption, will have released a total explosive force equal to 1,500,000,000 tons of tnt (1,500 megatons).

That is eight times the power of all bombs set off since the discovery of fission.

The purpose is to determine whether there is any way America could survive as a nation in such an attack.

HALF COULD SURVIVE

Emphasis will be placed on the fact that there are two distinctly different kinds of radioactive fallout:

—First, there is wartime fallout, which is swept downwind in a cigar-shaped pattern from the point of detonation, which falls out in a matter of hours, and which presents its major problems in a few days, weeks, or years.

—Second, there is peacetime fallout from nuclear tests, which sifts out of the stratosphere over a period of years, with effects measured in terms of a human lifetime. Hearings on this type of fallout were held in May.

In the unlikely event that as much as half the population could survive a 1,500-megaton attack, the peacetime fallout problem is so comparatively small that under the postulated circumstances it almost might be ignored.

WOULD INCREASE FALLOUT

The one-exchange nuclear war, assuming the U. S. hit Russia with another 1,500 megatons, would raise the lifetime effects of subsequent peacetime fallout to several times the "maximum permissible," especially in north temperate latitudes.

Scientists have said repeatedly, however that the peacetime maximums probably could be exceeded many times with results that could not be observed except by examining the moltality statistics.

On the other hand, if nuclear war can be avoided the mortality statistics become highly improtant and there is need for a vast amount of clarification about the peacetime fallout situation.

The American Cancer Society in one of its latest releases notes that in 30 years the incidence of leukemia has risen from 2.5 to 6.25 victims annually per 100,000 population.

ADDITIONAL DEATHS FORECAST

That means 6,000 to 7,000 additional deaths per year in the United States.

Increased use of medical X-rays may have contributed to the rise of Leukemia. If so, another sharp boost in the rate may result from radioactive fallout.

There was no significant worldwide fallout until 1954, and the latent period for leukemia is five to seven years—if not longer. So it is too early to begin measuring actual leukemia effects of fallout in humans.

But it is not too early to determine probable effects. This is especially true concerning leukemia, likely to be caused by strontium 90, the principal villian in peacetime fallout.

Postmasters Meet Set At Baton Rouge

WINNSBORO — Roy M. Taylor, Winnsboro postmaster and president of the Louisiana chapter of the National Association of Postmaster, has announced that the annual state convention will be held in Baton Rouge, today, Monday and Tuesday.

All postmasters and their families are invited to attend the convention which is scheduled to be held at the Capital House hotel.

Taylor explained that there are 598 post offices in the state and that 90 per cent of the postmasters are members of the association.

Eugene J. Lyons, Assiatnat Postmaster General, Bureau of Personal, Washington, D. C., will be the principal speaker. Also slated to address the convention is Norman R. Abrams of Washington, D. C., who is special counsel to the Postmaster General with the task of ridding the mails of obsecene matter.

Other officials scheduled to take part in the state convention include George A. Gray, Regional Operations Director of the Dallas Region, and most of his staff, and Lloyd H. Stephens, Inspector in Charge of the Fort Worth Division.

Experts Predict High Costs For Test Ban Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government atomic experts Saturday placed price tags ranging up to three billion dollars on the cost of installing a fool-proof nuclear test ban detection system.

Their rock-bottom estimate to get the system started was one billion dollars.

The estimates came from government sources most interested in winning agreement with the Soviet Union on a nuclear test ban. They said the price tags are admittedly "guesstimates" because the current Geneva test ban negotiations are still inconclusive on such key cost questions as instrumentation and the number of controlled stations to be set up.

Some studies were made last summer on the basis of a 180-station control system. But officials said Saturday the studies have been made somewhat obsolete by new developments in underground and high altitude testing.

Casper Leads Open By Three

PAUL MARTIN LOOKS 'EM OVER

Indicitative of the decline in minor league sources of talent for the major leagues is the attention turned on some of Louisiana's outstanding collegiate and schoolboy talent recently.

Tomorrow Ike Futch, the sensational shortstop with the fancy .531 batting average for Spearsville High School's state Class B baseball champions, is due at Karney, Neb., of the Nebraska State League to launch a professional career in the New York Yankee system.

The Yankees also grabbed up Louisiana Tech's football quarterback-baseball second baseman Jimmy Orton, who had two more years of college eligibility, and the Los Angeles Dodgers moved in on Louisiana State University to grab up Bastrop's Loftin twin, Bill and Bob, who had another year each of eligibility with the Tigers.

Futch, a product of his brother, Frank, coach at Shearsville High, took the Yankee offer within a week after it had been announced he would acept an athletic scholarship to Northeast Louisiana College. Coach George Luffey had definite plans for Futch as a baseball player for the Tribe, but is consoled that he never actually had possession of the Spearsville star, no definite athletic pattern had been woven for him, and the Indians have plenty of time to determine plans for next season.

Kokomo, Ind., of the Midwest League is getting the first pro look at the Loftin twins, a pair of the finest athletes Bastrop High ever produced. Bob pitched and played first base for LSU while Bill was the Tigers' top catcher. There's no doubting they'll be missed from the LSU club next year.

Orton was the biggest grab of the bunch, apparently, and his decision centainly deals the sorest blow to collegiate planning. The ex-Fair Park of Shreveport ace already was figured as the No. 1 quarterback for Tech's football machine next fall. His decision to turn pro developed after spring grid work, and Coach Joe Aillet wil have no opportunity to work out his revised quarterbacking situation until pre-season drills begin. The hard hitting second baseman also leaves a definite gap in the lineup Coach Berry Hinton would have been sending afield for baseball the next two years.

No figures were announced concerning bonus payments to lure these athletes from collegiate sports, but it was declared Futch got a "nice bonus, enough to assure him a college education."

Unofficial reports say Futch and each of the Loftin brothers collected $6,000 each just to sign their names on the pro contracts. Orton, it's said, went for a neat $22,000 pitch.

FIGHT AT SHREVEPORT

The current Louisiana state professional welterweight boxing campaign, orginaated by the now retired Promoter Gus Kallio and nexer debated in a ring outside Monroe, takes on a statewide flavor when champion Johnny McKoin of Bastrop defends his crown at Shreveport's Municipal Auditorium on July 2.

Al Boudreaux, the Westwego Frenchman, first recognized state champion of the class after some Kallio elimination, gets a chance to reclaim the throne from the Morehouse belter who defeated him here recently and also made a successful defense against Clarence Cook, the Bastrop policeman, who later avenged the loss by beating Johnny ... an overweight bout in which the title was not at stake.

Gladden Harrison, Shreveport promoter who is working up the Shreveport fight card, also has Dewayne Garris, Farmerville and Monroe, paired against Billy DeSoto in support of the McKoin-Boudreaux match.

Golfing Dentist Misses Putt

Carey Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist who is much better known as a professional golfer, grimaces as he misses a putt on the ninth green at Winged Foot golf club yesterday during the U.S. Open tournament. Middlecoff was three over par with a 73 for a 54-hole total of 217. (AP Wirephoto)

Sam Rallies To Fire 67; Finals Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MAMARONECK, N. Y. (AP) — Bill Casper, the fat man's idol and the putters' delight, shot into a three - stroke lead over Ben Hogan Saturday at the three-quarter point of the rain-delayed U.S. Open Golf Championship. He fired a third round 69 for a score of 208.

A drenching thunderstorm twice delayed play Saturday morning and finally forced postponement of the fourth round until Sunday —the first such postponement in the history of this aged event.

Hogan, the man they said was through, remained in powerful contention for a record fifth Open victory by shooting a pin-pointed 71 for 211.

In a damp, drama-packed day before a crowd estimated at 20,000, Sam Snead, who never has won the Open, stormed back into the picture with a 3-under-par 67 which placed him in a tie for third place at 212 with Arnold Palmer, 1958 Masters champion, and bespectacled Bob Rosburg, who matched Snead's 67, best score of the tournament.

Par for the 6,873-yard Winged Foot course is 35-35—70 and it put up less resistance on a sticky day when the game's sharpshooters could go boldly for the pins. .

Casper, paunchy, 27-year - old touring pro from Apple Valley, Calif., had his eye instead on the back of the cups. He rang in putts from 8 to 15 feet as if they were "gimmes" in a spectacular round of 36-33—69. He was bandit-bold on the greens.

Doug Ford of Paradise, Fla., former Masters champion, made a strong run for the lead but he went 5-6-5 on the par 4-4-4 finishing holes to take a 72 for 213. This placed him in a tie with Mike Souchak, the ex-Duke footballer, and Claude Harmon, the Winged Foot's host professional.

Young Gary Player of South Africa, bidding to become the first foreigner in 39 years to win the event, couldn't control his driver and wound up with a 76 for 216 which apparently put him out of contention. He again took a double bogey 6 on his jinx 17th hole.

While a majority of the romping, stomping spectators followed Hogan and Snead, early starters, Casper went to work piecing together his birdies on brilliant putting.

He was in seven traps but repeatedly blasted out and got down in one to preserve his second straight sub-par round. He had a 68 Friday.

His longest was a 30-footer at the third for a birdie but he knocked in one from 8 feet for a par on the second and from 12 feet for his par at the seventh after missing the green. He sank a 15-footer at the 10th for a birdie deuce and then, on the incoming nine, holed putts of 8, 9 and 10 feet after hitting into traps.

Casper's only bogey came on the par 5 fifth where he drove to the left and dumped his third shot into a trap for a 6.

Snead, with fans yelling "come on, Sam", drove and putted the ball better than anytime during the tournament. He was unsteady with his irons but he was saved by brilliant recoveries and steady putting.

He one-putted nine of the first 12 greens, his longest being a 25-footer on the 10th and a 10-footer at the 12th, both for birdies. On other occasions he was hitting into traps and just missing the green but blasting and chipping up close.

At the 15th, already 4 under par, he poled a drive 320 yards and hit a wedge to within 2½ feet of the pin apparently for another birdie but just as he started to stroke the ball, the gallery following Hogan let out a yell. Snead pushed the putt and missed.

Then he came to the 17th for his only bogey. He hit a poor drive, failed to recover and took three shots to reach the green.

Hogan was pleased with his 71, which included a 30 - foot birdie putt on the fourth, a 6-footer at the fifth and another 6-footer at the 12th. He had three three-putt greens — the second, ninth and 13th.

Rosburg, a Stanford graduate from San Francisco who uses the baseball grip, matched Casper's putting wizardry in a bizarre round.

He had birdie putts of 20 and 15 feet and two of 12 feeet. He had another birdie putt of 6 feet and sank one from 8 feet for his par.

Ernie Vossler, from Midland, Tex., remained within hollering distance of the lead with a 72 for 214. He is only six strokes back of the lead.

Shortly after Casper finished, the course was hit by a lashing electrical storm which drenched the greens and sent water flowing through the press tent like a small river. A dozen or so players—including champion Tommy Bolt—were caught in the downpour.

Play was suspended a third time. Earlier in the day lightning, rain and watered greens had forced two suspensions lasting one hour and 50 minutes.

Sword Dancer Takes Belmont

ARCARO INJURED

Belmont Marred By Spill As Dancer Wins In Mud

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Sword Dancer Sped through the gloom and slop to win the rich Belmont Stakes Saturday, but his stirring stretch victory was marred by a spectacular spil that injured ace jockey Eddie Arcaro and caused his mount, Black Hills, to be destroyed.

Arcaro, king of the riders of the American turf, was rushed to a nearby hospital in an ambulance, where X-rays were taken and his neck was placed in traction.

"He'll be all right," said Dr. Alexander Kaye, who treated him. "We could find no fractures, but we placed his neck in traction as a precautionary measure. He should be up and around in a few days."

Black Hills and Sword Dancer, ridden by Willie Shoemaker, were just beginning to take their bids on the last turn. The track was a quagmire as a result of a cloudburst.

Bagdad had just moved into the lead and was fighting to hold it.

Suddenly Black Hills fell down and Arcaro went sprawling into the mud. The crowd of 38,105, which had been cheering wildly, suddenly went silent in horror.

Galloping along right behind Black Hills was Lake Erie, ridden by Walter Blum. They piled into Black Hills and also went down. But Blum jumped up and walked off under his own power.

But Black Hills and Arcaro lay silently in the murk, while Sword Dancer edged ahead of Bagdad to win by three-quarters of a length. Royal Orbit was third 12 lengths back.

There probably were more eyes on Black Hills and Arcaro than on the finish. An ambulance raced to the stricken riders side and rushed him to the first aid room. He was sent to the hospital in a matter of minutes.

A veterinarian examined Black Hills and ordered the horse destroyed. He had a compound fracture of the right shin bone.

"I think I was unconscious for a while after the spill," said Arcaro later. "Black Hills was falling four strides before he finally went down.

"I never ate so much mud in my life. I've got a little headache and the back of my neck is sore from where the other horse (Lae Erie) hit me."

Arcaro has been the victim of more than a dozen spills during his career, but he always has come back for more.

Shoemaker said he was going by when he saw Black Hills go down. He guessed the colt broke stride while he was running.

Ray Broussard, who was up on Manassa Mauler, had a graphic description of the accident. Black Hills had just passed him.

"When I saw what happened, I sent my horse to the inside and cut off Scotland," he recalled. "We missed Eddie's head by a hair. I was right inside of Eddie and his horse started to stumble like he had crossed his legs.

"When I looked back, the horse was lying sideways across the track and it looked like the whole field was going to run over him."

Conn McCreary, who was aboard North Pole II, said:

"I went between some horse that was down—I couldn't telf which one it was—but I could see Eddie kneeling with his head in the mud and his hands on the back of his neck."

This was the 91st and richest running of the famed finale of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness - Belmont Triple Crown series for 3-year-olds. It also marked the second straight year that an accident has marred the 1½ mile test. Last year, Tim Tam, attempting to complete the triple broke a bone in his foot and limped home behind Cavan.

Arcaro was seeking a record seventh Belmont victory aboard Black Hills, who only last week won the Peter Pan Handicap with Bagdad second and Royal Orbit third.

Sword Dancer's time was a sparkling 2:28 2-5. It was one of the best clockings in the history of the race but did not approach the American record of 2:26 3-5 hung up by Gallant Man two years ago in the same race.

Emil Dolce's Manassa Mauler took the lead going into the first turn followed by Bagdad, Henry O. H. Frelinghuysen's Lake Erie, the Claiborne Farm's Dune and W. M. Ingram's Scotland with Black Hills, Sword Dancer and Royal Orbit trailing.

Bringing up the rear in the nine-horse field was John S. Kroese's North Pole II. The Irishman and Joe's Master were scratched earlier in the day.

TWO RECORDS BROKEN

Kansas Captures Crown In NCAA

By JERRY LISKA

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Kansas' Big Eight champions swept to their first team title and two meet records were shattered, another tied, in the 38th NCAA track meet Saturday.

One performance which bettered a world mark, and one which matched a world record were disallowed because of an aiding wind.

The closing event, the 220-yard low hurdles, brought the most spectacular performance, a 22.5-second victory by Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan, the meet's only double winner.

However, this clocking which would have been a new world mark around a full curve, was disallowed because of a 5.248 - mile per hour wind.

Another brilliant effort, a 9.3-second victory by Kansas's Charlie Tidwell in the 100-yard dash which matched the world and meet record for the distance, was cancelled because of a 10½-mile an hour wind.

San Jose State's Ray Norton, who had been expected to duel with Tidwell for the 100-yard crown, was disqualified from the race for two false starts.

Holder of a 9.3 mark in the event, Norton sobbed in disappointment at the unexpected turn of events.

However, meet records were fashioned in the 400-meter hurdles and hammer throw, and a meet mark was tied in the 120 - yard high hurdles, won by Jones in 13.6.

Kansas, rolling up 73 points, captured three firsts, but scored in nine events as the Jayhawks replaced ineligible Southern California as team champion.

Jones, the meet's top scorer with 20 points, proved a champion killer, dethroning Elias Gilbert of Winston-Salem in the high hurdles and Tidwell in the low hurdles.

Dick Howard of the University of New Mexico set a 400-meter hurdles meet record which occurred at the start of the meet and was not affected by the wind.

ANTONELLI COPS 9TH

Giants Take 2-1 Win Over Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A seventh inning pinch-hit sacrifice fly by Willie Mays gave the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over Philadelphia Saturday night in a tight pitching duel between Johnny Antonelli and the Phils' Ray Semproch.

The Giants broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh on singles by Daryl Spencer and Ed Bressoud and Mays' sacrifice. With Spencer on third, Mays batted for catcher Hobie Landrith and sent a fly to left field, Spencer scoring after the catch.

The victory was lefty Antonelli's ninth against three losses. Semproch, an on-again off-again starter who has run into tough pitching luck, lost his fifth game in seven decisions.

Antonelli gave up two singles in a ninth inning Phil uprising but a doubleplay and a strike out wrapped it up.

The Phils scored in the first inning after going scoreless for 14 straight innings. With one out, Gene Freese singled and went to third on Ed Bouchee's follow-up single. Wally Post forced Bouchee at second and Freese scored on the play.

The Giants tied the score with one out in the sixth, Jim Davenport getting his second double of the game, and one out later coming home on Willie Kirkland's triple off the right field wall.

After the first, Antonelli, who struck out seven and gave up only one walk, had two suspenseful moments.

C & F topped Monroe Auto Mart, 8-7, in nine innings. Campbell and Golson hurled the win and Holley took the loss. Golson was also the game's leading hitter with 2-3.

Danna spun a three-hitter as Independents best Marion, 5-3. Rainwater and Spence was the losing battery. Carl Inzina went 2-2 to pace the winners.

Olmedo Wins Kent Tennis Championship

BECKENHAM, Eng. (AP) — Alex Olmedo, the U. S. Davis Cup star from Peru, turned on his full power in the crucial moments Saturday to beat Kurt Nielsen of Denmark for the Kent tennis championship. The scores were 8-6, 3-6, 6-4.

The women's title went to favored Darlene Hard of Montebello, who also employed power tactics to conquer Sally Moore of Bakersfield, in the All-California final, 6-1, 7-5.

Olmedo had ten double faults in the 81-minute match to two for Nielsen. But the second one for the Dane came at match point.

The 23-year-old Peruvian, making his season's debut on grass courts as a tuneup for Wimbledon experimented with his powerful serve. He blew hot and cold but he had control when he needed it most.

With the score tied at 4-all in the decisive third set, Alex whipped across four service aces to go ahead.

O'Brien Cracks Shot Put Mark

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — Parry O'Brien exceeded his own world record with two exhibition shot puts in the annual Southern Pacific Assn. AAU track and field meet Saturday.

The two - time Olympic champion hurled the iron ball 63 feet, 9½ inches and 64 feet, ½ inch after regular competition had ended.

4-2 OVER CUBS

McMahon Saves Spahn's Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Fire-balling fireman Don McMahon Saturday saved veteran southpaw Warren Spahn's eighth victory as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Inheriting a one out situation—with Chicago runners on second and third in the ninth—from the 38-ear-old Spahn, McMahon retired pinch batter Jim Marshall on an infield pop up and watched Billy Bruton gather in Lee Walls' long fly for the game-ending out.

Most of Spahn's last inning trouble was not of his own making as he gained his 31st of 47 decisions from the Cubs.

Dale Long drew a leadoff walk, and then Hank Aaron lost Earl Averill's pinch fly in the sun as it fell for a single.

Long moved to third after pinch batter Moose Moryn flied to Bruton for the second out. Tony Taylor followed with another high fly to right. Aaron caught up with the ball, and seemingly was set to make the catch when he turned back at the last split-second and the ball fell for a double, scoring Long and sending Averill at third.

All-Star Grid Squad Named To Face Pros

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Star football squad which will go up against the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts at Soldier Field Aug. 14 was named Saturday.

Coach Otto Graham, who will lead the All-Stars for the second straight year, named 49 players from 20 states.

Graham last year coached the All-Stars to a 35-19 triumph over the Detroit Lions.

Graham selected four quarterbacks, including Lee Grosscup of Utah. The others are Buddy Humphrey of Baylor, Bobby Newman of Washington State and Bob Ptacek of Michigan.

The squad:

BACKS—John Adams, Los Angeles State; Hill Austin, Rutgers; Dave Baker, Oklahoma; Don Brown, Houston; Bob Cronado, OP; Floyd Dellinger, Texas Tech; Eddie Dove, Colorado; Boyd Dowler, Colorado; Elbert Dubenion, Bluffton, Ohio; Will Fowler, Northwestern; Lee Grosscup, Utah; Dick Haley, Pittsburgh; Larry Hickman, Baylor; Buddy Humphrey, Baylor; Bobby Jackson, Alabama; Bob Newman, Washington State; Richard Petitbon, Tulane; Nick Pietrosante, Notre Dame; Bob Ptacek, Michigan; Billy Stacey, Mississippi State.

TACKLES—Ken Beck, Texas A&M; Ted Beck, Western Illinois; Phillip Blazer, North Carolina; Andrew Cvercko, Northwestern; Frank Geremia, Notre Dame; Emil Karas, Dayton; Charles Lewis, Iowa; Jim McFalls, VMI; Nick Mumley, Purdue; Bronko Nagurski, Notre Dame; Francis O'Brien, Michigan State; Bob Reifsnyder, Navy; Gene Selwaski, Purdue.

GUARDS—Hanson Churchwell, Mississippi; Bob Grottkau, Oregon; John Guzik, Pittsburgh; Mike Rabold, Indiana; Dick Schafrath, Ohio State; John Wooten, Colorado.

Lenior Defeats Lloyd For Title

DAVIDSON, N. C. (AP) — Billy Lenoir, using an effective two-handed shot, won the junior title and Jorge Dejesus rallied from the brink of defeat to take the boys championship Saturday in the Southern Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament.

Dark horse Andy Lloyd of Shreveport, La., who had upset two high seeded players on his way to the finals, pressed Lenoir hard in the start of their junior finals match. He went to a 4-2 lead in the first set.

Brewer Fires Six-Hitter As Red Sox Win

BOSTON (AP) — Tom Brewer threw a snappy six-hitter at Kansas City Saturday as the Boston Red Sox broke a three-game losing string with a 6-1 victory over the Athletics.

The Athletics spoiled his bid for a shutout on Ray Boone's double and Bob Cerv's run-producing single in the seventh. An error, a force play and Brewer's only walk of the game loaded the bases. Brewer got out of his most serious jam of the day when Joe DeMaestri hit into a double play.

The Red Sox, meanwhile, jumped on starter and loser Ray Herbert and two sucessors for 13 hits, including pete Daley's first home run of the season. Pete Runnels, Don Buddin and Frank Malzone had three hits apiece.

Daley's solo clout featured a three-run Boston uprising in the seventh that broke a 1-1 tie and chased Herbert. They added two more in the eighth off Tom Gorman.

Tagged Out At Third

Frank Malzone of the Boston Red Sox is tagged out at third base by Kansas City third baseman Hal Smith in yesterday's game. Catcher Harry Chiti ran Malzone back to third after Red Sox pitcher Tom Brewer missed an attempted squeeze and Malzone was hung up between home plate and third base. (AP Wirephoto)

Giants Acquire Phillies's Hegan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies Saturday night announced the sale of catcher Jim Hegan to San Francisco in a straight cash deal. The sale made room on the team for the recall of pitcher Dick Farrell.

Hegan, who came to the Phils from Detroit last season, has seen little action for the Phils.

LOES TAKES WIN

Orioles Beat Pale Sox On Boyd's First Homer, 6-4

BALTIMORE (AP) — First baseman Bob Boyd's first homer of the season in the eighth inning carried the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-4 victory over the American League-leading Chicago White Sox on Boyd's smash into the right field bleachers with Willie Tasby on base.

The White Sox had tied the score 4-4 in the top of the eighth on Nellie Fox's second homer with two runners in front of him.

The circuit by Fox was hit off pitcher Billy Loes who came out of it with his fourth victory against two defeats. Loes had relieved Skinny Brown in the eighth.

Catcher Gus Triandos of the Orioles jumped his team off to a 2-0 lead in the first with his 14th homer behind Al Pilarcik's double. The blow was delivered on the first pitch after the lights were turned on and just before the game was held up for 50 minutes by rain. Triandos was hit on the right arm by Barry Latman's pitched ball during the third inning and had to leave the game. The Orioles scored two more runs before that on Brown's triple, a single by Billy Klaus and Gene Woodling's double.

Chicago scored an unearned run in the third inning off Brown who gave up only four hits, three of them doubles. Jim Landis singled and took second when Woodling bobbled the ball in the field. He scored on two sacrifices.

Oak Grove Scores 5 To 1 Legion Win

OAK GROVE, La. (Special)—Oak Grove managed only three hits but used them to full advantage, defeating Columbia, 5-1, for its third American Legion fifth district victory against one loss.

Lefthander Oman Rutherford went all the way for Oak Grove, the first member of the pitching staff to do so this year, and singled in the fourth inning to start a two-run rally.

Columbia, which dropped its third contest against a single win, got off to an early lead with a run in the fourth, but Rutherford then shut the door. Ingram opened with a base hit and trotted on around to score as Oak Grove chalked up four consecutive errors.

Coach Woody Boyles' Oak Grove nine wrapped it up in the sixth frame, plating three runs on a hit batsman, three walks and a single by Ronnie Myrick.

David Ainsworth, Columbia's hard-working ace, was charged with the loss.

Yankee Sluggers Beat Tigers, 6-4

NEW YORK (AP)— Home runs by Mickey Mantle, Marv Throneberry and Tony Kubek helped the New York Yankees defeat Detroit Saturday 6-4 in a game stopped by rain in the first of the ninth.

After Frank Bolling led off the ninth with a single, it started to rain. The umpires waited an hour and 15 minutes before finally calling the game.

Mantle's 13th homer, following a single by Norm Siebern, gave the Yanks a two-run lead in the first. After Lou Berberet's two-run homer in the second tied the score, the Yanks took the lead for keeps on Marv Throneberry's homer leading off the third.

The third Yankee homer off loser Jim Bunning was hit by Tony Kubek after Bill Skowron singled in the fourth.

Trailing 5-2, the Tigers got back one run from winner Don Larsen in the sixth on two walks, a force play and Berberet's sacrifice fly. The Yanks also scored in the sixth on Skowron's double and Gil McDougald's single off relief pitcher Pete Burnside.

Detroit chased Larsen in the seventh when he walked Milt Bolling and uncorked a wild pitch while throwing to pinch hitter Gail Harris. Art Ditmar retired three in a row and pitched his way out of a jam in the eighth after Charlie Maxwell's 13th homer.

JACKSON BLANKS REDS, 7-0

Musial Bats In 4 As Cards Win

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Larry Jackson, backed by Stan Musial's four runs batted in, blanked the Cincinnati Reds on eight hits Saturday 7-0 as the St. Louis Cardinals posted their fourth victory in five games.

Jackson, boosting his record to 5-6, struck out six and walked one. He was helped by three double plays.

Musial, returning to the line-up after a week's layoff resulting from a prolonged slump, was dropped to sixth in the batting order. Stan The Man has batted third or fourth during most of his career.

After pounding a two-run homer in the fourth inning off Orlando Pena, Cincinnati starter ad loser, Musial drove in two more runs in the fifth with a bases-loaded single off Willard Schmidt. Musial's homer was his fifth.

Gino Cimoli blasted a solo homer, his sixth, in the first inning. Ken Boyer drove in the other two St. Louis runs with singles in the fifth and seventh innings.

The victory eabled the Cardinals to creep within two games of the sixth-place Reds, who have dropped all three decisions to St. Louis this season.

In afternoon games, Firestone beat Bancroft, 4-2, in the Northside League and Central downed Colbert's, 5-3, in the Southside. Both tilts were first half makeup games.

Reeves pitched a one-hitter for Firestone with C. Franks getting the lone hit, a homer. Crawley took the loss and the catchers were Barfield and B. Gates.

Johnson pitched a two-hitter for Central, beating the battery of Pyle and R. Sanford. Catcher Blair got 2-3 including a homer for Central.

Highlighting last night's action was a seven-inning, 8-8 tie between Pan Am and First National Bank in the Southside League. Beasley, Shepard and McGee worked on the hill for Pan Am, while Hickman went the distance for First National.

W. Peddy and Slaton for Pan Am and McMillan for First National collected three hits in four trips.

People's Loan pounded out a 9-0 Northside loop victory over winless Sinclair as Johnson's 2-2 and Jones' home run led the way. Johnson also tossed the win, giving up only two hits. Hasenplaugh and Fowler was the losing battery.

Bucs Sell Smith To Tigers, Get Porterfield Back

PITTSBURGH A()—The Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday sold pitcher R. G. Smith to the Detroit Tigers for the waiver price. Smith, a left-hander, appeared in 20 games with the Pirates this season but had no won-lost record.

The Pirates rebuilt their roster to 25 players by claiming pitcher Bob Porterfield from the Chicago Cubs. Porterfield will rejoin his former teammates Sunday.

Earlier this season, the Pirates handed the veteran right-hander his release and the Cubs signed him as a free agent. The Pirates put in a claim for Porterfield after the Cubs asked waivers on him.

Hoak's Single Gives Pirates 5-3 Decision

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Don Hoak's two-run bases-loaded single in the eighth earned the Pittsburgh Pirates a 5-3 triumph Saturday over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hoak's smash to left followed singles by Dick Stuart and Bob Skinner and an intentional walk to Billy Mazeroski and sent Art Fowler to the showers.

Ronnie Kline survived 11 hits by the Dodgers and five walks to post his sixth victory against three setbacks. The loser was Fowler. His record now is 3-4.

The Pirates jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the fourth on a pair of singles by Smoky Burgess and Stuart, two long outs and a double by Hoak. They added another run in the fifth on singles by Billy Virdon and Burgess and an infield out.

Duke Snider's single with two aboard in the fifth gave the Dodgers their first run and Charlie Neal batted across two more with a bases-loaded single in the sixth to knot the score at 3-3.

MONROE HOSTS MILLERS AT 3

Dubach Meets Vols Today In La-Ark Loop Headliner

The Dubach Hornets, after giving form — and Monroe — its first beating in the La-Ark League, set their sights on the remaining undefeated team in the amateur loop, West Monroe Vols, at Dubach this afternoon in the feature attraction of a three-game schedule.

Scoring more runs in the first inning, four, than the Sports had given up in four previous league games, Dubach dropped Monroe from the unbeaten ranks Friday night, 5-4, leaving West Monroe, 22-1 winner over Oak Grove, alone in first place.

Monroe seeks to right itself with a home meeting with Crossett and Oak Grove travels to Bastrop in the other league contests today.

The Monroe-Crossett affair was originally slated for Crossett but last week's rains again held up work on the Millers' new field and the date was switched to Monroe's Legion Stadium.

There'll also be a change in the time. Today's game, and all future Sunday affairs here, will start at 3 o'clock, 30 minutes later than before, so fans can have a little longer to relax after church and the TV game.

Lefty Jay Gross, 2-0 for the Monroe starter.

Dubach racked Sport starter Pete Covington, a righthanded Arkansas import who's attending summer school at Northeast, for four runs in the first inning Friday night. Righthander Carroll George answered a hurried call and relieved Covington, giving up a single to Don Moon that scored the final two runs of the inning. All four runs, however, were charged to Covington.

George pitched until the eighth, when Larry Reeves took over, and gave up one run while striking out nine.

Dubach's heroes were Charles Fuller, former Legion star with Ruston, who made his first pitching start of the year a good one and also rapped out two hits, and the Colvin boys, Gil and Bob, who also banged a pair of safeties each.

West Monroe, warming up with nine runs in the first, scored in every frame to maul winless Oak Grove. Meanwhile, Wayne Hendricks limited the visitors to two hits in registering his second win of the campaign.

Delmar Ray Thompson of no-hit fame also notched his second victory of the year as he hurled third place Bastrop over Crossett, 11-5, in the other Friday night game. Crossett was the victim of Thompson's no - hitter, thrown the first game of the season.

Bastrop currently resides a half game ahead of Dubach in third place. Crossett (0-4) is fifth and Oak Grove (0-5) last.

Silver Spoon Wins Cinema, Tomy Lee 6th

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Silver Spoon, the lone filly in the field, scored an easy victory in the $52,700 Cinema Handicap Saturday as the heavily backed Tomy Lee failed to revert to his winning Kentucky Derby form.

The pacesetting Friar Roach was second and Civic Pride third.

Fred Turner Jr.'s Tomy Lee finished sixth in the field of eight 3-year-olds in the mile and one-eighth attraction.

Silver Spoon, who ran fifth to Tomy Lee in the Kentucky Derby, paid $6.40, 4.20 and 4.00; Friar Roach returned $12.40 and 7.70 and Civic Pride $13.

The time was 1:47 3-5.

Trinity stopped Calvary, 6-2, on Dalby's one-hitter. Fowler got 2 hits off the losing battery of Pettit and T. Hart.

TRAIL BY HALF GAME

Cleveland Wins Homer Duel, 8-7

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ray Webster's ninth inning triple and a sacrifice fly by pinchitter Jim Piersall Saturday gave the second-place Cleveland Indians an 8-7 victory over Washington and moved the Tribe to within a half-game of the American League-leading Chicago White Sox.

The ninth-inning run off Hal Griggs broke up a long-ball duel which saw the Indians outhomer the Senators 4-2.

All of Cleveland's runs before the ninth were driven in by homers. Vic Power connected with none on off Washington starter Pedro Ramos in the fourth. Granny Hamner hit a solo homer off Tex Clevenger in the fifth. Rocky Colavito hit his 19th homer, a grand slam off Clevenger in the sixth. And Webster homered with none on off Murray Wall in the seventh.

Ramos was lifted in the fourth inning with the score tied 1-1 when a line drive by Tito Francona struck him on the bicep of his pitching arm. Dr. George Resta, Senators physician, estimated that Ramos would be out of action for seven to ten days. The injury will be X-rayed as a precaution. Ramos threw Francona out on the play, then left the game.

Styrons Head For National AAU Meet

Northeast's durable Styron twins, Dave and Don, and track coach Lew Hartzog left by car yesterday for the National AAU Meet at Boulder, Colorado.

The twins, who finished one-and-two in total scorings for the GSC with Dave taking individual top honors for the second straight year, will run in the AAU versions of their specialties.

Dave will enter the 100 and 200 meter sprints and Don will run the 110 meter high hurdles and the 220 yard low hurdles. They will compete under the title of the Northeast Louisiana Track Club.

"Don has the best chance to place in the low hurdles," Hartzog said, adding "They will be up there for several days to get used to the high altitude."

The twins are no strangers to the University of Colorado track, having run there many times. They are 1957 graduates of Wheat Ridge, Colo. High School. A Denver suburb, and were coached by Hartzog as seniors.

Don Eiland, Northeast's two-mile champion from Farmerville, had planned to go to Boulder but has passed it up because of summer school.

The three were entered in the "Meet of Champions," June 6 at the University of Houston. Don Styron matched his GSC record of 23.1 over the low boards to place second to Rex Stucker of Kansas State. Eiland turned in a fine 4:17 in the mile, won by Gail Hodgson of Oklahoma. Dave Styron, who was ailing, did not compete at Houston.

Open View Cops Delaware Prize

Carrying 120 pounds that included jockey Karl Korte, the Florida-owned colt completed the mile and a sixteenth test for 3-year-olds a scant neck in front of George A. Garrett's long-priced Bonzo.

Walter E. Crismer's Riversun, another outsider, was third and Greentree Stable's Audience fourth. The race was worth $23,250 to the victor.

Open View paid $14.40, $8.20 and $6. Bonzo's backers collected $17.20 and $9, while Riversun returned $6 for third.

The running time was 1:45.

NEW RECORDS EXPECTED

National AAU Meet Slated For Boulder Next Weekend

By FRANK PITMAN

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The nation's track and field stars, lured by a chance at international fame, test their talent in Colorado's mile high air at the National AAU Championships next Friday and Saturday.

The top finishers will win berths on U.S. teams that compete against the Russians in Philadelphia July 18-19 and in the Pan American Games in Chicago Aug. 27-Sept. 7.

Several record performances are expected from the star-spangled field, although the thin air will block any new marks in the distance runs.

Proof that the high altitude doesn't slow runners in the shorter races is the current AAU record of 1 minute 47.6 seconds in the half mile. This was set at the 1955 AAU meet in Boulder by Pittsburgh's Arnie Sowell.

Field events sparkle with standout entries. Five of the six 60-foot shot putters in world history are entered. They are Parry O'Brien, two-time Olympic champion; Dallas Long, Southern California's spectacular freshman; Lt. Bill Nieder, once Big Eight champion from Kansas; Dave Davis of Southern Cal, and Charlie Butt of the Los Angeles Striders.

O'Brien holds the world record of 63 feet 2 inches, but Long, 18-year-old giant from Phoenix, Ariz. tossed the shot 63-7 on a seventh throw at a spring meet in Los Angeles. However, AAU and international regulations recognize only six tries.

O'Brien heads a list of 17 returning champions here. His AAU mark is 61-11¼. Amonge the others are Bobby Morrow, 100 yards, 9.4 seconds; Hayes Jones, 120-yard high hurdles, 13.8 seconds; Glenn Davis, 440-yard hurdles, :49.9; Charley Dumas, high jump, 6 feet 9¾ inches, and Franklin Held, javelin, 252 feet ½ inch.

While those distances are in yards, the AAU meet this year will be over metric distances because the events are tryouts for the Pan - American Games, conducted on a metric basis.

Milers in the meet will compete over 1500 meters. Among the favorites are Ed Moran of Penn State and Jim Grelle of Oregon. They represented the United States against Russia last year. They had duplicate 4 minute 1.7 second marks in last year's AAU.

The 800-meter race shapes up in advance almost as promising as the 1955 half-mile here—tabbed the greatest American half-mile in history. Sowell was pushed to his still - standing record by Tom Courtney, 1956 Olympic champion, who ran 1:48.0 in the runner-up spot and Billy Tidwell of Emporia State, third at 1:48.1.

Billed in advance as the runner to watch in this event is George Kerr, Illinois junior and son of a Hanover, Jamaica, banana farmer. Kerr ranks fourth on the latest NCAA statistical charts at 1:48.4 for the half mile. But in the Drake Relays, running the anchor leg in the sprint medley, Kerr was clocked in 1:46.8 to match the current world standard for the 88-yard run.

STATE MAT TITLE

Zybysko Defends Against Massey

Firpo Zybysko, probably still a bit bewildered by the turn of events in last week's bout with Al Massey, gives the New Orleans battler a shot at the state championship Monday night at the B&B Arena.

Firpo, the Mad Pole, gained the crown with a victory over Bill Barney a couple of weeks ago and, in last Monday's non-title tangle with Massey, was at first declared the victor as referee Carlos Mendoza disqualified Al for alledgedly using brass knucks.

However, the wrestling commissioner stepped in and overruled the decision, awarding the match to Massey. In tonight's championship affair, billed as a "grudge match", the boys will be shooting for the works — winner takes money, title and belt — with no time limit or disqualification allowed.

The female set takes to the ring in the other half of the double main attraction for a tag team scramble. The fabulous Slave Girl Moolah, known in some parts as the women's world champion, teams with Betty Grable against Pat Lyda of Asheville, N. C., and Rita Cortez of Cucuracha, Mex.

Tabbed the "Mexican spitfire", Miss Cortez and her partner should provide an interesting night against the Slave Girl and Miss Grable. The bout will be decided by the best of three falls over an hour time limit.

Round Table Ties Mark In Citation Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Travis M. Kerr's mighty Round Table put on a great stretch run to overtake Etonian and win the $56,800 Citation Handicap Saturday by equaling the Washington Park track record by Swaps in 1956.

Round Table, racing's all-time money winner, picked up $33,750 and boosted his earnings to $1,396,939. He whipped off the mile in 1:33 2-5, one-fifth of a second off the world record which was set by Swaps at Hollywood Park in 1956.

Top-weighted at 130 pounds and conceding his rivals 17 to 26 pounds, Round Table broke alertly only to have jockey Steve Brooks steady him into fifth position and then fourth.

For almost three-quarters of the mile, Gleeman and Belleau Chief battled for the lead with Charlie's Song a close third.

Near the stretch bend, Etonian moved inside of Round Table into fourth position. Brooks then steered Round Table to the outside. Charlie's Song forged to a narrow lead over Etonian in the early stretch while Gleeman and Belleau Chief faltered.

Brooks belted Round Table three or four times and the 5-year - old son of Princequillo reached Etonian with about 70 yards to go. In the final jumps, Round Table spurted to the front.

The start was the fourth this year for Round Table, who hadn't raced since Feb. 23 when he was injured at Santa Anita. It was his second triumph of the year and 36th first place finish in 56 career starts.

Pair Leading Tourney After Two Rounds

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., and Fargo, N. D., and Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., grabbed the halfway lead in the American Women's Open Golf Tournament Saturday by shooting 2-under-par 74s for 36-hole totals of 150.

Miss Suggs went out and came back in 37 while Miss Hanson had a 1-under 38 going out and 1-under 36 coming back over the 6,397-yard Brookview course.

Tied for second going into Sunday's third round were Bonnie Randolph of Columbus, Ohio, and Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee, both with 152s.

Five others were bunched at 153, including Patty Berg of Minneapolis, the defending champion who had putting trouble and slipped to a 77 after sharing the lead with four others on the opening day at 76.

Also in the 153 bracket were Betty Bush, Tequesta, Fla., Mary Lena Faulk, Columbus, Ga., Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., pre-tourney favorite, and Joe Ann Prentice, Birmingham, Ala.

Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa, was the lower amateur with a 79-76—155.

FOR HIGHER TRADE-IN TOMORROW !

Don't take it from us—take it from independent experts and from facts and figures that are now a matter of record. POPULAR SCIENCE sums up Chevy's unmistakably modern style this way: "The fact is, in its price class Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." This is one more reason your new Chevrolet will bring a higher allowance at trade-in time, as Chevy has over the years. A look at last year's used car prices* shows Chevrolet averaged up to $128 more than comparable models of the other leading low-priced two.

PLUS 5 MORE BIG BESTS OVER ANY OTHER CAR IN CHEVROLET'S FIELD!

Best Brakes. Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in repeated highway speed stopping tests conducted by NASCAR.* And no wonder. Chevrolet's brakes, built for up to two-thirds longer lining life, are the biggest in the low-price field.

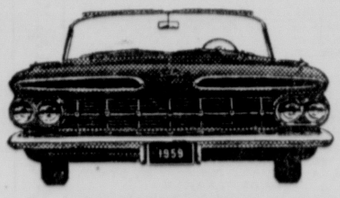

*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.

Best Engine. Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Economy. No doubt about this: a pair of Chevrolet sixes came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car.

Best Room. Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room, for example, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

Best Ride. A few minutes behind the wheel will leave no doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

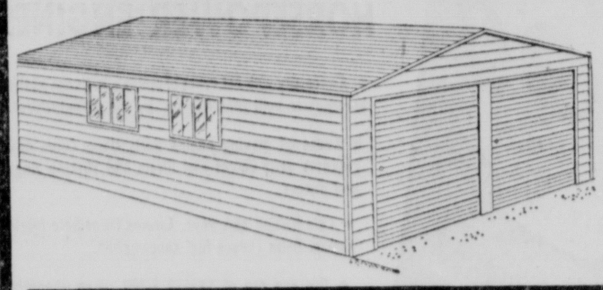

NO WONDER MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS IN '59 THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

RAYBURN SPURS EFFORT

Demos Back Compromise Labor Bill Drive In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders are backing a drive to try to bring a compromise labor bill to a vote in the House next month.

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, in a move to end bickering in the House Labor Committee, has spurred the speedup effort by according at least tentative backing to methods proposed by Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif).

The Roosevelt approach, embodied in an eleventh-hour bill, would limit the legislation to antiracketering controls which reflect some suggestions already put forth by various labor union spokesmen.

Any consideration of controversial amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act would be postponed until next year, and made subject to recommendations of a joint Senate - House study committee.

Rayburn told newsmen Saturday that Congress must act this session on antiracketeering legislation. But he said he did not want to involve the House in irrelevant controversy over Taft-Hartley revision.

Roosevelt's proposals, drafted after consultation with House leaders, appeared to conform in part to Rayburn's standards. The Californian said most labor committee members have agreed informally on a target date of July 15 for approving a labor bill—"although I think we can beat this," he said.

Committee Republicans, a minority of 10 on the 30 - member committee, have teamed up with one Democrat faction in the effort to get a bill to the floor. Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio) said he thought this could be done in 10 days.

Roosevelt said he regarded the general provisions of his bill acceptable to organized labor.

"In all honesty, I must say that some labor leaders don't want a bill of rights," he said. "But they can live with it, and the rest of the provisions are completely acceptable."

Roosevelt has adopted almost verbatim a so - called "Bill of Rights" put forward by spokesmen for James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union at committee hearings last week.

This would require by law that all union constitutions spell out rules of order, disciplinary provisions, the right of members to seek redress, the right to vote on dues changes and elections, and the right of members to voice opinions on all matters "directly or indirectly" affecting their union.

If complaining union members could not obtain satisfaction through union channels after six months, they could file a complaint with the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. Mediation failing, aggrieved members could then take their case to a federal district court.

Another major provision of Roosevelt's bill was taken in its entirety from New York State law prescribing rules for financial reporting and fiduciary obligations of union officials.

Violations, however, would be misdeameanors rather than felonies, and would be punishable by no more than a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Roosevelt said this section "strikes directly at the abuses of fiduciary responsibility of some labor officials" without interfering in the internal affairs of union management. He said it had labor's approval when adopted by New York.

His bill also includes some amendments to Taft - Hartley which Roosevelt said are noncontroversial. These include repeal of the non-Communist oath requirement.

A joint Senate-House committee would be created to study other revisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. The committee would be required to report its findings and recommendations no later than April 1, 1960.

Negro Woman In Jail After Stab Incident

A 39-year-old Monroe Negro woman was in the parish jail today on a charge of murder following the death early yesterday of a Negro man.

Dead from a stab wound near the heart was Davis Upton, 41-year-old Negro, whose addrses was the same as that of the victim, admitted to stabbing Upton with a pearl hnadled pocket knife early yesterday morning.

A witness told investigating officers the two were seen walking together on the street and arguing shortly before the stabbing occurred.

After they had entered the house, the witness said he saw the Washington woman suddenly get up from where she was sitting and stab Upton as he stood in the doorway.

He was taken to Conway Memorial Hospital where he died about 4 a.m. yesterday. Police placed the time of the stabbing at 1:27 a.m.

Police said investigation of the stabbing was still incomplete.

Soviet Charges West Drags Out Talks At Geneva

He spoke at a rally for visiting East German officials in Kiev, Tass reported, at about the same time Khrushchev was flying back to Moscow from Riga. The Premier spent five days entertaining the East Germans in the Latvian capital.

Kozlov was quoted by the official Soviet news agency as saying:

"It is apparent that the ruling circles of the Western powers wish to continue the unreasonable, totally bankrupt policy of a position of strength and want to avoid a decision on urgent international questions.

"But it is completely apparent that these calculations will be frustrated."

1936 EVENT RECALLED

Texans Claim First Mail-Rocket Firing

HIDALGO, Tex. (AP)—A handful of Texas Rio Grande Valley residents claim the firing of a successful international mail-carrying rocket July 2, 1936, from Texas into Mexico across the Rio Grande.

"However, our rockets were kinda misguided missiles and some didn't go off as smoothly as the one last week," one oldtimer recalled.

The Regulus I, fired last week from the USS Barbero, carried 3,000 letters to Mayport Auxiliary Naval Air Station near Jacksonville, Fla. It traveled more than 100 miles.

The lower valley group actually fired 10 rockets in all and each contained 300 envelopes. Five were fired from the U.S. side and a like number from the Mexican side. One of the rockets traveled about a mile.

Kith Rumbel, now director of the chemical engineering division of the Atlantic Research Corp., at Alexandria, Va., designed the rockets. They were made of card and fiberboard, and were seven feet long and 12 inches in circumference. The fuel was a solid much like the kind used to fire toy skyrockets.

As the cameras clicked, the first rocket zoomed into the air about 100 feet and then exploded over the river.

Mail and pieces of the rocket flew in all directions.

The second rocket screamed across the river and smacked into a tavern. Reports were never clear just what happened next. Some say beer sippers took off at a speed much greater than the rocket.

A third rocket left the U.S. side. The group held its breath as it headed for a group of shacks in the Reynosa area. It struck a shack and sent children and adults scattering like quail. But again no injuries occurred.

Two more rockets were fired without incident.

Then the group crossed the International Bridge and fired five back to the U.S. side. Four went well, but one landed in a corn field and set it afire. The group rushed back and helped a farmer extinguish the blaze.

Men Should Have Place To Call Own

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What every man needs is a place to call his own. If you don't believe it, ask him.

Mom has her kitchen, Junior his playpen, biig Sis the family room. All that's left for Dad is his very own arm chair, maybe. What he needs is a place to stretch his legs — a thicket, a bog, a marsh, a field, to help him unravel his nerves.

If men are dying on the vine these days, it may be for the shortage of spreading chestnut trees. Men who learn to relax will not be victims of nervous energy, we are told by the keepers of certain statistics. But how can modern man relax in a modern home that is set up like department store windows with a fragility that is frightening to behold?

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Primitive man was boss in the cave, but women have been softening him up ever since. He now conforms to the "hang-up-your-clothes, watch - your - muddy-feet, don't - put - your - head-on - the sofa - pillows routine." If he goes into the bedroom to nap after a hard day on the job, the entire family is on his neck to see what ails him, and Mom is there to observe that his shoes aren't on the bedspread.

If the small fry can have play houses in the back yard, why can't Dad have one? It could be a tool shed, a work hut or just a mood shanty. A cabin of split cedar logs wouldn't cost much. One about 10 feet by 6 feet with 7 foot headroom in the center will give him plenty of space for breathing.

What would the Man Hut offer that home doesn't?

HIS "DREAM" HUT

It could be a place where he could keep old fishing hats, boots, waders, sports equipment, and old clothes, where he could sweep the dirt out the front door when it got so thick he couldn't bear it, where he could have his very own radio, TV set with the programs he'd enjoy and at the right pitch for his eardrums. He could stretch his legs. He might hang up that fish picture that was barred from the living room or the mounted moose head that's been stuffed in the attic for 20 years. He could let the newspapers and magazines stack up.

A man who lives in an apartment is in worse straits than a man who lives in a house. He is really a caged animal. Men were not destined to be that tame, so anything you can do to get them out of the rut may keep them around longer.

GET HIM A LOT

Instead of buying him an expensive present on that next big occasion, get him an acre or a lot and a shanty. If there's a little stream close at hand, so much the better. It could be a place that he will visit from time to time, particularly when he wants to get away from it all.

Above all, make sure that at this shangri - la in the wilderness, there is no grass to be mowed, draperies or rugs:

This is a place to rough it in a T-shirt and suspenders, where cobwebs in the brain can be shaken out with no effort at all. A man's idea of home is different from woman's. Only a place where he can enjoy being very lazy will get him to enjoy his work, and induce him to tire his muscles with some good healthful exercise.

Parents Sadly Discover Son Is Accident Victim

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Solinger sat quietly in the emergency room of WCA Hospital for four hours early Saturday beside the bed of a youth they supposed was their 19-year-old son, Garry.

Three of the boy's companions had been killed, the Solingers believed, when an automobile loaded with teen-agers skidded 148 feet along a rural road east of the city, slammed into a tree and bounced down a 2-foot embankment. Gary, they thought, was critically injured.

But then doctors finished dressing the injuries of the youth and ordered him removed to a room. The Solingers once more approached the bed.

They looked at the boy, and, according to a hospital official, one of them said, "I don't believe that's Garry."

"Neither do I," said the other.

Moments later, the Solingers identified Garry's body in a funeral home, where they joined the families of the other two victims, Clyde Cummings and James R. Martenson, both 18.

The critically injured boy is Gerald Brown, 19.

Two Suffocate In Refrigerator

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP)— Two boys suffocated Friday night in an abandoned refrigerator.

Coroner Clinton Perkins said Stanley Garrett, 6, and William Karey Jones, 5, died of asphyxiation.

The refrigerator was in an empty house which was being razed by Stanley's father, J. B. Garrett. It is located next door to the Garrett house.

Parents of the Negro boys became alarmed about the children's absence aobut 7 p.m. and a search was started.

IN MISSISSIPPI AREA

New Well Tests In Morton Field

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The hard - to - locate Morton field of Scott county has given up a second well.

Gulf Oil Corp. completed the Morton Unit No. 1, Sec. 9-5n-6e, this week at 192 barrels of 31-degree gravity oil daily from a Eutaw sand at 6,418-29 feet.

Meanwhile, Shell Oil Co. is running production tests at the Rogers No. 1, Sec. 9-5n-6З, after perforating at 6,448-56 feet. Reports are that the swabbing operations recovered some oil.

The Morton field was discovered in February. So far, three dry holes have been drilled since the discovery well was completed.

Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. is attempting to evaluate commercial worth of deep sands in the Jones County wildcat Masonite No. 1, Sec. 15-9n-10w. Operators are testing perforated drill pipe at 14,010-30 feet. Operators were unable to free stuck drill pipe and cemented the string of pipe to 14,555 feet.

Skelly Oil Co. is nearing contract depth of 14,800 feet in the Simpson County wildcat Mississippi No. a-1, Sec. 1-10n-18w. The well is below 13,800 feet.

In Covington County, Gulf Coast Drilling Co. is below 13,450 feet in the wildcat Weeks No. 1, Sec. 18-9n-16w, near Mount Olive.

Both the Simpson and Covington County wildcats are high on structure.

Near Summit field in Pike County, Cordell and Ballard is near the coring point in the wildcat Southwest Junior College No. 1, Sec. 19-4n-8e. The well is below 10,700 feet.

Monsanto Chemical is below 13,320 feet in the Allison-Sykes No. 1, Sec. 17-1n-4e, a north offset to the discovery well. The Paluxy and Mooringsport sands are not as well developed as in the discovery well.

A. O. Phillips is trying to free stuck drill pipe in the Allison-Sykes-Welch No. 1, Sec. 17-1n-4e, at 9,525 feet.

Near Gloster in Amite County, Harrison and Hargrave Oil Co. are below 10,400 feet in the wildcat USA No. 1, Sec. 2-3n-23, an 11,500-foot test.

California Co. is below 11,100 feet in the Jasper County wildcat Peek No. 1, Sec. 10-10n-11w. Reports are that no deep shows have been logged. The venture, a 13,000-foot test, has logged a shallow gas sand at 4,569 feet.

Field Drilling:

In Smith County's Raleigh field, California Co. completed the Central Oil No. 8, Sec. 33-2n-73, at 312 barrels of oil daily from a zone at 12,064-116 feet and at 245 barrels of oil daily from a zone at 12,598-647 feet.

In Wayne County's Eucutta field, Gulf Oil Corp. completed the Green No. 4, Sec. 2-9n-9w, at 282 barrels of oil daily from a sand at 8,053-63 feet.

Abandoned Wells:

Adams County: Humble Oil and Refining Co. abandoned the McKittrick No. 3, Sec. 43-7n-3w, in the Natchez field, dry at 4,561 feet.

Clarke County: Southwest Gas Co. abandoned the Wildcat McLendon No. 1, Sec. 20-1n-17e, dry at 9,984 feet.

Jones County: Pan American Petroleum Corp. abandoned the wildcat Stringer No. 1, Sec. 15-6n-12w, dry at 16,857 feet.

Pearl River County: Eubanks, Copeland and Anderson abandoned the wildcat Crosby-Southern Mineral No. 1, Sec. 35-1s-14w, dry at 11,083 feet.

Pike County: J. C. Maxwell abandoned the wildcat McCullough No. 1, Sec. 15-4n-9e, dry at 11,049 feet.

Research To Slash Home Costs Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal support for research in home-building would cut costs and help check rising prices of new houses, according to a prominent mortgage lender.

But top federal officials doubt that Congress or the administration is likely to do much in this direction, even next year. The current session of Congress is too far along for action this year.

He told the Georgia Savings and Loan Assn. in a speech that residential building costs soared 93.4 per cent from 1945 to 1958. This was exclusive of land values, which also rose, thereby putting additional upward pressure on house prices.

Mitchell pointed out that during the same 13-year period, general living costs climbed 60.9 per cent and personal incomes increased 64.8 per cent.

To slow down or possibly halt this trend, Mitchell proposed a three-point federal program to stimulate research into manufacture of home-building materials and assembly of the final product.

His proposals were:

—The Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration "adopt, as permanent procedure, a more liberal attitude and policy on their construction standards as they relate to the use of new materials and products. This would open the door for much greater experimentation and technological changes among private suppliers to the housing industry."

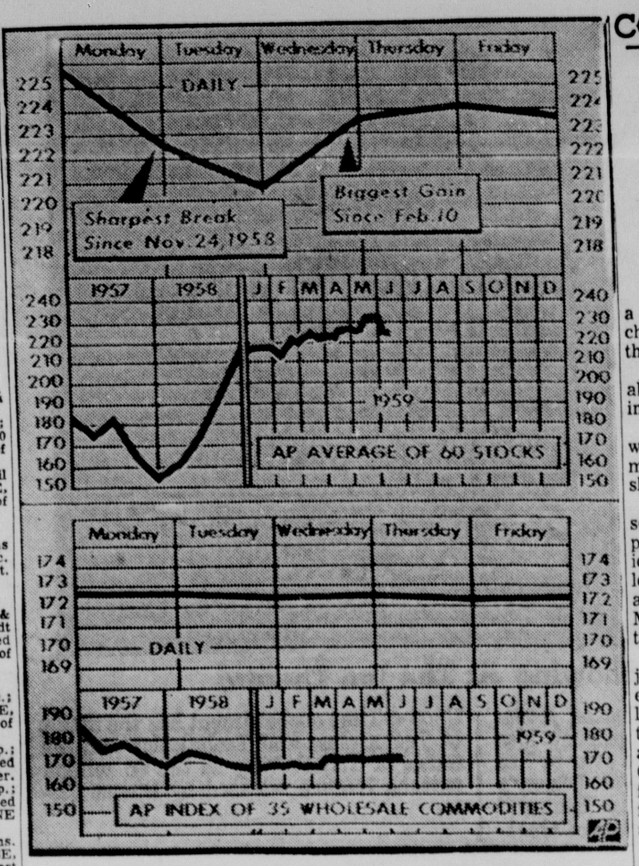

FHA last year modified and revamped its building standards. FHA Commissioner Julian H. Zimmerman feels his standards staff is responsive to technological changes in construction and that FHA standards by and large are proper.

— "The federal government should establish a program for financing research — preferably through grants to private research groups—in building materials, methods and products."

The Housing and Home Finance Agency administered a program of this kind from 1949 to 1954. Studies were made and reports issued. Congress killed the venture. Officials are interested in reviving it but concede it has a relatively low priority. As one top ranking source put it, "budget considerations come first."

—"The federal government should interest itself in modifying building code restrictions on technological developments in housing."

Builders and developers for years have complained that the wide variety in local building codes forces up their costs. There has been talk of a federal "model code" which the communities might be induced—but not oglibed —to follow.

Stock Average Down Again

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined for the second straight week, closing at 223.7 from 225.8 a week ago. Led by livestock, the commodity index moved lower for the first time in five weeks as it finished Friday at 172.3 from 172.8 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

17 Wells Finaled Around Shreveport

Seventeen wells were completed in the Shreveport district during the past week, the district office of the Louisiana Conservation Department announced. Three wells were finaled for gas, fourteen for oil.

Six wells were plugged and abandoned during the week.

Active rigs in the area were 43, C. H. McDuff, district manager, said.

CADDO

Greenwood-Waskom Field — Shallow Oil Co.'s No. 4 W. C. Agurs, s7-16-16, completed with open flow for 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from 3,019 feet.

Caddo Pine Island Field—W. C. Allen's No. 1 Newton, s1-20-16, has been completed as a small gas well in the Nacatoch zone.

Ard-Talbers's No. 17 Iles-Lance, s3-20-16, has been completed to pump 5 barrels of oil daily from the Nacatoch zone.

Paul Bandy's No. 1 R. V. Glassell, s25-20-15, has been completed to pump 11 barrels daily from the Woodbine zone at 2,276-8 feet. Total well depth is 2,304 feet.

Bayou State Oil Co's No. 25—A Caldwell, s29-22-15, has been completed to pump 6 barrels daily from 1,041 - 43 feet in the Nacatoch formation. Total depth is 1,043 feet.

Central Commercial Oil Co.'s No. B-2 U.S.A., s3-22-15, has been completed to flow 84 barrels of 43 gravity oil from perforations in the Paluxy zone at 2,886-94 feet.

H. B.—J. R. Horton's No. 8 Jolley, s21-22-15, has been completed to pump 8 barrels of oil a day from perforations at 1,015-18 feet in the Nacatoch zone. Total well depth is 1,018 feet.

Boss West's No. 1 H. H. Huckaby, s1-20-16, has been completed to pump 5 batrrels of oil daily from the Woodbine formation at 2,108-2,230 feet. Total well depth is 2,230 feet.

CLAIBORNE

In the Lisbon Field of Claiborne Parish, Gulf Oil Corp. has finaled its No. 1 Caruthers et al Unit, s15-21-5, to flow 195 barrels of 32.2 gravity oil daily from 5,026-31 feet.

DESOTO

Accessories For Future Cars Tested

By JACK VANDERBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI) — Some ideas of the accessories which will be on the cars of the future can be gained from looking at the cars top officials of General Motors' technical center are driving today.

I drove in several of these cars recently when I toured the tech center. They are standard production cars in every respect except for futuristic accessories which have been installed in them for testing by the executives during their driving.

Probably the most interesting innovation I saw was a new type of seat which has been installed on the Pontiac driven by William L. Mitchell head of GM's styling office.

The seat covering is made of two separate layers of leather, the top one performed with series of small holes arranged in a decorative fashion.

A steady stream of air is forced between the two layers of leather. This air seeps out of the small perforations, keeping the passenger comfortable by allowing his body to "breathe" all over.

Because it also serves to cool the passenger in hot weather, it could be offered as a replacement for air conditioning in cars of the future.

The front passenger's seat also can be flipped over so the back rest becomes the seat cushion and vice versa, leaving the seat facing the rear instead of the front o' the car.

As a precaution against the seat flipping accidentally, it has to be lifted slightly before its position can be changed.

The seat facing the rear not only makes it more convenient for the front seat passenger to converse with those in the rear, it is a safety measure. Safety experts say a person facing the rear is not as likely to be injured in an accident, especially one involving the front of the car, as a passenger facing the front.

An electronic device being tested by GM controls the locking and unlocking of the doors through the ignition key.

All the doors can be unlocked merely by inserting a key in the ignition. When the key is taken out of the ignition, none of the doors can be opened from the outside without a key.

This prevents locking the keys inside the car and also makes it easier to remember to lock the doors when you leave the car. Of course, you still can forget and leave the keys in the ignition.

Grain Futures Score Gains In Week's Trading

CHICAGO (AP) — The government's June wheat crop report this week was described by most grain futures traders as a dud insofar as a market influence was concerned but that grain and almost all others scored good gains on th Board of Trade.

Oats and rye led the advances with gains running well over two cents a bushel in most deliveries. The 1959 crop wheat contracts made small but almost daily advances which added up to more than a cent. Soybeans added mostly small fractions and corn was virtually stationary except for July which moved up about a cent.

The government wheat crop estimate, released on Wednesday, was viewed by a few traders at the time as both mildly bullish and bearish. Some called it bullish because it predicted a winter and spring wheat crop yield of about 300 million bushels less than the record high 1958 production.

Others said it was bearish because the figures were somewhat higher than had been expected.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1 -1¾ cen's a bushel higher than a week ago for the 1959 crop months, July $1.84½-⅜, and the 1960 crop months 1⅛-1¼ lower; corn ⅞ higher to ⅛ lower, July $1.26¼-⅜; oats 1-2⅞ cents higher, July new type contract 66 cents; rye 2⅜-2¾ higher, July 1.22¾; soybeans unchanged to ⅞ higher, July $2.24⅞-¾ .

Summer Boom Prospects Cheer U.S. Businessmen

By WALTER BREEDE JR.
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Prospects of a full-fledged summer boom cheered American businessmen this week.

There were some who worried about tight money and the growing threat of a steel strike.

Other's said the economy's forward surge had picked up so much speed that not even a steel shutdown could stop it.

Hopes dimmed for a peaceful settlement of the steel wage dispute. The United Steelworkers Union reported a "complete deadlock" in wage negotiations and authorized its president, David J. McDonald, to take whatever action he saw fit.

With a July 1 strike deadline just around the corner, steeel executives started to think seriously about throttling down production, currently roaring along at a record pace. Republic Steel Corp. said it would drop one blast furnace and two open hearths from its Youngstown, Ohio, plant schedule on Monday.

Effects of tight money and rising interest rates showed up at several key spots in the economy this week. You may have found it more difficult to get a quick loan at the bank.

Builders complained that easy-to-carry mortgages were gettin& scarce. Stock prices underwent a sharp correction.

But boom forces were still very much in command, and there was every indication they would stay that way.

Stock sales totaled 15,468,114 last week compared with 14,785,757 the week before. Bond sales had a par value of $30,874,200 compared with $27,551,000 the previous week and $27,753,500 for the corresponding week in 1958.

Consumer spending in the nation's shops and stores exceeded retailers' fondest hopes. Fast-stepping sales of new cars kept Detroit production lines humming.

Business spending on new plant and equipment in the next few months seemed certain to show a bigger-than-expected increase.

The latest job statistics also made good reading. The Labor Department said employment increased one million last month to 66,016,000—a record for May.

Average pay of factory workers topped $90 a week for the first time. The average for workers in "durable" goods industries — including autos, appliances and steel—climbed to $98 a week. Average weekly pay in "soft" goods manufacturing—a group that includes textiles—was $80.

Factory employment showed a gain of 100,000. It usually goes down in May.

Government economists said employment in June would be higher than in May, but that unemployment would rise too, because of a record number of students hunting jobs.

High schools will graduate 1,750,000 boys and girls this month; colleges will award diplomas to 500,000. Hundreds of thousands of other students will be looking for work. Finding the kind of summer job you want may not be easy.

Resort business this summer should be better than ever. So say operators of hotels, motels, vacation spots and travel bureaus.

The summer boom in outdoor cooking may also set records. Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., which supplies aluminum foil for barbecue cooking, says backyard chefs will spend more than 100 million dollars on barbecue equipment this year and burn more than 200,000 tons of charcoal.

Controversy swirled in Washington this week over President Eisenhower's proposal that Congress revoke the interest ceiling on many kinds of government bonds, The Treasury has found it difficult to market newly issued long-term bonds carrying an interest tag of only 4¼ per cent.

Congress Democrats said a better way to solve the Treasury's financing problems would be to have the Federal Reserve system increase its purchase of government securities. Republicans said this would increase the lending authority of the commercial banks, pump more check book money into circulation, and push prices up—all of which means inflation.

Business Briefs

The Salley Grocer Company, Inc., a wholesale grocer firm with houses in Shreveport, Bernice and Monroe, has been cited nationally for safety of operation of their trucks.

The American Trucking Associations, Inc., of Washington, D. C., has announced that the company was awarded First Place in the Miscellaneous Fleets Division Over-the-Road up to one million miles, of the ATA 1958 National Fleet Truck Safety Contest.

In the letter of notification to Mr. Van Salley, vice president of the company, at Bernice, ATA advised: "In addition to an award from American Trucking Associations, Inc., you will receive a personal award from the Electric Auto-Lite Company by Virtue of being in charge of the safety activities of a first-place fleet. You will also receive a plaque and a supply of recognition cards to be issued to each one of your drivers."

Cotton Mart Prices Show Slight Drop

Active futures contracts traded on the New York Cotton Exchange closed at prices ranging from 10 cents a bale higher for nearby July to 85 cents a bale lower for distant October.

The market's general downdrift resulted chiefly from light hedge selling and profit taking. Some scattered liquidation was prompted by favorable crop news and the possibility that next year's harvest would run ahead of domestic and export demand.

Weakness in distant October also reflected uncertainty among traders concerning the outlook for new legislation affecting the 1960 crop.

Several factors contributed to the relatively firm demand for nearby July. They included short covering which stemmed from a further decline in the certificated stock, continued improvement in the domestic textile business, and the ever present possibility of further tightening of certain qualities of "free" cotton.

Exports of U.S. cotton for the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange Service Bureau at 46,000 bales. This was a slight improvement over the 39,000 bales exported the week before but drastically below the 122,000 bales shipped out of the country in the same week of 1958.

The total for the season through Tuesday was estimated at only 2,418,000 bales, against 4,951,000 at the same time last season. Trade sources said the full-season total would approximate about 2,800,000 bales, compared to 5,700,000 a year ago.

Stock Prices Decline For Second Week

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market retreated again this week, continuing its "correction" of recent historic highs.

It was the second straight weekly decline. The drop was less than half the amount of last week's setback, which was the sharpest weekly drop in a year and a half.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $2.10 to $223.70. The record high, reached May 29, is $230.30.

Volume, though still comparatively low, expanded to 15,468,114 shares compared with 14,785,757 the week before.

Among all 1,410 stocks traded, losers outnumbered gainers by 722 to 542.

The worst damage to prices was done on Monday when Wall Street experienced the worst shakeout in half a year. President Eisenhower's official request that Congress scrap the interest rate ceiling on government bonds was deemed the "excuse" the market had been looking for.

U.S. government bonds closed higher for the week but it was a very uneasy advance on extremely light volume. Corporate securities continued to drift downward.

The corporate market ended the week lower on balance. Rails were off sharply and investment quality issues declined. Utilities closed unchanged. Foreign dollar bonds advanced and so did industrials, spurred by acrobatic performances by some industrial convertibles.

'Separate Tables' At Joy Drive In

With the appearance of Deborah Kerr, Rita Hayworth, David Niven, Wendy Hiller and Burt Lancaster, in Hecht-Hill-Lancaster's "Separate Tables" opening today at the Joy Drive In Theatre, five of Hollywood's foremost stars blend their prize-winning historic talents in a compeling picturization of one of Broadway and London's leading stage successes.

Produced by Harold Hecht and directed by Delbert Mann, "Separate Tables" is a poignant drama of love and loneliness as typified by a cross-section of emotion-torn residents of a small British seaside hotel. It is the work of Terence Rattigan, the playwright of such smash hits as "The Sleeping Prince," "French Without Tears," "The Winslow Boy" and "O Mistress Mine." Rattigan and John Gay wrote the screenplay.

The blockbuster cast of "Separate Tables" is further enhanced by such outstanding names as Gladys Cooper, Cathleen Nesbitt, Felix Aylmer, Audrey Dalton, Rod Taylor, May Hallatt and Priscilla Morgan. The United Artists release was photographed by Charles Lang, A.S.C.

For Rita Hayworth, "Separate Tables" provides the most exacting dramatic role the star has ever before attempted as an American divorcee whose veneer of sleek sophistication, poise and beauty is brutally pierced to reveal a lonely and frightened woman seeking to reclaim the man she can neither live with or without. Lancaster portrays the object of Miss Hayworth's silken wiles, who cannot shake off the allure of the lovely creature who has brought him only disgrace.

Miss Kerr is seen as Sibyl, retarded emotionally, dominated by her mother, afraid of life and romance-starved who finds unexpected strength and understanding in Niven, an Army Major who actually is living a life of lies because of dislike of self. Scandal engulfs the Major and his shame affects those around him with surprisingly dramatic results.

Wendy Hiller, whose unforgetable performances in "Pymalion" and "Major Barbara" established the actress as one of the screen's all-time greats, plays the hotel manager who is obliged to renounce the man she adores.

The conflicts and prsonal problems of these and other richly drawn characters gathered under a single roof in "Separate Tables" are dealt with tenderly, sympathetically and with humor by Delbert Mann, the director of "Marty," and "The Bachelor Party."

KEEPING BUSY HELPS

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—Hiram Sherman, an expert at drollery, doesn't mind being one of the busiest members of the American Shakespeare Festival troupe.

"If you don't have a part in every play in the repertory," he observes, "you are inclined to sit around and think of ways to change and improve your work.

"This can be mighty upsetting to the rest of the cast. But if you keep busy, you only have time to do what the director wants."

HELP WANTED

NEW YORK (AP)—Some young and unknown actor with a flair for foreign accents is wanted for "Love Tree," a prospective Broadway entry.

The plot requires the talents of a performer who can impersonate a swami fortune teller, a French butler and a young American.

Now Showing At The Jim Theatre

The enchanted sleeping princess, Aurora, doomed to sleep until a prince's kiss shall awaken her, is watched over by her three fairy godmothers in Walt Disney's production of the "Sleeping Beauty." The ancient and well-loved tale of Once-Upon-a-Time enchantment has the magic of Technirama and Technicolor and the music of Tchaikovsky in the $6 million cartoon feature released by Buena Vista.

Doris Day, Jack Lemmon Star In Film

Three of Hollywood's most delightful entertainers—Doris Day, Jack Lemmon and Ernie Kovacs—team their comedy talents in Columbia Pictures' "It Happened to Jane." The picture, which opened today at the Paramount Theatre in Eastman Color, is a rowdy and riotous re-statement of the screen proposition that a little guy may not be able to lick a big guy, but a pretty girl can.

The girl in the case is Miss Day, of course, playing a Maine lobster-grower who tangles with railroad tycoon Ernie Kovacs. Lemmon plays Doris' small town lawyer who also wins: a law suit, election as town selectman, Miss Day.

The things that happen to Jane start when one of her mail order lobster shipments goes awry because of the economics in effect on the railroad run by Kovacs. She sues for triple damages; her reputation as a lobster shipper has been ruined. Kovacs balks, obviously planning to outlast a plaintiff whose financial resources are limited. Miss Day reacts by attaching one of Kovac's trains. Kovacs promptly gives Doris the train and starts charging her rent for its use of his tracks.

Miss Day plays Jane with a lightness of touch that is irresistible. Lemmon, who also provides some of the romance, and Ernie Kovacs, who justly holds a reputation as one of America's most comical men, match Miss Day laugh for laugh.

Steve Forrest co-stars as the newspaper reporter who helps Miss Day finance her "war" by arranging a series of TV appearances for her; they turn her into a national heroine.

TV guest stars appearing in "It Happened to Jane" include Bill Cullen, Dave Garroway, Steve McCormick, Jayne Meadows, Garry Moore, Henry Morgan, Bob Paige and Betsy Palmer. Produced and directed by Richard Quine, the Columbia comedy is a Arwin production; Martin Melcher served as executive producer. The film is based on a story by Max Wilk and Norman Katkov; Katkov wrote the screenplay.

Anniversary Of Founding Slated

Burmuda will pay philatelic tribute to the 350th anniversary of the shipwreck of the "Sea Venture" which resulted in the first permanent settlement of the Bermudas. Six new stamps of identical design but different values will be released on July 29.

The design features in full color the coats of arms of James I, British monarch at that time, and Queen Elizabeth II, each surmounted by the appropriate crown. The arms are intertwined with the Garter Cord.

The "Sea Venture" was the flagship of a supply fleet sent from England to relieve the starving colony of Virginia under the command of Sir George Somers. The ship was wrecked off the Bermudas in 1609. The tiny coral islands have been under British rule since 1612, eight years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

The first day sale of the 4-cent 49 Star Flag stamp on July 4 will be transferred from Washington, D.C., to Auburn, N.Y. The reason for the switch is that Auburn was the home of William H. Seward, secretary of state in the Lincoln and Johnson cabinets, who was responsible for the purchase of the Alaska Territory from Russia in 1867.

Seward was born in Florida, N.Y., but lived most of his life in Auburn where a citizens' committee is planning a big celebration on July 4.

Collectors are reminded to send their enveopes for first day cancellations of the stamp together with remittance to the Postmaster, Auburn, N.Y., prior to July 4.

Any orders for first day covers already sent to the Washington, D.C., Postmaster will be forwarded by him to the Postmaster at Auburn, N.Y.

LITTLE THEATRE

Our workers are still at it. $45,000 was the figure raised when we wrote this. That is $90,000, my friends, a princely sum for our new playhouse. But we are still short of our maximum. Who would be satisfied with $90,000 when we could have $100,000 by making one last push. Remember five will get you ten in this proposition. Do not wait any longer to send in your contribution. And we are still hoping for a gift of property which we would be happy to name in honor of the donor. It could be called The John Doe Park on which stands the Strauss Playhouse. Some of our green thumb members are already planning for the grounds a Shakespeare garden — i.e., one in which they would set out only plants mentioned in Shakespeare's plays — rosemary, thyme, cowslips, pansies, rue, and yew, for example. Doubtless, you can name others. See what pretty dreams we have?

Harriet Kern, a patron member of Little Theatre and president of the Quota Club of Monroe, left Wednesday for Washington, D.C. to attend the International Convention of Quota Club. Helen Agnew is there already for she is a nominee for second vice-president on the international slate of officers.

On the Troy dock last Sunday, there was a gathering that looked like a reunion of the casts of plays past — Rufus Bruce, Beverly, and their daughter Becky; Bid and Kay Causey and their boys; Squire and Patsy Pickett; and Vela and Dick Troy. They watched with interest our director, Ivan Uttal, cavorting skillfully on water skis.

For the rest of this month, this column will be in the capable hands of that busy little wife and mother, Sandra Johnson. We depend on Sandra and her husband Art in every aspect of Little Theater activity — acting, writing, helping back stage, selling. You name it. They do it — cheerfully and efficiently.

Red Movies Are Becoming More Liberal

"RUSSIAN MOVIES"

(Editors note: The Nikita Khrushchev influence has affected the Soviet Union's film industry as it has other things. In this dispatch an American reporter explains the changes.)

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI) — The young Garbo of Russia is a smouldering brunette who represents the "new look" of internationalism in Soviet movies, right down to her tousled Bonemian hair-do.

Tatiana Samoilova is the first Russian movie star to attract much commotion outside the U.S.S.R. Her film, "The Cranes Are Flying," is making the rounds of Western popcorn palaces and collected the grand prix at the Cannes Film Festival last year, the first Soviet feature to win such an honor.

And almond-eyed Tatiana became the first Soviet movie star to be singled out for an international festival acting prize when she was dubbed best actress at the Brussels exposition film festival.

Tatiana is part of a minor revolution that has sparked the Soviet movie industry since Stalin's death. Today you can see something else besides the usual "boy meets tractor" movie in Russia—a change that could be noted when I was allowed a rare tour of the biggest Soviet movie in Moscow.

A handful of actresses used to get all the roles, and to make them look like young heroines a liberal amount of gauze often had to be draped over the lens. But today the Russian film factories are swarming with beautiful, shapely young things as in any other country.

When I met Tatiana at Mosfilm, the MGM of Russia, she was wearing a red sweater and skirt. In this land of fringed lampshades and accordions, her hourglass figure is the fashion. She was makeupless and appeared fiery and intense; here the emphasis among film stars is on acting, not artificial glamor.

What does it mean to be a Soviet movie star? Like ballet dancers, they have a better chance for private apartments. They don't own yachts, but some have motor boats and country week-end houses.

Tatiana and the other 250 actors and actresses on contract at Mosfilm are paid the equivalent of $240 a month when they're not working and $300 or $400 a month when they are, plus bonuses. They are more fancily dressed than other Russian women although still modest by Paris standards.

There are no newspaper movie gossip columns reporting Tatiana's every sneeze. Only one film magazine is printed, devoted to the art aspects of the medium. Many newspapers carry film reviews.

Tatiana has fans as in any other country.

"People ask me for autographs on the street and I get letters asking for photographs but I don't send many," she said.

I also met the Marilyn Monroe of Russia, a cheerful, round-faced blonde named Inna Makarova. She wore makeup, high heels and a fur jacket. Despite her full-blown beauty she never poses for cheesecake photos; they are unheard of here. Once she saw Gina Lollobrigida on the screen and thought the audience was allowed to see "too much" of Gina.

The Soviet movie industry was nationalized in 1919. A saying of Lenin still hangs in a hallway at Mosfilm: "Of all branches of art, the most important is the cinema."

REV. M. C. YATES

Stone Avenue Methodists Set Revival

A Kentucky evangelist will fill the pulpit at Stone Avenue Methodist Church during the coming week for a series of services, it was announced today. The church is located at 212 Stone Avenue in Monroe.

Rev. Marvin C. Yates of Louisville will conduct services at the church each evening at 7:30. Morning services at 10 are also planned, according to Rev. Isaac Patton, pastor at the church. The revival will open Wednesday and continue throughout the following week. No services will be held on Saturday and Monday.

Rev. Yates is known as a pastor - evangelist and has served as Conference Evangelist in the Memphis, Tennessee, conference of the Methodist Church.

BRENDA GAMBRELL

Monroe Student Will Serve As Home Missionary

Brenda Gambrell, Northeast Louisiana State College student, has been chosen by the Baptist Home Mission Board to do missionary work this summer. She was recommended for the position by the Baptist Student Union at Northeast.

Miss Gambrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gambrell of Ferriday, is a junior major in mathematics education.

She will be employed ten weeks in the southern coastal region of California, with headquarters in Fresno. Her principal duties will be to assist in establishing missions and vacation Bible schools and to take a religious census.

Miss Gambrell has been active in the local Baptist Student Union and is a member of the Interfaith Council, a group representing various denominations on the campus.

Commissioning Of New Church Set By Board

In action taken by the Red River Presbytery last week, a commission of twelve members was set up to grant a church charter to the College Presbyterian Group of Monroe. The commissioning service will be held at Brown Auditorium, Northeast Louisiana State College, on June 28 at 7:30 p.m. The group has been holding worship services since April 12, this year under the sponsorship of the church extension committee of Ouachita Parish.

The extension committee, essentially a laymen's organization dedicated to meeting the challenges offered by a growing Monroe, is combining its annual rally with the commissioning service.

All Presbyterian laymen of Ouachita Parish are urged to attend this very significant service which will represent the fullfillment of much effort on the part of their elected representatives.

Services Set For Ordaining Of Minister

Among those receiving degrees from The University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., was Albertus Lee DeLoach III, of Monroe.

DeLoach, one of 114 to receive degrees at the school's commencement last week, will be ordained to the Episcopal Diaconate in ceremonies at Grace Episcopal Church here on June 24. The Rt. Rev. Iveson B. Noland, suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Louisiana, will offficiate at the service.

Following his ordination, Rev. DeLoach will be resident minister-in-charge at St. Francis' Episcopal Mission in Denham Springs and deacon-in-charge of St. Peter's Mission, Port Allen.

DeLoach is a graduate of Louisiana State University and is married to the former Frances Campbell of Natchez.

Clergy Wants To Humanize Foreign Aid

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

At a time when critics are denouncing foreign aid as a "giveaway," it is a bit startling to hear somebody say that the real trouble with the U. S. aid program is that it's too selfish.

Yet that is precisely what some American church leaders are saying.

They are appealing to Congress to overhaul the aid program thoroughly — not to save money, but to make a more effective instrument for sharing American's abundance with the two-thirds of of humanity that lives in chronic misery.

These church leaders—who include spokesmen for major Protestant and Catholic organizations—believe the government has made an historic mistake in "selling" foreign aid to the American public on the basis of national self-interest.

They would like to see less emphasis on buying or building allies against communism, and more emphasis on helping people simply because they are people.

That is what Dr. Donald C. Stone tried to tell the House Foreign Affairs Committee when he appeared before it recently as spokesman for the National Council of Churches. Dr. Stone is dean of the University of Pittsburgh's graduate school of public and international affairs, and a member of the National Council's department of international affairs.

He said the U.S. aid program, as presently constituted, is conspicuously lacking in "moral and religious" motivations. A nation can hardly claim to be acting out of unselfish generosity, he added, when it "furthers the economic development of other countries primarily in the interest of its own security and as a means of obstructing the outreach of an enemy."

Dr. Stone argued that America would be "infinitely more successful" in creating conditions for peace if it were less obsessed with getting a practical, political "return" on its foreign aid investment.

A similar stand was taken by the Catholic Assn. for International Peace in a recent policy statement entitled "A Christian Position on U.S. Foreign Aid."

"Foreign economic assistance should be. . . motivated by our sense of moral obligation," the Catholic statement said, adding that moral motives are "unfortunately obscured by the present structure" of the aid program.

What the church leaders do seek is a clear distinction between military aid, extended for the sake of our own security, and economic aid, extended as a recognition of moral obligation toward those living in chronic want.

They are convinced that most Americans really want to be generous toward less fortunate people, and that they would be shocked if they realized, not how much but how relatively little, they are presently spending on economic aid.

The total comes to about $1,500,000 a year, or fourtenths of one per cent of the U.S. gross national product.

East German Churches To Resist Reds

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

BERLIN (AP) — The Evangelical (Lutheran) church has begun a last-ditch fight for survival in East Germany.

Under mounting Communist attacks, the centralized authority of the old state church is crumbling.

The isolated local pastors, now the main guardians of the faith, carry the brunt of the struggle against Communist harrassment.

The satellite regime technically still recognizes the official status of the Evangelical faith, but is gnawing away at its foundations through atheist propaganda.

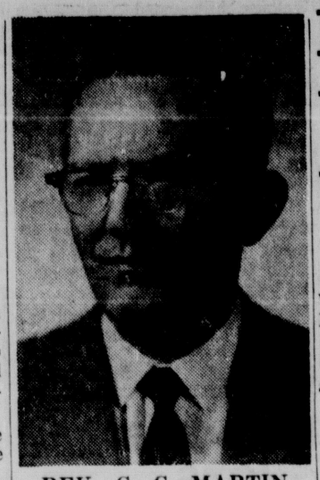

"The Christian is being turned into a second class citizen," says Bishop Otto Dibelius, titular head of the All-Germany church.

Fear of Communist persecution has dwindled church attendance at an accelerating rate over the last year. Most youngsters now undergo Communist consecration rites instead of church confirmation.

Church officials express confidence that Christianity will persist in East Germany, but they see the Communist vise inexorably tightening on the church itself.

The regime has made the Evangelical church its No. 1 domestic target. With 82 per cent of the 18 million East Germans born Evangelical, the church has ranked as the most influential and stubborn voice of freedom in the satellite.

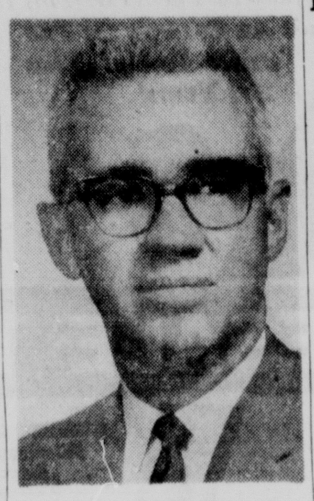

REV. C. C. MARTIN

Center Point Church Slates Revival Week

Center Point Baptist Church on the New Natchitoches Road in West Monroe will hold a revival throughout the coming week, it was announced today.

The Rev. C. C. Martin, pastor of the Laurel Heights Baptist Church of Winnfield will be the guest speaker for the occasion and services will be held each evening at 7:30.

There will be a dedication of the new church auditorium on Sunday, June 21, at the morning worship period with the pastor, Rev. Fred Feazell, in charge. The dedication will be followed by a church luncheon.

REV. G. W. HARBUCK

Rev. Harbuck Takes Monroe District Post

Resulting from an appointment at the annual Methodist conference in Shreveport, the Rev. George W. Harbuck has taken his post as District Superintendent of Methodist Churches in the Monroe area.

Prior to his appointment, Rev. Harbuck was pastor of the Broadmoor Methodist in Shreveport, a post he held for six years.

The appointment was made by Bishop Paul Martin of Little Rock. Rev. Harbuck, his wife and two daughters will reside at the district parsonage, 501 Hilton in Monroe.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: How does a happily married woman become infatuated with a married man and commit adultery? This happened to me and I am almost frantic to find the answer. I have a wonderful husband who is trying his best to forgive me. I now know that it is my husband I really love, but how could I have done such a thing in the first place? F. R.

ANSWER: The Bible says, "The heart is desperately wicked and deceitful above all things," and that accounts for what you have done. But first, you had to hurdle over several obstructions before you fell into this sin that threatened to ruin your life. You see, there are temptations upward as well as downward. Before you fell into temptation, you had to circumvent your marriage vows which were made before God and man. This wasn't easy, but you made the leap. Then, you had to get around your conscience, and you seemed to do this without much effort. Then, you had to break the rules of society, for the law as well as the Bible says, "Thou shalt not commit adultery." Some people forget that it is against the law to commit fornication, but if you will take the trouble to investigate, you will find that it is.

But the strong will that led you away from that which is right can lead you back, if you will exercise it in the right way. First, ask God to frogive you, and receive Christ as your Savior. Then, ask your husband to forgive you. Then, use the same determination to rehabilitate yourself morally (start reading the Bible, praying, going to church) as you did to defect from the path of right. You have an unusual husband, and you should thank God that he is willing to forgive and forget.

New Pastor Welcomed At W.M. Church

The congregation of the First Methodist Church in West Monroe will hear the first sermon by the Rev. Earl B. Emmerich in his new capacity as pastor of the church today at the morning worship period.

Rev. Emmerich was appointed pastor of the West Monroe Methodist Church at the recent Louisiana Methodist Conference in Shreveport.

He was born in McComb, Miss., and received his education in the public schools there, at Mississippi State College, and the Candler School of Theology at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia.

He spent five years as a missionary to Korea and returned to America during the depression. Since that time, Rev. Emmerich has served pastorates at Asyka, Miss., Oak Grove, Parker Memorial Church in New Orleans, Rayville and Lake Charles.

Rev. Emmerich comes to West Monroe from the University Methodist Church in Lake Charles.

Though serving a larger church, he was named rural minister of the year in the state by the Progressive Farmer for work done at Holly Ridge.

In addition to his pastorates and missionary work, Rev. Emmerich has served four years on the conference board of education of the Methodist Church.

He is married to the former Katherine Sells, herself the daughter of a Methodist minister.

TO STAY AS CHANCELLOR

Adenauer Cites Shift Reasons

BONN, Germany UPI — Konrad, Adenauer said Saturday his decision to remain at the helm of the German government was made to preserve western unity, in the wake of John Foster Dulles' death, and to meet increasing Russian threats.

"The free nations must maintain a front that is firm and strong," the German Chancellor said in an exclusive interview with United Press International.

It was Adenauer's first press interview since his about face decision to retain his job as chancellor and the dispute which followed with vice Chancellor and Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard.

Adenauer said no personal disaffection for Erhard had entered into his decision.

He spoke with emphasis on the imperative need for Western unity, but more slowly and with care in answering questions about Erhard.

"With the increasingly acute international situation, and with John Foster Dulles gone, it seemed to me wrong to step out just at this moment," he said.

"For 10 years I have cooperated with the statesmen of the free world, for seven of them with my friend Dulles. I have won much experience and Germany has come to enjoy the confidence of the free world."

Switching to the third person, Adenauer added, "And with the present situation, one dare not step out. It would not be right until the tensions have relaxed."

Then he added:

"I want to know that my work will be carried on. There are young people in sight coming along, but one can step out only when one knows that the work will be continued as it was begun. It is to the good of the nation that my work be continued."

Adenauer said the differences between France and the United States must be eliminated, and added:

"Differences between the United Kingdom and some other countries, while minor, can and must be eliminated. If the West remains strong, the Soviet Union will one day have to give in. But if a crack shows in Western unity, the Soviets will continue to bore in and to drive the wedge ever deeper."

1. "If I were to give advice to the foreign ministers at Geneva, I would recommend that the present talks be suspended for four weeks. With an extended interruption, perhaps we can find a new start with better chances of success."

2. "I do not think the Russians will go to the very limit in the present crisis, because they do not want to start a nuclear war over Berlin."

3. The United States is "quite right" in refusing to go to a summit meeting without new and specific Soviet guarantees of Western rights in West Berlin.

4. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal for atom - free zones is aimed at increasing Soviet security "without reciprocity," and to the defensive disadvantage of the West.

5. Negotiations with the Communist regime of East Germany or German reunification are "absolutely out of the question."

6. West German democracy is soundly based. Nazism lasted for only twelve years and the last traces have now died out. "I am fully convinced that the stability of democracy in Germany is secure."

7. The 77 million East Germans will regain their freedom within this generation. "But patience will be needed since the Soviets block the direct path of free elections."

Adenauer seemed completely relaxed. He received me in his large office in a former royal palace overlooking the Rhine. His health seemed good. Despite the chill of early evening, all windows were wide open.

His handshake and his voice were firm. His relatively unlined face showed neither his 83 years nor the political storm raging about his head over his decision to remain as chancellor.

Although his staff had prepared suggested answers to six basic questions which had been submitted in advance. Adenauer disregarded the aide memoire and answered readily and extemporaneously.

Adenauer said of the Big Four foreign ministers' conference at Geneva that "the over-all situation is bad."

Expanding on his suggestion for a four-week recess, he said:

"I would not suggest the conference be broken off. That would give the Soviets a wonderful opportunity to start a propaganda offensive. The West must do all in its power to prevent the Soviet ultimatum on Berlin from becoming effective."

The Chancellor recalled that in the Big Four agreement at Paris in July 1949, ending the Berlin blockade, free access to Berlin was specifically guaranteed.

"The United States and Great Britain at that time set up guard posts along the access routes and sent regular military patrols to insure that the agreement was actually effective," he said.

"For some reason—I don't know why—these measures were later dropped. Had they been continued, this business today would never have happened."

Adenauer thought that the kind of "mutual trust" required before the Soviets will free East Germany will be achieved only when there has been agreed and implemented a general controlled disarmament system covering both conventional and nuclear weapons.

"But that will take time," he warned.

He added: "It has been too rarely noted that the U.S.S.R. has a highly disagreeable neighbor in Red China. China exerts pressure by its mere existence. There may come a time when Russia will need to seek friends in the West."

CIVIL RIGHTS GROUP

Hearing Linked To Vote 'Purge'

WASHINGTON (Special) — All but a few of the voting complaints the Civil Rights Commission will investigate in Shreveport July 13 stem from the so-called "purge" of Louisiana registration lists, it has been learned here.

Unlike the stormy hearings held in Montgomery, Ala., last fall, the Shreveport investigation will concentrate on cases involving Negroes who were once registered, but removed from voting lists when their qualifications were challenged.

The commission, however, kept a tight lid locked on the 68 sworn complaints it has received from nine northwest Louisiana parishes, despite attempts by reporters and state officials to learn specific details.

According to communism sources, Louisiana Attorney General Jack Gremillion's demand last week for specific charges against the registrars was a major reason for the commission's decision to push ahead with on-the-spot hearings. Once in Louisiana, the commission can subpoena the registrars and their records.

CAULDRON

Inevitably, the commission will be wading into a political cauldron created by Gov. Earl Long's breakdown in the midst of a bitter fight over the so - called "purge."

It is an open secret that the six commissioners were reluctant to go into Louisiana in the midst of the political turmoil, but a spokesman insists that officially the commission cannot bow to political obstacles because of its ""obligation to the Congress and to the President."

The Civil Rights Commission was established by the Civil Rights Act of 1957 to gather information, mainly on alleged voting discrimination, and report its findings next Sept. 9.

The commission now has 68 sworn discrimination complaints from Webster, De Soto, Bienville, Bossier, Caddo, Claiborne, Jackson, Ouachita and Red River parishes, but may have many more before hearings open next month.

Commission hearings generate more complaints. The bulk of the Louisiana affidavits came pouring in last December and January during and after the widely-publicized hearings in Montgomery. Another flurry arrived this spring in the wake of housing hearings in Atlanta. "The more hearings we hold, the more complaints we receive, and the more hearings have to be held," one staff member confided.

INFORMATION

The commission has been charged by Congress only to gather information and has no direct punitive power. It can, however, act in cases of refusal to obey its subpoenas by asking the Justice Department to obtain a Federal Court order forcing production of needed documents.

This power was used in Alabama when local judge, George Wallace impounded voting registration records the commission was after. On application by the Justice Department, a federal district judge ordered the records turned over to the commission. After some delay, commission investigators were able to inspect the records by a back - door route.

The Federal judge exonerated Wallace of contempt charges by saying Wallace had connifed at letting the commission investigators look at the documents.

Commission staffers do not expect the Shreveport hearings to produce the storm of ballyhoo that characterized the Montgomery investigation and led to charges that the Alabama case was a "circus." For one thing, the Shreveport hearings are not expected to run more than two days and will perhaps be finished in one.

All news media will be permitted to cover the hearings, including television. Witnesses, however, can request exclusion of TV, of photographers, or of all newsmen if they wish.

Sky Lady Derby Winners From Dallas, Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Winners of the Sky Lady Derby, an efficiency race for women fliers, are the Dallas duo of Mrs. Pat Jetton and Mrs. Dorothy J. Warren.

Officials awarded them first place Friday night after a delayed windup to the 648-mile dash from Shreveport, La., to Dallas via Little Rock, Ark., and Tulsa, Okla.

Pilot efficiency, fuel consumption and speed determined the rankings.

Tea Shower Honors Miss Patsy Doane

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. J. Leroy Williams, Mrs. A. K. Crow, Mrs. W. W. Stevens, Mrs. Mable McDuffie, Mrs. Marie McDuffie, Mrs. Ed. Lyons, Mrs. Ivy Smith, Mrs. Max Dillingham, Mrs. H. L. Hales, Mrs. J. E. Nelson, Mrs. Walter Mangham, and Mrs. C. L. Dillingham.

Receiving guests at the door was Mrs. Max Dillingham who who then presented them to the honoree and the honoree's mother, Mrs. L. G. Wilkinson.

Miss Doane selected an aqua and green printed chiffon model. Matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations completed her ensemble. The honoree's mother was becomingly attired in a beige chiffon dress. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

A bridal theme of pink and white was used throughout the reception. An arrangement of pink roses was placed on the mantel. The party table was covered with an imported white linen cutwork cloth over pink. A centerpiece of pink roses and white feverfew arranged in a crystal epergne was flanked on each side by tall white tapers. Mrs. Crow, Mrs. Marie McDuffie and Mrs. Hales alternated at the punch bowl.

Miss Julianna Hales invited the guests to register in the bride's book. Miss Martha Williams, Mrs. Harry Petty and Mrs. Bob Nelson assisted with receiving the gifts.

The hostesses' gift to the bride was a Sunbeam percolator.

MRS. JAMES ELLIOTT OLIVER

Marriage Vows Exchanged By Joe Ann Cotton And James Elliott Oliver

On June 3 at 7 p.m. in the Memorial Methodist Church, Miss Joe Ann Cotton became the bride of James Elliott Oliver of Shreveport. Their parents are Mrs. W. A. Cotton and the late Mr. Cotton of this city and Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Clifford Oliver of Shreveport. The Reverend W. R. Cain performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of magnolias and burning cathedral tapers.

Mrs. Irene Nelson presented the nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Estelle Sanders, who sang "Because," "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, C. H. Gwin. Her bridal gown had a Chantilly lace bodice with a sweetheart neckline and the skirt was of tucked tulle. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was fastened to a pearl tiara. Her bouquet of white roses was centered with a white orchid.

BRIDESMAIDS

Miss Kay Cotton served her sister as maid of honor in a light green organza dress with a bouffant skirt. Her headdress of the same material was fashioned in a bow. Dressed identically to the maid of honor, Mrs. W. R. Oliver served as matron of honor. The bridesmaids, Mrs. B. J. Laird, Mrs. Joe S. Lusk, Plain Dealing, Miss Virginia Peyton, Shreveport, and Miss Blanche Edge of Houston, wore identical dresses to the matron of honor. Each wore white gloves.

Peggy Lynn Oliver in a green organza dress was the flower girl.

Mr. Oliver chose his father as best man. Clifford Oliver served as ring bearer.

Groomsmen were Jon T. Oliver and William Oliver of Shreveport. The ushers were Ken Abington, Robert Lindsey of Shreveport and Joe S. Lusk of Plain Dealing.

Mrs. Cotton chose a mauve lace sheath dress for her daughter's wedding. Satin roses were used at the neckline. Her matching hat and shoes were of satin. She carried a white orchid on her beaded bag. Mrs. Oliver was wearing a champagne crepe dress with a beaded hat. Her corsage was a white orchid.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the church parlor.

The bride's table, covered in organdy, had for its central decor an arrangement of magnolia blossoms. The memory candle stood on one end and white punch was served from a silver bowl from the other end. The wedding cake was placed on a smaller table that held an organdy cloth.

For her wedding trip to Biloxi, Miss., the bride was dressed in a beige silk shantung with black accessories. She wore the orchid from her bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Baton Rouge.

The bride graduated from Neville High School and Louisiana State University. Her sorority is Kappa Delta.

The groom is a graduate of Byrd High School in Shreveport and Louisiana State University. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hixson and Patricia, Mrs. Murphey Tannehill, Urania, Mrs. A. M. Johnston, Tullos, Mrs. W. F. Davis, Mrs. S. W. Montgomery, Miss Alice Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Toney Garelock, M. R. Deckard, Robert Nichols of Shreveport, and Howe Harbin of Lake Providence.

REHEARSAL PARTY

Prior to her wedding Miss Cotton and Mr. Oliver were entertained at a rehearsal supper at the Rendezvous.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver, parents of the groom, were hosts on June 2 at 8 p.m.

Guests were Mrs. Cotton, mother of the bride, Mrs. Estelle Sanders, Mrs. Nelson, Charles Gwin, Ken Abington, Robert Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver, Mac Dickard, Mr. and Mrs. Lusk, Miss Edge, Miss Peyton, Mrs. Laird and Miss Cotton.

MRS. CHARLES CLARKE HALL

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Betty Doris Britt And Charles Clarke Hall

On the afternoon of June 13, at 2:30 o'clock at St. Matthews' Catholic Church, Miss Betty Doris Britt and Charles Clarke Hall of Kansas City, Missouri, exchanged marriage vows. The Reverend Dave P. Dabria officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Britt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Britt and Mr. Hall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo H. Hal of Mexico, Missouri. Serving as altar boys were David and Pat Norman.

White gladioli were used in four large altar arrangements against a background of green fern. Two on the main altar and one on either side of the altar. White satin bows marked the pews for the family.

Mrs. Sam Lasuzzo, who accompanied soloist, J. M. McBeth, played a program of traditional pre-nuptial music.

BY FATHER

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a wedding dress of bouquet taffeta and imported Chantilly lace. The portrait neckline and tiny sleeves of lace adorned the taut bodice. The full skirt of taffeta with garlands of lace sprinkled with sequins lifted the hemline in front and swept to the back in a chapel train. Her tiara of imported silk organza glittered with rhinestones and held a short full veil over a long cathedral veil.

Mrs. Ronald C. Stratton, maid-of-honor, wore a shrimp color dress of silk organza with taffeta trim. The neckline had a crushed boat neck. A white picture hat with a silk organza bow was worn. The bouquet was kissing rings of shrimp satin, filled with matching net and satin puffs and picardy gladioli florets and streamers. Wrist length white gloves completed her ensemble.

BRIDESMAIDS

The bridesmaids were Miss Dianne Wilson of Knoxville, Tennessee; Miss Anna Marie Danna and Miss Dorothy Garrett. They wore identical dresses to the maid-of-honor.

Awaiting at the altar, was the bridegroom with his best man, Howard Hall of Mexico, Missouri. Ushers were Dwight Simpson, Fred Hassen, both of Mexico, Missouri, and Ira Phillips.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Britt, wore a light blue lace dress with matching accessories and a white feather hat. The groom's mother, Mrs. Hall, wore a dark blue sheath dress and ebony accessories. They both wore pink cymbidium orchids.

RECEPTION

The reception in the Mirror Room of the Frances Hotel was held immediately after the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with white lace. Placed in the center of the table in a crystal bowl, was a massive arrangement of white candy tuft, pompom chrysanthemums, and valley lilies. In the midst of this, a bridge and groom were placed On either side of this arrangement were burning tapers in silver candelabra. On one end of the table a tiered wedding cake was placed, a bride and groom were placed on top of this. A crystal punch bowl stood on the other end.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a suit of pink embossed cotton. It held soft gathers in the back coming from an insert yoke. A tiny peter pan collar and pearl buttons finished the trimming. Her straw hat and other accessories were white. She wore the orchid from her bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Kansas City, Missouri.

Miss Gunnell John D. Taylor Will Wed

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gunnell, of Almyra, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nancy Marie, to John Deal Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Taylor, of Crossett. MRS. DAVID GRAFTON LONG

Long-Banks Vows Said In Chapel Rites

Wesley Chapel at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston was chosen for the wedding on June 4 at 8:00 p.m. of Miss Lucy Rose Banks and David Grafton Long of Lake Charles. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy Banks of Sterlington. Rev. W. M. Stokes performed the rites before a tall basket of Calla lilies and two palm trees, this was flanked by tall candelabra of lighted tapers. Miss Grave Rene at the organ accomplished Miss Jerlyn Shipp, soloist.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a gown of white peau de soie applicated with re imbroiderer lace. The empire bodice was fashioned with a scooped neckline and sleeves which formed lily points over her hands. The skirt with fulness in the back swept to a wide chapel train. Her tiered veil of French illusion was caught to a full crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and valley lilies centered with a large white orchid.

Miss Patricia Nell Smith, maid of honor was dressed in a green brocaded taffeta which had an uneven hem which swept to the floor in the back. Her bandeau was of French white feathers and she carried a bouquet of white calla lilies. The bridesmaid, Mrs. Thomas Causey of Ruston was identically dressed.

The groom's father acted as his son's best man. Robert L. Guin of Kelly was groomsman and the ushers were Winston B. Campbell of Ruston, Charles L. Farrar of Huttig, Arkansas. The bride's mother wore a sheath of travel crepe embroidered in blue and silver. Her accessories were of matching shade. She wore a purple orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a sheath of pure silk linen which featured a large collar. With this she wore beige accessories and a purple orchid.

RECEPTION

The parlors of the Chapel were used for the reception. The bride's table was covered a cutwork linen cloth, a punch bowl stood at one end and a tiered wedding cake at the other. The bride's bouquet centered the table and the bridesmaid's bouquets formed the mantel decorations. Serving punch Miss Lola Banks of Columbia and serving cake was Mrs. Beulah Lindsey of Bernice. Mrs. Winston B. Cambell of Ruston asked guests to sign the bride's book. A wedding trip was taken to the Gulf Coast. For traveling the bride chose a blue silk shantung dress with matching shade for her hat and black accessories. She wore the orchid from her corsage. The couple will be at home in Ruston this summer and in the fall they will reside in Fayetteville, Arkansas.

Dawkins-Roan Wedding Vows Are Pledged

The First Baptist Church of Farmerville, was the scene Saturday evening, June 6, at 7:00 o'clock for the wedding of Miss Billie Jean Roan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey William Roan and Robert Glen Dawkins, son of Judge and Mrs. James Robert Dawkins, all of Farmerville. The impressive double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Eugene P. Langford, of Pineville, a brother-in-law of the groom.

The couple exchanged their vows in a setting of white mums and stock, woodwardia fern and Southern Ivy with white cathedral tapers in floor length wrought iron candelabra. The family pews were marked with pastel bouquets of tinted asters tied with white satin bows and white tapers marked the length of the aisle.

Miss Bertie Jean Ludwig at the organ presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Harold Bassett, cousin of the groom, who sang "Love's Happiness" and "The Wedding Prayer".

The candles were lighted by Charles Walter Salley of Shreveport, and Kermit Mickey Simmons of Dodson and Miss Sue Ellen Ludwig, cousin of the bride, and Jim Landford, nephew of the groom.

Guests were escorted to their seats by Charles Walter Salley of Shreveport, Kermit M. Simmons of Dodson; Harold Bassett of Ruston; Floyd E. Ham of Monroe; Royce Dean Elkins of New Orleans and Wayburne Kelley Farrar of Monroe. Rikki Roan Black, nephew of the bride was ring bearer. Best man was Donald Eugene Baxter of Baton Rouge.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of crystal taffeta. The moulded bodice featured a portrait neckline and brief sleeves and was appliqued with imported hand-run Alencon lace encrusted with seed pearls and irredecent sequins. It was fastened down the back with tiny self-covered buttons and appliques of lace embellished the bouffant skirt which was chapel length. The shoulder length veil of French illusion was held in place by a tiara of matching seed pearls and sequins. She wore short white crushed satin gloves and carried a small white Bible surmounted with a white, purple throated orchid nested in stephonatis and English Ivy from which cascaded streamers of white satin ribbon.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Lonnis Black, Jr., sister of the bride, was gowned in a Romance blue silk organza over taffeta with picture hat in same shade. She wore matching blue satin slippers and carried a bouquet of painted asters in shades of blue. Bridesmaids were Miss Lydia Hall and Miss Joe Ellen Talley wearing pink silk organza over matching taffeta, Miss Mitzi Baughaman and Miss Nancy May Lee wearing mint green silk organza over matching taffeta and Miss Linda Kay Allen and Mrs. Lemar Haddox of Oak Grove, wearing daffodil yellow silk organza over matching taffeta. They all wore identically styled gowns of Schiffi silk organza with taunt bodices and bouffant skirts which were accented by large flat bows in the back. Their head pieces were picture hats in matching shades. Slippers in satin were of the same shades. They wore white short gloves and carried sheath bouquets of asters dyed to match their dresses.

MRS. ROBERT GLEN DAWKINS

Immediately preceding the bride was Mary Ruth Howell of Russelleville, Arkansas, a cousin of the groom. Her dress was of pale blue silk organza and made almost identical to those of the bridesmaids. She carried a dainty white basket of white rose petals.

RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. Roan were hosts at the ensuing reception in the church parlor which was decorated with white specimen mum and stock.

Mrs. Roan chose for the occasion a venetian blue sheath gown of lace over taffeta which was designed with an enhancing, beautiful shoulder framing cape collar. She wore matching accessories and her corsage was of white glamellias. Mrs. Dawkins wore a full-skirted mauve chiffon with bodice of lace scooped neckline accented with a softly crused fold of chiffon cummerband of chiffon and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore matching accessories and her corsage was Fuschia roses. They received with the bridal attendants. The focal point of the reception room was the brides table draped in tulle over white satin and caught up at intervals with rose-gays of palest pink sweetheart roses. At one end of the table was the tiered confection done in antique white icing and adorned with white roses, lilies of the valley and a trace of greenery. Each tier was supported by Grecian colonades and held ornamentel porcelain love birds. The bride's bouquet was laid in front of the silver punch service near a pair of silver candelabra of burning white tapers. Miss Jo Ann Oden served punch and Miss Eddye Joe Meeks served the cake. Others assisting in serving were Mrs. W. C. McMurrian, Mrs. Horace Nolan and Mrs. Metz Tugwell. Miss Gay Gillum invited the guests to sign the register, placed on a white satin covered table, a replica of the bride's table.

For the wedding trip the bride changed to an Irish linen two piece dress of champagne with matching accessories and the orchid from her bridal boquet.

Upon their return from their honey moon in New Orleans and Florida the young couple will be at home in Farmerville. Mrs. Dawkins was graduated from Farmerville High School and Norton's Business College in Shreveport. Mr. Dawkins was graduated from Farmerville and attended Louisiana Polytechnic in Ruston and attained his degree in law from Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge.

MRS. WILLIAM T. DENSON, the former Charlotte Hymer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hymer, Greggton, Texas, formerly of this city. Mrs. Denson is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Roberts of West Monroe. Mr. Denson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse K. Denson of Gallatin, Texas. The couple exchanged vows in an impressive ceremony solemnized Friday, June fifth, at Rosewood Baptist Church, Gilmer, Texas. After a wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains Mr. and Mrs. Denson will be at home at Bettie, Texas.

Wedding Held Of Miss Hymer W. T. Denson

The Rosewood Baptist Church, Gilmer, Texas was the scene of the marriage ceremony Friday, June the fifth, at eight o'clock in the evening when Miss Charlotte Hymer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hymer, Greggton, Texas, was married to William T. Denson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse K. Denson of Gallatin, Texas. The double-ring rites were read by Elder Carl Acker.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. J. S. Denson, pianist, and accompaniment Miss Gloria Gentry who sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly".

The altar area was closed in by low Plumosus fern plants and East Texas smilax. Placed at intervals throughout the altar area were hand-woven white baskets filled with white gladioli, chrysanthemums and polished leaves. Used in crescent-effect were seven branched wrought iron candelabra holding white candles. Family pews were marked with clusters of white carnations and white ribbons.

The bride was attended by Mrs. William C. Martin, matron of honor; bridesmaids were Miss Linda Hymer and Miss Cynthia Roberts.

The bridegroom was attended by Robert Davis, best man; ushers were Scotty Denson, brother of the bridegroom and William C. Martin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a Maurer original wedding gown fashioned of Chantilly lace and magnolia white peau de soie. The gown was styled with elongated bodice, sabrina neckline edged with tiny seed pearls, and long fitted sleeves terminating in points over the hands. The lace bodice was scalloped onto the graceful floor-length skirt of peau de soie designed with wide panels of lace, and extended into a chapel length train edged with lace medallions. The skirt was sprinkled with lace medallions and seed pearls. Her veil of white illusion fell in tiers from a coronet of rhinestone and seed pearls.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Johnson, aunt of the bride. The reception area was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, gardenias, and Shasta daisies. The registration table, overlaid with a cloth of white lace was graced by a miniature bride's bouquet formed of white carnations and candytuft. Bonnie Sue Hymer presided at the registration table. The bride's table was overlaid with a floor-length cloth of white French net over taffeta and garlanded with satin ribbons caught with nosegays of blue daisies. Centering the table was an antique cut-glass container filled with a butterfly arrangement of white carnations, candytuft and blue stock. Crystal candleholders with blue tapers graced the table at either end. Mrs. H. T. French presided at the tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. Miss Cecile Ragland served fresh fruit punch from a crystal punch bowl wreathed in blue and white flowers.

The bride was graduated from Pine Tree High School; the bridegroom graduated from Union Hill High School and Kilgore College.

The couple left for a wedding trip to the Smokey Mountains. The couple will be at home in Bettie, Texas.

Out-of-town guests were present from Monroe and Minden, Austin, Sherman, Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, Jacksonville, Corpus Christi, Beaumont, Tyler, and Longview, Texas; Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Indianapolis, Indiana; and Shreveport, Louisiana.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD LAMAR BOUTWELL

Singleton-Sturdivant Wedding Held

A double ring ceremony was held in the Claiborne Methodist Church on June 6 at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon uniting in marriage Miss Frankie Sharon Sturdivant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leon Sturdivant of West Monroe to Lester Eugene Singleton of Shreveport. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Perry Singleton of Collingston.

The Reverend T. A. Brown performed the ceremony in a setting of low baskets of white gladioli. White tapers burned in branched candelabra. Rendering music during the ceremony was Miss Margaret Robinson who accompanied Wade Brown, soloist, who sang "Always", "Whither Thou Goest", and The Lord's Prayer".

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a bridal gown of imported azure silk organza over taffeta. The bodice had a square neckline with embroidered medallions that gave an empire effect with a bouffant skirt softly gathered to patio length. Her tiara was of pearl studded satin to which was attached a short veil of illusion. She wore short lace gloves and carried a cascade arrangement of stephanotis and white chrysanthemums with forget-me-nots atop a white Bible. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Mrs. Ginger Robinson, matron of honor, wore pink silk embroidered organza. Her head dress was made of irridescent taffeta leaves and she wore tinted shoes to match.

RECEPTION

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the reception room of the church. A linen cutwork cloth over pink satin covered the table. The central decor was of pink and white chrysanthemums. On one end was a tiered wedding cake and between its columns were pink roses. This was served by Mrs. Tom Dillon, on the other end a crystal punch bowl stood, Miss Jean Wallace and Miss Gail Carnes alternated.

Mrs. Ted Sturdivant asked guests to register in the guest book. Others assisting were Mrs. Marie Wallace and Mrs. A. A. Wallace.

A wedding trip will be made to California.

The bride is a graduate of West Monroe High School and spent two years at North Louisiana State College. The groom graduated from Bastrop High School and is a graduate of Louisiana Tech. at Ruston.

The couple will make their home in Shreveport.

Out of town guest were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Singleton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Vallery Rains, Bastrop Rev. H. Holland, Collinston; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dillon, Bonita; Mr. and Mrs. Buster Lucas, Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Ashley and Jerry, and Mrs. H. C. Copass, Port Gibson, Mississippi; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Thornton and children, Vicksburg; Mr. and Mrs. James D. Stewart and Melissa Ann, and Miss Marsha Lynn Stewart, Houston, Texas; Mrs. Roy Sturdivant, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jerome, Baton Rouge.

REHEARSAL SUPPER

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Singleton, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Carver were hosts at dinner last Friday night in the latter's home on McCain Drive.

A color scheme of pink and white was used throughout the house. A buffet style dinner was served to the following guests: Miss Frankie Sturdivant and Mr. Lester Singleton, Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Brown and Wade, Mrs. Marie Wallace and Mike, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Robinson, Miss Margaret Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sturdivant and Freddie, and Miss Gail Carver.

Miss Rushing J. R. Boutwell, Pledge Troth

The First Baptist Church in Lake Providence was the setting on June 1st for the wedding of Miss Betty Ann Rushing and Richard Lamar Boutwell. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rushing of Lake Providence and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Boutwell of Oak Grove.

The Rev. J. B. Grey officiated at 7:30 p.m. for the double ring ceremony. The altar decorations were of white stock and gladioli with fern in white baskets. Two floor standard candelabra of burning tapers were placed in the background.

Miss Elaine Knight presented the nuptial music. Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, L. J. Cutrera of Patterson the bride's dress was designed of Chantilly lace with a scooped neckline; a sleeveless bodice with embroidered cumberbund fashioned with a full skirt over net and taffeta of waltz length, a matching lace bolero was worn over this. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell to a point in the back from a leaf design half crown. Her bouquet was of feathered carnations, and stephanotis centered with a purple throated orchid on her white Prayer Book.

The maid of honor, Miss Lottie Kathryn Rushing, sister of the bride was a pastel blue all over embroidered polished cotton sheath with a chiffon overskirt. Her accessories were white and her bandeau was of tiny white flowers. She carried a pink carnation bouquet. Brenda Ann Cutrera of Patterson was flower girl.

Hollis Guy Wacter of Oak Grove served as best man. Ushers were Carol J. Vinning of Patterson and John Metris Bell of Monroe.

Bridal table in dining area was covered with pastel pink cloth overlaid with white lace, centered with a low arrangement of pink-striped white lilies. On one end of table was a tiered wedding cake decorated with pink flowers and green leaves, topped with a minature bride and groom. On the other end of the table an early American crystal punch bowl of pink punch and green sherbet was presided over by Mrs. George Gowan where she also served from the table individual cakes, assorted mints and nuts, sandwiches and the bridal cake. The bride placed her bouquet at the base of the tiered cake.

BUSINESS AND BLUE LAWS

NEW YORK (AP) — Controversies over enforcement of Sunday blue laws are battles "principally fought among business competitors" and not generally on religious grounds, says The Lutheran, official weekly of the United Lutheran Church.

On Dit'

by Denise

Vacations are the thing. In spite of the growing popularity of taking time off in other seasons, summer is still the time most favored in these parts.

One group took a vacation into another season, touring into the Northewst and Canada, where they met glaciers and snowstorms. MRS. A.B. BATES of West Monroe was driver of the car that made seven thousand miles in three weeks. Others in the party were MRS. V. S. GARNETT, MRS. J. W. GOLSON, and her sister, MRS. MINNIE LANDRUM of Alexandria. They visited the Badlands of the Dakotas, and went on into Canada to Banff, Lake Louise, and Vancouver. They came back down the West Coast, with stops at San Francisco, Yosemite, and Los Angeles. On the way east, they went down into Mexico.

The PAUL GOLDMANS left Wednesday by air and landed in Madrid, Spain, Thursday morning. They are visiting their son, PHILIP GOLDMAN, who is stationed abroad with the armed forces, and will be gone about three weeks.

The JAMES SPARKS and their son TOMMY are leaving today for Europe. They will sail tomorrow from New York on the Liberte. During the month they will be gone they plan to visit France, Luxembourg, Germany, Holland, Denmark, and England.

Due home today are LOU and GEORGE LEWIS and their children, RANDY, GLORIA, and DICKIE. They have been gone for two weeks, visiting relatives in Pennsylvania and in Ocean City, New Jersey.

The JAMES A. NOES returned last week from a trip to New Orleans, where they bid bon voyage to the HUGH CARTER LAINES. The Laines went from New Orleans to Washington, where they were honored at a dinner party given by ANNA CHENNAULT, and thence to New York. They sailed for Europe on the Niew Amsterdam, and will be gone for two months. . .Next week the Noes will go to Dallas for a farewell visit with another daughter and son-in-law, the GORDON M'LENDONS. The McClendons and their four children are leaving soon for two months in Hawaii.

Guest of the DONIEL WEILS this week has been MRS. SYDNEY SCHOCHET of Manitowoc, Wisconsin. Mrs. Schochet is en route to New Orleans to visit her son, a student at Tulane Medical school.

Leaving this week for a leisurely trip up the East Coast were MABEL S. LIPPMIN, her grandson, MAC RUSSELL, and the W. N. THOMPSONS OF Shreveport They plan to be gone a month, with stopovers in Williamsburg, Virginia, Washington, and Quebec, and a week in New York.

MRS. JOHN D. ROBERTSON of Kansas City and her daughters, SHARON and DEBORAH, are the guests of her mother, MRS. HUGH W. Davis. The group spent several days in New Orleans this week. The Robertsons will be here another week.

The ARTHUR SMITHS and their son ART are leaving this week for a ten day trip to French Lick, Indiana. Making the trip with them will be Syndie's mother, MRS. S. E. CALONGIE of Baton Rouge.

FANNIE LOU HALE, FRANCES ADCOCK, and JAN ADCOCK left Thursday for Birmingham, Alabama. They took Fannie Lou's daughter, ELLEN FERGUSON, to Anniston, where she boarded a train for Washington, D.C. She will spend the balance of the summer with relatives in Washington, and in Connecticut.

The DICKIE GUERRIEROS are back from a five day trip to Panama City, Florida, and are getting settled in their new home in the Garnier apartments. Dickie's grandmother, MRS. V. A. CLEGG of DeQuincy, has been the guest of the HENRY GUERRIEROS this week.

For a vacation right around home, consider the possibilities of Monroe's river. Last Saturday the BETRO M'RANEYS and the BUDDY TOLSONS were hosts at a boating party on the Ouachita. The group went up the river in the afternoon and did some swimming, water skiing, and motor boating before supper. After dark a barbecue supper of chicken, beans, and Cole slaw was served to the twenty-two guests. Out of town visitors at this party were Peggy Tolson's sister and brother-in-law, the ROBERT MALLOYS of Tyler, Texas, who were guests of the Tolsons for the weekend.

Another favorite type of party during the month of June is the bridal tea. LIL BECKER was hostess Saturday at a tea honoring MARGARET WEBB of Tallulah, bride-elect of Monroe's own JIMMY GUERREIRO.

It was a "pink tea" with the color carried out in all the decorations and appointments. Lil used a pink linen cloth with insertions of Swiss lace on the refreshment table. Pink hydrangeas were used with dwarf gardenias and pink tapers in the three-tiered milk glass centerpiece.

Pink roses and white gladiolas filled the milk glass compote on the buffet. Pink punch was served from the antique cut glass punch bowl which had belonged to the grandmother of the groom-elect. MARY GUERRIERO and JUANITA GUERRIERO served the punch. . .WILMA GUERRIERO and MARION GUERRIEO alternated at the silver coffee service at the other end of the table.

Among the guests we noted DOROTHY ANN WEBB of Tallulah in an all-green outfit with a wide green hat. . . . EDELL GUERRIERO in a tall crowned white sailor hat wrapped with pink maline. . . BLANCHE MAXWELL in all pink. . .JEWEL RIVERS in white embossed cotton trimmed with Irish lace . . . MARY BELLAN in pink with hydrangeas on her hat. . .Others who assisted in the courtesies of the afternoon were HELEN EDWARDS, BEVERLY JOHNSON, MARIE WILDS, SARA ELLEN BOTTORF, JOANN USSERY, and RONNIE WILDS.

The DAVE ARONS entertained last night in honor of the SLADE BROWNS and the JOE POWELLS, who are leaving Monroe soon for Orange, Texas. Trudy used gladiolas and shasta daisies for decorations throughout the house. Yellow gladiolas were the centerpiece for the buffet table. Served from the buffet were lobster mousse, chicken a la king in patty shells, a cold meat platter, and assorted hors d'oeurves. Twenty couples, close friends of the honorees, attended.

Members of the Patio and the Town and Country garden clubs got together and invited their husbands to a party Friday night. The home of the JIMMY MOORES was the scene for the dance on the patio. The dance floor was ringed with Japanese lanterns, in keeping with the Oriental theme of the decorations. Gardenias floated in the garden pool, and gardenias and magnolias were used with an Oriental figurine as centerpiece for the refreshment table. MAXINE BOARDMAN and TEEDEE DIXON were in charge of the party, which was attended by about eighty guests.

Alas for the player who idly depends
In the struggle for life upon kindred or friends;
Whatever the value of blessings like these,
They can never atone for inglorious ease,
Nor comfort the coward who finds with a groan
That the winner is he who can go it alone!
There's something, no doubt, in the hand you may hold:
Health, family, culture, wit, beauty, and gold
The fortunate owner may fairly regard
As, each in its way, a most excellent card;
Yet the game may be lost with all these for your own,
Unless you've the courage to go it alone
In battle or business, whatever the game,
In law or in love, it is ever the same;
In the struggle for power, or the scramble for pelf,
Let this be your motto — rely on yourself!
For whether the prize be a ribbon or throne,
The victor is he who can go it alone!

HE GIVES A REASON

Stradley plans to stage "Alley of the Sunset," and gives his reason:

"The chances of bringing off what I'm after theatre-wise are better if I control the reins.

"I find I can get more headaches as an innocent bystander than I ever get when I'm calling the shots and taking the responsibility."

Beds Go High Style

One of the exciting bedroom innocations introduced recently is the bed headboard that may be hung on the wall like a mirror or giant painting.

IN A CEREMONY AT ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC CHURCH on Saturday, June 13, Miss Mona Lee Ticheli became the bride of Henry Harvey Alderman. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ticheli of this City and he is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Carr of Quitman. The marriage took place at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon with the Reverend Dennis Curren officiating.

Miss Ticheli H. H. Alderman Wed Saturday

In a 2:30 p.m. ceremony Saturday, June 13, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Reverend Dennis Curren united Mona Ticheli and Henry Alderman in the sacrement of matrimony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length bouffant gown of chrystaline taffeta over scalloped Chantilly lace which fell into a chapel train. The soft tucked bodice had a scooped neckline trimmed in Chantilly lace. Her veil of illusion was held by a pearl embroidered crown. Tube roses centered with a white orchid formed her bridal bouquet. She wore a single strand of pearls her only ornament.

SISTER

The bride's sister, Mrs. Frank Jungina served as maid of honor. Other bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Bryan of Shreveport, Miss Mona Jo Tuminello of Camden, Arkansas, and Miss Marilyn Aulds of Hodge. Their dresses were of Swiss imported organdy over white taffeta and a yellow cumberbund which extended to the length of the dress. The headdress consisted of a band with a yellow taffeta bow. Their bouquets were of yellow carnations. The flower girl, Dianne Ticheli, wore a dress identical to the bridesmaids.

The groom's brother - in - law, Jerry Baker of Shreveport served as best man. Frank Jungina and Tony Ticheli and Steve Philips of Quitman were the groomsmen. Freddie Sweet served as ring bearer. Ushering the guests were Raymond Sweet and E. A. Terry.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in St. Joseph's Hall. The bride's table was covered with a white cutlace cloth. An arrangement of white gladioli centered the table and this was flanked by silver candelabra. A silver English punch bowl was presided over by Miss Carolyn Kayser of Shreveport. Mrs. Frank Tuminello of Camden, Arkansas, and Mrs. Harry Sims of Hot Springs, Arkansas served the tiered cake. Miss Maurine Carr of Quitman invited the guests to sign the guest book.

A wedding trip was made to Galveston, Texas. They will make their home in Shreveport. The bride is the granddaughter of T. P. Ticheli and the late Mona Ticheli, is a graduate of St. Matthew's High School and Northeast Louisiana State College.

The groom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Carr of Quitman and he is a graduate of Quitman High School.

Miss Altick Is Bride Of George Robert Pain

The St. Matthews Catholic Church was the setting on Saturday, June 13, for the wedding of Miss Marianna Elizabeth Altick to Ensign George Robert Pain of Lancaster, Texas. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Altick of Glenmar Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Pain of Lancaster, Texas.

The bride given in marriage by her father, Daniel Anthony Altick, looked radiant in a waltz lenght wedding gown of white organza and chantilly lace. Her white tulle veil had chantilly lace trim. She carried a large white orchid on her white prayer book.

Mrs. Thomas DeLee McDonald, matron-of-honor, wore an aqua organza with full skirt, a matching aqua headdress held a crisp aqua nose length veil. Her corsage was of white baby chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Daniel Anthony Altick, Jr., bridesmaid, wore an identical dress to the matron-of-honor.

Thomas Chessnut served as best man and groomsman was James Arthur Altick. Ushers were Daniel Anthony Altick, Jr., and Thomas DeLee McDonald.

Mrs. Altick, the bride's mother, was becomingly dressed in a bone colored linen dress with lace insets. White accessories and a corsage of white roses completed her ensemble. Mrs. Pain chose for her son's wedding a beige eyelet embroidered dress with matching accessories and her corsage was of white roses.

RECEPTION

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the bride's home on Glenmar Avenue. White flowers were used in the flower arrangements. The bride's table held a cut work cloth over pink. A crystal punch bowl was placed on one end of the table and on the other was placed the bride's cake. A three tiered flower arrangement of white pom - pom chrysanthemums and candy tuft formed the centerpiece. Miss Louise Ormond Grey cut and served the cake and Mrs. Carrol Jospeh Haydel served at the Bride's book.

Mrs. F. J. Altick and Mrs. J. S. McCreary assisted in serving.

The bride attended Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, for two years and was graduated from L.S.U. in May. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority.

The groom received a degree in commerce from University of Texas and has completed one year of law school.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Hebert, New Iberia; Mrs. C. J. Haydel, Baton Rouge; Mrs. J. S. McCreary, El Paso, Texas; Mrs. E. O. Severin, Ft. Worth, Texas; Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Altick, Dallas, Texas; Miss Ann Hamilton, Shreveport; Miss Mary Ruth Hoff, McAllen, Texas; and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Altick, Jr., from Dallas, Texas.

Garden Club Features A Placement Show

The College Heights Garden Club ended its year with a placement show at the home of Mrs. W. W. Stevens. Members were assigned specific places about the house for each arrangement. After all arrangements were placed and all members and guests present, Mrs. Max Kulcke analyzed each placement. She pointed out that an arrangement should harmonize with its surroundings in color and materials. Her comments as she moved from room to room proved to be a virtual lesson in flower arranging for those present. Mrs. Kulcke complimented The College Heights Garden Club on its fine show and the large number of very good arrangements.

Guests present were Mrs. W. B. Mann, Mrs. J. E. Braley, and Mrs. W. W. Hathorn. Members present were Mrs. M. L. Johnson, Mrs. J. V. Jones, Mrs. H. W. Morton, Mrs. John Reitzell, Mrs. E. M. Baber, Mrs. C. E. Pickering, Mrs. John Tolar, Mrs. Wayne Warren, Mrs. Jesse Gilstrap, Mrs. John Keller, Jr., Mrs. Paul Keller, Jr., Mrs. Leo Montgomery, Mrs. H. F. Shepard, Mrs. E. L. Harrison, Mrs. W. M. Love, and Mrs. E. C. Rowan.

Miss Hibbard Becomes Bride Of H. L. Temple

The Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, of West Monroe, was the scene on Saturday afternoon, June sixth, at two o'clock of the marriage of Miss Rose Yvonne Hibbard, daughter of Mrs. Ruby Hibbard, and the late J. I. Hibbard, and Herber Leslie Temple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Temple of Marshal, Texas.

The Rev. A. T. Mitchell, officiated in the double-ring ceremony marked with beautiful solemnity and dignity.

White bridal gladioli and greenery graced the base of the arch foming the altar, with the prayer bench in the center.

Miss Sue Weir played the nuptial music. Guests were escorted to their places by Bill Pierson and Jack Norman Humphries.

Miss Weir accompanied the soloist, Miss Molly May, who sang "Because", "O Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer".

Serving the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Martha Jo Hibbard, and bridesmaid was Miss Martha Robinson. Miss Hibbard wore yellow antique taffeta, and Miss Robinson wore blue. Their head-pieces were of matching lace, and they carried bouquets of glamelias and carnations caught with pastel ribbons.

Serving the groom as best man was John Nipper.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her brother-in-law, Billy Frantom, wore a wedding gown of silk organza over bridal taffeta. The flowing skirt was attached to a fitted bodice, with a cumberbund caught in the back with a billowy bow of self material. Her veil was caught to a matching headpiece and she carried a white Bible surmounted with a white orchid fringed with feathered white carnations. She wore the traditional something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue, with a penny in her shoe for luck.

RECEPTION

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the educational building of the church where the bride and groom, together with the bride's mother and the groom's parents, received in the foyer.

The bride's mother chose pink embroidered linen with matching accessories, while the bridegroom's mother wore biege with biege accessories. They both wore corsages of feathered white carnations.

At one end was the tiered wedding confection, and at the opposite end, the clear glass punch bowl was placed. Pink and white mints were in an antique pressed glass footed dish. Additional cake was served from silver galery trays with antique silver cake tongs.

At the far end of the hall, a table adorned with an antique silver eperge held gardenias, and it was here that the young couple signed their marriage certificate.

Miss Elaine Primm registered the guests.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Nipper, Mrs. Juanita Twynman, Mrs. P. T. Nipper, all of Texarkanna, Texas; Larry Gates and Lolita Cotton of Shreveport; Mrs. Carl Turpin, of Bastrop; Mr. Bill Pierson, Natchitoches; Mrs. Bill Mayes, Mrs. Johnny Ross, Bill Ross and Bill Heinaman, al of Baton Rouge.

ANNOUNCING THE ENGAGEMENT and approaching marriage today of their daughter, Melba Jane Holcomb, are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Holcomb to Loren Glenn Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Fleming. All are of West Monroe. An early July wedding is planned in the First Methodist Church in West Monroe. The Reverend Mr. Emmerich will officiate.

Church Ceremony Unites Dorothy Lou Johnson Joseph Nolan Harvey

On June 13 in St. Luke's Methodist Church in Oklahoma City at 8 p.m. Miss Dorothy Lou Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joseph Johnson Jr. of Oklahoma City, became the bride of Joseph Noland Harvey III, son of Mrs. Joseph Noland Harvey Jr. and the late Mr. Harvey of this City.

Dr. William McFerrin Stone performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of white gladioli and majestic daisies with an emerald green palm background, among these were branched candelabra of burning tapers.

Mrs. Everett Curtis at the organ accompanied soloist, Cecil Lapo who sang "O Lord Most Holy", "Oh, Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer". The traditional wedding recessional and processional were played.

THE BRIDE

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a French Chantilly - type lace and pleated tulle gown over bridal satin. The fitted bodice had a row of buttons down the back, long pointed lace sleeves and a sabrina neckline accented with irridescents. The bouffant skirt was of lace with pleated tulle accenting the front. It flowed into a chapel train. A blush veil of the same material was held in place by a tiara encrusted with seed pearls. The bride carried a lace handkerchief which her mother carried at her wedding and in her shoe was placed a coin which was given her at birth by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Joseph Johnson of Berwick.

The maid of honor, Miss Diane Edmund of Oklahoma City was wearing an Alice blue chiffon over taffeta with a fitted bodice, shirred sleeves, a cowl neckline and a shirred cumberbund. Matching slippers and a headdress of velveteen and chiffon leaves completed her attire. She carried a white lace fan with pale blue pom pom mums. Wearing identical gowns were the bridesmaids: Miss Janice Buck, Oklahoma City: Miss Judy Patterson, Oklahoma City and Miss Martha Booth, a cousin of the bride from Baton Rouge. Junior bridesmaid was Kathy Waugh of Oklahoma City.

Mr. Harvey's best man was Thomas Joseph Johnson III, a brother of the bride of Oklahoma City, and the groomsmen were Paul Harvey, brother of the groom, and Wade William, both of Monroe and from Oklahoma City, Clayton Nichols and Bruce Browen.

Mrs. Johnson chose for her daughter's wedding a blue silk organza and lace with matching accessories and a small flower hat. Toast colored cymbidium orchids formed her corsage. Mrs. Harvey, the groom's mother chose an embroidered pink silk organza with a pink sequin hat, pink slippers and long white kid gloves. Her corsage was of Hybrid Orchids.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Baskets of white gladioli and greenery were used in the reception rooms. The bride's table covered in white nylon net over white satin had as a central arrangement a silver bowl of white carnations. White candles in silver candelabra flanked this. A silver punch bowl stood on one end of the table while on the other was the tiered wedding cake, topped with a bride and groom. The guest book table held a single candle in a silver holder surrounded by white carnations and fern. Miss Carey Sue Turner, formerly of Monroe and now of Oklahoma City presided over the guest book. Others assisting were Miss Pat Jackson, Miss Anna Bess Stewart, Miss Martha Matthews, Miss Linda Blackwood and Miss Janice Novack all of Oklahoma City.

For the wedding trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the bride chose a French blue silk suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The bride graduated from Putnam City High School in Oklahoma, City and just completed her freshman year at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, Okla. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority, Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary scholastic sorority for freshmen women at the University.

The groom attended Sewanee Military Academy, L.S.U. and graduated from Northeast Louisiana State College. The couple will make their home in Monroe and Mr. Harvey will teach in the West Monroe High School.

Mrs. Harvey, entertained with a rehearsal supper at the Lake View Country Club in Oklahoma City on Friday evening prior to the wedding on Saturday.

MR. AND MRS. G. M. STEWART of Jones announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gracie Faye, to Eddie McKnight Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McKnight of Holly Ridge. The wedding vows will be exchanged at the Faith Baptist Church in Monroe on June 25 with Rev. Willie Woodard officiating.

'Give Kitchen Facial' - Theme Woodlawn HDC

"Give Your Kitchen A Facial" was the title of the demonstration presented by Mrs. Albert Kilpatrick to the Woodlawn HDC as fourteen members met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Bush, with Mrs. Fred Lovelady and Mrs. Gerald Morehead serving as hostesses.

"Your kitchen is where you spend about one third of your time" stated Mrs. Kilpatrick, "also some of your most valuable pieces of equipment are in your kitchen. To keep it sanitary, attractive, and to make it last a long time, it must be properly cleaned." The leader then listed materials needed for proper cleaning and showed proper cleaning procedures.

Mrs. Wallace Snowden, Family Life Leader, discussed ways of "childproofing" your home by keeping matches out of reach of little ones, also medicines and poisonous household cleaners, as well as any tiny articles used by the homemaker. Remove doors of unused refrigerators, keep appliance cords out of reach, and have a lock on the bathroom door so that the door may be opened from outside even though it may be locked from inside.

Mrs. Truman Wright, president, read this thought for the day, "Don't play for safety. It's the most dangerous thing in the world." Mrs. J. E. Rutledge led the pledge to the American Flag, and Mrs. Kilpatrick led the group in singing "America". The Club Collect was repeated in unison.

Delicious refreshments were served amid the setting of orange and yellow canna blooms, brown day lilies, and white jasmine to Mesdames: Harvie Eady, Doyle Raborn, Wallace Snowden, Truman Wright, Maxine Brown, Maxwell Brown, Donald Bonnette, J. E. Rutledge, G. E. Turledge, C. A. Hollingsworth, Willie Smith, Ernie Frith, John Bush, Albert Kilpatrick, and Keith Cobb.

July meeting will be with Mrs. J. E. Rutledge, with Mrs. G. E. Rutledge as cohostess, Friday, July 3, at 2 p.m.

MISS DONNA LANG

Miss Lang T. H. Jackson Will Wed

Miss Donna June Lang of Winnsboro will become the bride of Tommy Hayes Jackson of Baton Rouge on August 1st at 5:00 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Winnsboro. The announcement is made today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Collins Loyd Lang of Winnsboro. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Jackson of Baton Rouge. The Reverend C. B. Hall will officiate.

Miss Zoe Snyder will serve as maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Misses Anne Gueymard, Byron F. Nelson, Carol Ann Causey and Mrs. James McKemie.

Dennison R. Brown will serve as best man and the ushers will be Lewis Rieger, Jimmy McKemie, Tom Clowe and Robert N. Jackson. Her grandparents are Mrs. Louis George Heimback of Rayville and the late L. G. Heimback, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loyd Lang of Winnsboro. The bride is a graduate of Winnsboro High School and Louisiana State University. She is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and is past president of Lambda Inter - sorority.

He is a graduate of the University of Texas and is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He has completed three years in the U. S. Navy. He is a Lt. J.G. and will begin his second year in the L. S. U. school of law in September.

The couple will make their home in Baton Rouge.

Girl Scout News

Troop 53, made up of first year Intermediates at Lakeshore School, chose the week after the close of school for their overnight at Pine Wood. Accompanied by Mrs. W. A. Roche and Mrs. Jackie Martin, twelve girls went out early in the afternoon and returned to town before noon the next day.

The girls enjoyed cooking supper and sitting around a campfire out of doors, later going into the building for games and fun. The girls perfected the Shoe Game, one that is a favorite of Scouts. Afterward they practiced cleaning, filling, lighting a lamp and a lantern, a requirement on the Campcraft badge. Breadtwists for breakfast, the first the girls had ever cooked, were a real treat.

There are many worthwhile opportunities for youngsters in our cities during the summer. We know twenty-one girls who think they are having the most fun of anybody and certainly they are learning a lot. They are the girls who have been enrolled in a class in pottery for the past ten days. Fulfilling requirements for the Pottery badge, each girl has made a pinch pot, decorating it with a design of her own, a tile with an abstract design done with slip trailing, a bowl made by the coil method and decorated according to the girl's own idea, and a figure of some sort, everything completely original, of course, and every piece shaped by hand from a ball of clay. The girls have wedged clay, learned terms in pottery, visited a ceramic studio, mixed plaster for batts and one other requirements for the badge.

Four of the girls, Becky Middleton, Judy and Mickie Varnado, Brenda Hensley, were in last year's class. In addition to reviewing what they already knew, each has made a drape molded piece and has helped the less experienced girls. Judy is particularly fond of making figures and has made some fascinating dogs and a dragon.

Others enrolled in the class are: Linda Willard, Kay Anzalone, Kathleen Blau, Janna Rorex, Mary Tom Keller, Brenda Carso, Janet Kiper, Paula Meek, Brenda Carol Davidson, Cheryl Walker, Janet Hood, Kathy Jones, Donna King, Mary Jane Allen, Dotty Wood, Sandra Seale, and Leslie Leath.

Training at the office Wednesday morning for day camp counselors and program aides. A reminder to parents that registration procedure for first session of day camp closes Friday. Don't let it slip by and disappoint your child.

MR. AND MRS. J. SELLERS FREEMAN of Needham, Massachusetts, announce the engagment of their daughter, Katherine Jo, to James Cousar Dunlap Jr., son of Mrs. James C. Dunlap of Atlanta, Georgia and the late Mr. Dunlap. Miss Freeman is the granddaughter of J. G. Griffin of Monroe and Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Freeman of Shreveport, formerly of Monroe. Mr. Dunlap's grandparents are Mrs. Edgar Dunlap and C. F. Stone, both of Atlanta. The bride-elect received her BA degree in June from Agnes Scott College. Mr. Dunlap was graduated from Georgia Tech, member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. A summer wedding is planned.

Evening Ceremony Unites Miss Lee & Mr. Goodwin

Standardes of white stock with a background of candlelight were used in the Covenant Presbyterian Church on Saturday, June 6 at 6:30 in the evening when Miss Margaret Ann Lee and James Randall Goodwin of Baton Rouge pledged their troth. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Culbert Lee and he is the son of Mrs. Dan Frank Goodwin and the late Mr. Goodwin of Baton Rouge. White satin bows and white rosebuds marked the pews for the families. The Reverend Dan Frank Goodwin of Midland, Texas, officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by the Reverend Wayne Gray.

Bob Oldenburg at the organ presented the traditional music and accompanied Palmer Jarrell who sang, "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a princess style tissue silk taffeta gown with a Babrina neckline, the upper portion of the bodice was fashioned with hand clipped Chantilly lace, with the lace continuing into long sleeves that formed points over the hands, tiny self covered buttons reached up the sleeves to the elbow. Folds of taffeta were used to form the high empire bust line. The skirt was very full and extended into a chapel train. A bustle effect was formed in the back by a bow and folds of the taffeta. Her silk illusion finger tip veil was held in place by a small crown of pearls and lace. Her only jewelry was a gold bracelet with miniature wedding bells attached, a gift of the groom. Her bouquet of white roses, nestled in nylon maline was centered with a large white orchid.

Miss Lynn Zoll, a cousin of the bride was maid of honor. Her emerald green silk organza was sleeveless and had a shirred bodice with a bateau neckline. The dropped waist line was accented with a satin band encircling the dress with a satin bow in front. The full billowing skirt was pleated. Her head band and slippers were of emerald green. She carried a cluster of large white majestic daisies which fell into a soft cascade of the same daisies and native ivy. Wearing identical dresses the bridesmaids were Miss Jan Moore, a cousin of the bride; Miss Ann Choate, Helena, Arkansas; Miss Marguerite Smith Baton Rouge and Mrs. David Rosenbaum, Meridian, Mississippi. Their bouquets were the same as the maid of honor's.

Mr. Goodwin chose Elmer C. Atkinson, an uncle, to serve as his best man.

Groomsmen were Tommy Virgets, Baton Rouge; Lary Brooks, New Orleans; E. M. Clark, Chattanooga, Tennessee; Robert L. Pettit Jr. of Baton Rouge. The groomsmen served as ushers.

Mrs. Lee, the bride's mother, chose for her daughter's wedding an embroidered lace sheath over taffeta in a pastel green. A green chiffon band encircled the bodice and two floating chiffon panels fell in the back. Her accessories were of beige and she wore a corsage of beige Cymbidium Orchids.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Goodwin, chose a dress of bone embroidered silk organza over Peau de Soie with a matching cummerbund. Her accessories were a bone shade with this she wore a small flowered hat. Her Cymbidium orchid corsage was green.

RECEPTION

The receiving line was formed in the living room, which was beautifully decorated with arrangements of white stock in silver and crystal epergnes. The line was headed by Mrs. Lee, with Mrs. Goodwin, Mr. Lee, the bride and groom, the maid of honor and the bridesmaids. The guests were ushered into the garden, where refreshments were served. A table centered with a Memory Candle, that gave off a fragrance of Lilly of the Valley, was placed on the patio, where the guests were registered by Mrs. Pendrery Gibbons of Baton Rouge. The bride's cake was a tiered confection decorated with green leaves, white rosebuds and lillies of the valley. It was topped with a vase of white rose buds made from spun sugar candy. The cake was served by Mrs. Wayne Gray, Mrs. Sid Walker, Mrs. Virgil Reitzell and Mrs. Aage Glud.

Punch was served at a wrought iron table out under the trees, decorated with a large white candle in a hurrican shade surrounded by ivy and Majestic Daisies. An electric fountain with floating gardenias added beauty to the garden which was lovely with green and white Caladiums and Magnolias. Hurricane lamps were placed among the shrubbery to give a soft glowing effect.

Those assisting were the aunts of the bride, Mrs. J. P. Zall, Mrs Anna Mae Moore; Mrs. John W. Moore; Mrs. Oren O. Moore and Mrs. Ruth Hundley.

Mrs. Goodwin chose a two piece suit of tan cotton tweed for traveling. It was a sleeveless sheath dress with a wide tan leather belt and a short double breasted jacket. Her accessories were the shade of her belt. She wore the white orchid from her bouquet.

The couple will be at home in Baton Rouge where they have just completed their new home.

The bride is a graduate of Neville High School and LSU. She has done graduate work at LSU and is a member of Phi Mu Social Sorority. Lamda Inter - Sorority, Kappa Delta Pi, education honor sorority, Louisiana Teacher's Association and other professional organizations.

The groom graduated from Baton Rouge High School and LSU. His fraternity is Kappa Alpha and he is a member of the "L" Club.

REHEARSAL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Atkinson, the grooms aunt and uncle of Baton Rouge gave the rehearsal supper on June 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the Rendezvous. Artistic arrangements of Calla lilies, Magnolia blossoms and ivy were used on the table, between each arrangement were candelabra with burning tapers.

Those present were the members of the wedding party, immediate families and out of town guests. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Oren O. Moore; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Atkinson Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Grand and children; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bolton; Mrs. William Beall, Pat, Billy and Sarah Beall; Mr. Kenneth DeJean; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Beall; Shelly, Tina and Gordon Ray Beall; Mrs. N. M. Virgets; Mrs. A. E. Baudin; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shores, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chenevert Jr., Mr. Bob Pettit; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pettit, Sr.; Mr. Tommy Virgets; Miss Marguerite Smith; Mr. Tommy Bateman; Mr. and Mrs. Pendrey Gibbons; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dobrowlski. All of the above from Baton Rouge. Reverend and Mrs. Dan Frank Goodwin and children of Midland, Texas. Mrs. W. A. Atkinson and Barbara Atkinson of Lafayette, Louisiana; Dr. and Mrs. Jim Lilly of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Clark of Chattanooga, Tennessee; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Laudry of Shreveport, Louisiana; Miss Jane Rosenblat, Shreveport; Miss Joan White, Bogalousa, Louisiana; Miss Ann Choate, Helena, Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. David Rosenbaum, of Meridian, Mississippi; Mr. Larry Brooks, New Orleans.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE TODAY of the fothcoming marriage of Mrs. Mary Ellen Works of Monroe, to Eugene Otis Cooley of Ruston. She is the daughter of the late W. R. Norsworthy of Mer Rouge. The wedding is to be June 28, 1959, at 2:00 P.M. at St. John's Christain Church, Monroe.

Marriage Vows Exchanged By Miss Janis Futrell- Lt. John H. Wendell Jr.

An afternoon wedding in the First Methodist Church united Miss Janis Futrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel V. Futrell, and Lieutenant John Henry Wendell, Jr. He is the son of Mrs. J. H. Wendell of Houma and the late Mr. Wendell. Their vows were heard by the Rev. Henry Blount of Ruston. The candlelighted altar was graced by standards of white gladioli and California asters which built up to a center tree of candles.

Mrs. Everett Zeagler at the organ played the traditional wedding march and accompanied Garland Shell who sang "Through the Years," Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Carolyn Futrell served her sister as maid of honor. The bridesmaids, Miss Gloria Beth Gaines of Rhodessa, Miss Carolyn Boyce and Miss Sue Williams of Monroe, wore identical empire styled sheath dresses of ice blue cotton satin. The backs of the dresses, especially beautiful, were fashioned with large flat satin bows which accentuated the square necklines and held panels of silk chiffon. The headpieces of Miss Futrell's attendants were creations of blue velvet leaves sprinkled with seed pearls and softened with circular veils. Their bouquets were of Mystery gardenias held in a crescent shape.

Candles were lighted by Carol Holdsworth and Jay Wendell. Groomsmen were Richard Seidenspinner and Milton Ford of Monroe; Thomas Potter of Harlan, Iowa; and Michael Boggs who served the bridegroom as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in an original gown fashioned with the traditional beauty of French chantilly lace combined with imported nylon tulle. The formal length gown designed with a closely moulded bodice, featured a low scoop neckline, edged in natural hand-clipped scallops of lace. The long fitted sleeves tapered to petal points over the hands, and tiny French covered buttons extended down the back. A bias fold of satin defined the empire line and extended to the center back. The bouffant lace overskirt edged in natural scallops fell gracefully from the pointed waistline over a deep ruffle of imported tulle drifting into a wide chapel train. A full circular veil of imported pure silk English illusion fell from a deep scalloped lace clip tiara fashioned of chantilly lace and outlined with tiny seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade of white roses and bridal stephanotis with a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Futrell were hosts at the reception held immediately following the ceremony in the garden of their home. Mrs. Futrell and Mrs. Wendell received with the bridal party.

The bride's table was covered with Belgian lace. Her three-tiered cake topped with satin wedding bells was placed in the center and candelabra twined with stephanotis and gardenias were at each end of the table. Two crystal punch bowls were presided over by Mrs. A. D. Murray, Mrs. E. F. Holdsworth, Mrs. Hugh Murray, Mrs. H. B. Cruthirds, and Mrs. W. G. Renfrow.

For her wedding trip, the bride traveled in a bone-colored suit of silk shantung with matching accessories and a hat of brown and gold feathers. The young couple will be at home in Malden, Missouri, where Lieutenant Wendell is stationed at Malden Air Force Base.

Among the out of town guests who attended the wedding were Mrs. George Ridge and James Sterling Ridge of Phoenix, Arizona; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Haas of Opelousas; Mrs. Lionel Quirk of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Harrison and Mrs. Macil Wilkie of Alexandria; Mrs. Virgil Gaines and Rod Clements of Rhodessa; Miss Ann Gober of Jackson, Mississippi; James Fullilove Klingman of Keithville; Miss Joy Futrell of Pineville; Mrs. W. J. LaCroix and Miss Willie Mae Futrell of Colfax; and Miss Charlotte Brown of Columbia.

Miss Ann Russell And Delmas A. Jackson Jr. Pledge Wedding Vows

Half after 2 o'clock Tuesday June 2 in a quiet home wedding in Laurel, Miss., Miss Ann Russell and Delmas Andrew Jackson Jr. were united in marriage. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Phillip Russell of Laurel and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Andrew Jackson of this city.

The ceremony was performed in the family room before a background of potted palms and green and white Caladiums. The Rev. William David Brown officiated at the double ring service in the presence of members of the two families and out of town guests. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in an imported white French Organdy dress with embroidered rose medallions and deep hemmed skirt, styled with draped effect on the bodice and a sweetheart neckline. She wore in her hair lilies-of-the-valley to match the flowers featured in her bridal bouquet.

The bride's cousin, Miss Joanne McGirl of Bloomington, Illinois, was maid of honor while Miss Mary Southgate Brewster of New Orleans was bridesmaid. They wore identical street-length dresses with matching lace and embroidered flowers. Sweetheart rosebud corsages were pinned to their pink and blue cummerbunds.

Mr. Jackson served his son as best man. The bride's brother, James Norris Russell, a student of the University of Michigan, was the usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Russell chose a misty green linen dress, matching slippers and a corsage of lilies-of-the-valley. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Jackson, had the same flowers and yellow accessories for her chic yellow cotton dress.

RECEPTION

A reception hour followed, where the bride's table, overlaid with a cut-work, embroidered white linen cloth, had for its central decoration an arrangement of Orphelia roses. This was flanked by white tapers in silver Candelabra. The tiered wedding cake was placed at one end of the table. Stephen Jackson, younger brother of the bridegroom, presided at the register.

The couple will reside in Baton Rouge this summer. In the fall they will move to New Orleans where Mr. Jackson will return to Tulane University. He will be a senior in Medical School this year.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mrs. G. A. Newcomer, Monroe; Mrs. Robert L. Jackson, Gilbert, grandmother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. William B. Jackson, Jr., Port of Spain, Trinidad; Mr. and Mrs. Everette Croslow, Mrs. Fred Mitchell and Mrs. William B. Jackson, of Monroe and others.

Moscow Papers Report On Dior

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow newspapers today began giving attention to the Dior styles which have been drawing packed houses to showings in the Soviet capital.

The labor paper Trud said the crowd liked the French designer's relatively simple silk and wool combination called Chicago and added that it already had been sold in 22 countries.

It said that fur styles—in which the Soviets are specially interested — were presented "in good taste."

White-Hester Rites Recited In Crossett

The First Baptist Church of Crossett was the setting Sunday afternoon, June 7th, at 3:00 o'clock, for the wedding of Miss Norma Jean Hester and Reginald D. White. Miss Hester is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hester, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashton R. White, all of Crossett.

The Rev. B. G. Hickem officiated at the double ring ceremony. Organist was Williard E. Burnham, who also accompanied G. A. Gilbreath, soloist. Candelighters were Master Bruce Switzer and Alan Etheridge.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white eyelet embroidered batiste with a tiny jacket with long sleeves which tapered to lily points over the wrist. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a circlet of white tule rosettes. She carried a white Bible on which a single orchid was surrounded by stephanotis.

Miss Joyce Hester, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Dickinson; Miss Jean Billingsley and Miss Shirley Tayor, of Little Rock; and Mrs. Clarence Schmidt, of Little Rock, a cousin of the bride. Miss Susan Persons, of Leesville, Louisiana, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The groom chose his father to serve as best man. Ushers were John R. Hester, brother of the bride; Don White, brother of the groom, Don West, and Jimmy Toler, cousin of the groom, all of Crossett.

Following a wedding trip to Springdale and Hot Springs, Arkansas, the couple will be home in Monticelo, where the groom is a student at A. & M. College. The bride will graduate from the Arkansas Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Little Rock.

Wedding In Shreveport Of Interest Locally

St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Shreveport was the setting last evening at 7:30 p.m. for the wedding of Miss Louise Wheless Lee and John Gardner Nelson of New Orleans. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Felix Drake Lee of Shreveport and Mrs. George Tinsley Gilmer of New Orleans, and the late Ross B. Nelson of Shreveport. Reverend J. Lawrence Plumley and the Reverend Rudolph Bangert officiated.

William C. Teague, organist, furnished the nuptial music and it was sung by St. Mark's Chancel Choir.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Harry F. Jones and Miss Mary Wolfe was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Martha Means, Judith Wintle, Virginia Marcantel and Mrs. William C. Kalmbach, Jr. Airy full-length gowns of circled white organza, over spring green taffeta were their dresses. The bodices featured squared necklines. The full skirts were girdled in the green and caught in the back with green taffeta roses with long streamers. In their hair they wore dainty bandeaux of spring green leaves. White slippers and short white gloves completed their attire. They carried basket type bouquets of giant majestic daisies, interspersed with delicate green foliage and streamers of white satin ribbon.

The acolytes, Wesley E. Wheless, III and Douglas T. Wheless are cousins of the bride. The flower girl, Clare Wheleess, dressed similar to the bridesmaids, only a short dress with deep hem and tied with green taffeta sash. She carried a dainty colonial bouquet of white roses, white carnations and stock tied with white stain shower ribbon.

THE BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a wedding gown of white silk organdy, combined with white satin. It had a taut bodice of satin with rounded neckline and brief sleeves, appliqued in imported alencon lace embellished with seed pearls and dainty tufted roses. A full flared skirt featured a wide center panel beautifully appliqued in lace and roses with twin panels down the sides. The silk organza fell in fullness down the back ending in a cathedral train. Her long veil of French illusion fell from a dainty crown of minute pearlized roses. Her bouquet was a dainty Queen Anne type bouquet of lilies of the valley, with tips of soft green foliage and delicate white maline pouffs.

Mr. Neldon chose his brother, Ross Barton Nelson, Jr., as his best man. Ushers were Elton T. Mackie, Harry S. Redmon and Parker Sussey all of New Orleans, and Earl K. Oswalt of Lake Providence.

The groomsmen were: Dr. Peachy R. Gilmer, Jr. of New Orleans, Hamilton Harper, Jr. of Shreveport, John S. Stephens of Monroe, Don B. Hearin, III of Baton Rouge and Stanton E. Dossett, Jr. of Shreveport, and the junior groomsman was F. Drake Lee, Jr., brother of the bride.

Mrs. Lee, the bride's mother, wore a gown of petal pink tucked swiss batiste combined with blending chantilly lace on the bodice and flared skirt encircled at the waist with a pink satin band and a matching hat of pink lace flowers sprinkled with seed pearls. She wore a pink orchid. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Gilmer, was dressed in a ivory pesante sheath gown combined with deeper toned alencon lace and two-toned drapery of chiffon. Her hat was an ivory bandeau of velvet and satin. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid.

RECEPTION

The reception was held at the Shreveport Country Club, which was decorated with elegant arrangements of white gladioli, white stock and Majestic daisies at vantage points throughout. Airy emerald palms created a soft background.

The bridal couple and their mothers received the guests. Those present from Monroe were Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Slagle, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Bancroft, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Stephens, and Speed Bancroft who also assisted in the courtesies. They are all relatives of the bride.

Mrs. Sybil Christman, PBX Supervisor for the Telephone company, Audrey Trout and Esther Bolton will represent the Club at the International Convention in Tampa, Florida, July 9, 10 and 11th.

Following the installation of officers, Mrs. Trout presented the outgoing officers with a gift of appreciation for their loyal support and cooperation, after which she was presented with a Past President pin from the club.

Garden Club Holds Luncheon Installation

Members of the La Petite Maison Garden Club held their installation luncheon at the Paragon club this past week. Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Lester High and Mrs. Herbert Breard, Jr. Lovely flower arrangements adorned the tables for the luncheon. A short business meeting was held by the out going president. She then introduced Mrs. John Lewis who installed the new officers.

It was announced that Mrs. Lewis would be the club instructor for the coming year.

New officers installed: Mrs. High, President, Mrs. Farrell Adams, Vice-Pres., Mrs. Bill Eason, Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. David Pobst, Jr. Recording secretary, Mrs. Doyle Hamilton Treasurer, Mrs. Curtis Cook, Publicity, Mrs. Lavelle Salley, Historian, and Mrs. Breard, Parliamentarian.

MISS JOYCE COLSTON ALLEN, daughter of Clyde and the late Mrs. Janey Colston Allen of Kingsville, Texas, will become the bride of Walter Lee Baker of Oak Ridge. He is the son of Gordon Lee Baker and the late Mrs. Helen Pomeroy Baker of Dallas, Texas. The ceremony will take place on August 14 at 8:00 p.m. in the Episcopal Church of Epiphany in Kingsville, Texas. The bride received her B.A. Degree from Southern Methodist University and attended Yale Divinity School for two years. The groom received his B.A. Degree from Centenary College and his B.D. from Yale Divinity School. He is pastor of the Oak Ridge Methodist Church in Oak Ridge.

Life As Widow Requires Much Adjustment

By DOROTHY ROE

When a wife becomes a widow life may not seem worth living—but it is, says Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., who shared high adventure for 34 years with her famous husband.

Alive, alert and vital to her fingertips is this fragile-looking grandmohter, who has written the story of her life with T.R. Jr., "Day Before Yesterday," a lively, tender and often stirring picture of the great and the near-great in a half century of American history. Though her husband was the most importance influence in her life, and though she shared a closer companionship with him than do most wives, Mrs. Roosevelt at 70 looks forward to new adventures.

"There are still a few places in the world I haven't seen, and I want to see them," she says. "And if I get a chance to take a trip on a space ship, I'll do it like a shot!"

"I've had so many projects that couldn't be neglected that I have not had time to withdraw from any part of life. There are my children and my grandchildren. And there has been this book. I started it 10 years ago, put it away for five years, and then started again. For the last three years I've worked on it almost constantly."

Mrs. Roosevelt wrote the book herself — not merely by dictating to a secretary or a tape recorder, but by doing the actual typing.

Since her husband's death Mrs. Roosevelt has made four trips to Europe as a member of the American Battle Monuments Commission. Her home in Oyster Bay, Long Island, now is shared with the widow of her son Quentin and his three daughters: Alexandra, 14, Anna, 12 and Susan, 11. In addition she has three other grandchildren: William and Eleanor McMillan, children of her daughter, Grace; and Theodore Roosevelt IV, 16, son of Ted III, universally known among family and friends as "T-Four."

CONCERT
By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — The newest entry in the competition for a definitive stereo recording of Beethoven's 9th symphony is one made by the Philharmonia Orchestra and Choturs, Otto Kelmperer conducting. And a most impressive entry it is (Angel-3577.)

But it is not the definitive recording, either technically or musically. That exclusive stereo quality of "presence" has a way of falling back and then coming forward. Full orchestras and chorus don't move, of course. Their "presence" remains stationary.

Musically, Klemperer's ideas of the 9th are so very closely calculated that the calculation is apparent. The 9th can be made to seem a self - energizing force subject only to its own laws. Here it doesn't seem so, even though everything is in its proper place.

Nevertheless, this may be the best stereo of the 9th yet released, although the reviewer has an idea that before too long there will be a definitive one — when experience - wise stereo engineers happen to be working with an inspired and relaxed conductor.

A pleasant diversion for summer listening could be the short opera which Enrique Granados constructed from his earlier piano pieces, "Goyescas," and the material for it is at hand in a recording of Spanish singers and the Spanish National Orchestra of Madrid, Ataulfo Argenta conducting. This is a stereo recording, by the way, and technically it is senstational (London-OSA-1101.)

In this 200th anniversary year of the death of Handel, don't overlook the complete recording of the "Water Music" by the Amsterdam Concertgebouw Orchestra, with the late Eduard van Beinum conducting. There was a man who had the Handelian touch! (Epic - LC3551.)

NEW YORK (UPI) — Commodore Records, the label that pioneered the comeback of jazz in the early 1940's, is in the business again, ending an abysmal silence of several years.

Jack Crystal, the man behind the label, chose an excellent LP by Emund Hall as a showppiece for the revived company. Called "Swing Session," (Commodore FL 30,-012), the LP presents Ed with such top performers as Teddy Wilson, Eddie Haywood and Big Sid Catlett in a selection of dance music.

These sides were first cut about 15 years ago but Commodore's reproduction on an LP disk is such a good engineering job that it sounds as though it were made yesterday.

Hall's great musicianship is evident from the beginning. But when he works with Teddy Wilson on numbers like "Caravan" and "I Want To Be Happy," the effect is startling and you're glad Commodore is back.

The Magic Ukulele by Roy Smeck" (ABC - Paramount 279) is an off-beat LP that certainly will get some attention. Smeck is not known as the "wizard of the strings" for nothing and his virtuosity on such a confining instrument as the uke is beyond belief. Roy gets a big sound from the tiny box and his selections, including "12th Street Rag" and "Sweet Georgia Brown" make the listener feel that the ukulele is a legitimate jazz instrument.

Show Time: "Destry Rides Again" (Decca DL - 9075) is an original cast recording of the Broadway revival, as a musical, of the famed old Western classic. It stars Andy Griffith as the hero and Dolores Gray gives him fine support.

Selected Singles: "Pray for Me Mother" by Barbara Evans (RCA - Victor 47-7519), "Lumberjack" by Chuck Darty (Roulette R-4159), "Balboa Hop" by Johnny Ellis (Freedom F-44014), "The Hangman" by John Ashley (Dot 15942.)

Jazz Pick: "The Blues a la Dixie" by Pee Wee Hunt (Capitol T-1144) is good standard Dixieland jazz. There is not an over - abundance of imagination but perhaps Pee Wee is to be congratulated for playing it with some subtlety.

Stereoscope: "College Prom" by Leroy Holmes and his Orchestra (MGM Stereo E-3738) is a good item. No less than 32 tunes are worked into a stomping session . . . "Dancing in High Society" with Ben Ludlow and his Orchestra (Vanguard VRS 9044) has the ballroom sound.

BROADWAY

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) —Oscar Homolka has Hollywood right where he wants it —out in California while he makes movies everywhere else but.

The distinguished character actor, who is winding up the Broadway season as a co-star in the play "Rashomno," has his next film job lined up half-way around the world from Hollywood. It's part of the pattern he has been following in recent years.

"Actors should not be mere puppets to carry out the will of movie producers," said the star. "You cannot put honesty into a part that you do not like or in which you have no faith. Unless you have a feeling for a role it is impossible to bring integrity to it."

Homolka's strong attitude is the result of his earlier career in Hollywood, where he went as a star from the European stages in the late 1930's. His contract, he feels, mired him in mediocrity for four years. For every good role in a fairly decent film there were the many disappointments of mediocre parts in inferior movies.

"I have been back in Hollywood to work several times "but now I am able to do as I wish because of the rise in the number of independent productions which are made in many parts of the world besides Hollywood."

Some of Homolka's recent pictures, all made abroad, have been "War and Peace," "The Key," Farewell to Arms" and "Tempest," recently released.

Homolka's new assignment is to play an eccentric Dutch millionaire in MGM's "Granada," which will be filmed in Spain and West Germany beginning July 1. Mario Lanza is co-starring.

Homolka finds it amusing that the co-author of the screenplay (with Ben Hecht) is Gottfried Reinhardt, son of the late great Max Reinhardt, who dominated the theater of Austria and Germany for the first 30 years of this century.

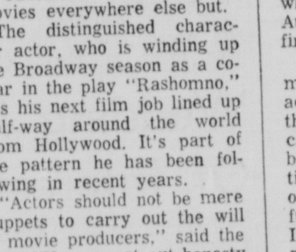

"Max Reinhardt gave me my first chance at big-time acting after my start in the provinces," Homolka recalled. "It was the sort of break you get once in a lifetime. But I did not like him or his methods. Out of youthful arrogance, you might say I defied him. Sometimes I did not go to rehearsals which I felt were unnecessary. It got so that he would not speak to me directly to give me direction.

"Yet for some reason he would not fire me. And in spite of everything, I had a success in his productions. Later we became friends."

Ginger Rogers is set to return to the stage next season as the star of "The Pink Jungle" by Leslie Stevens, author of one of the biggest hits of the 1958-59 season, "The Marriage-go-Round."

GOGOL NOVEL PURCHASED

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Joseph Kaufman with the financial backing of French and German interests, has purchased from Robert Aldrich for about $100,000 the rights to "Tarus Bulba," Gogol's novel of Cossack life in Czarist Russia.

Kaufman said he is negotiating with an American producer to participate in the production scheduled to start filming in Europe during the summer of 1960.

-THE ARTS-

Sound, Absorbing Story Of One's Emancipation

MEMOIRS OF A DUTIFUL DAUGHTER. By Simone de Beauvoir. Translated from French by James Kirkup. World. $5.

The soundest literary work to come out of France in a long time, this is also one of the most absorbing.

Litterateurs will be fascinated by Miss de Beauvoir's reflections on her calling. Students of human nature will enjoy her titillating recollections of a fumbling search for some basic physiology. Students of sociology will be intrigued by her picture of stolid middle-class life and its fixed mental habits. And lovers of Paris will be charmed by her scattered vignettes of the city in which, on the Boulevard Raspail, she was born in 1908.

The author's father, who came of a well-to-do family, took up the law, though he would have liked to become a professional actor. He was a free thinker, the mother a Catholic. Between them, they shielded their daughter, who hated to be shielded, from liberalizing thought, and where she might have expected a chink in the armor of one parent, the other served as backstop. A truly dutiful daughter could not have developed Miss de Beauvoir's original creative genius.

Her life in the first two decades that she writes of centered in the student quarter, from St. Germain des Pres to the Dome and back down to the river. She recalls the "dreary" Cafe Flore. For a time the family lived in an apartment opposite the old Dome and right above the "rowdy" Rotonde—which she will later frequent. She visits bookstores in the Place St. Sulpice, the Catholic heart of the city. She strolls under the chestnut trees in the Luxembourg gardens.

Her scrutiny of her background, relatives, friends and social position may not be profound or pioneering, yet it is extra ordinarily thorough — this book is long but I would not want it cut anywhere. She examines her relationship with her sister; her school girl friend Zaza whose fate provides a stirring climax to these pages; her assiduous companion Jacques; her introduction to the theater, as disappointing, curiously, as Proust's; her disillusionment, as she calls it, with the church, beginning with the tutorial confessor.

Books in English influenced her importantly, from "Little Women," most unexpectedly, to "Silas Marner," "Adam Bede" and "The Mill on the Floss." She learned early to prefer virtue and culture to riches. Reading took the place of religion, she says. One of her most perplexing problems was exemplified in the contrast between her mother as the model, submissive wife and her father and his belief in the double standard. The story moves inevitably to her meeting with Jean-Paul Sartre who "corresponded exactly to the dream companion I had longed for since I was 15."

An inspirational book in the best sense, this belongs with the biographies and autobiographies of the great feminist leaders who have fought for individual freedom. Step by step, day by day, doggedly yet quietly, Miss de Beauvoir overcame handicaps and emancipation.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Offer Variety Of Top Reading Fare

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

The fiction titles offered to the public of Ouachita Parish this week offer a variety of intereting reading fare. Certain to reach the best seller list is Pearl Buck's new novel "Command the Morning". Miss Buck has turned to the greatest topic of our times-man's conquest of the atom. She takes us back to those fateful days early in the second world War when physicists realized that they had a weapon of unutterable destructive value. The story follows accurately the course of actual events, but the characters are fictitious. The author has spent a great deal of time at Oak Ridge in preparation for writing this book and she has done a wonderful job.

Lawrence Schoonover is a historical novelist of unparalleled ability and his latest novel reaches the high standard set by the others. It is called "The Prisoner of Tordesillas" and this is the story of Juana of Castille, who went down in history as the mad Queen. Juana of Castille was the daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain, the wife of Philip "The handsome", Archduke of Austria; the mother of Charles V. She had all of the power of the Holy Roman Empire, yet she was broken by her father's cruelty, her husband's infidelity and her son's indifference. This is a fascinating period and an enthralling story and Mr. Schoonover has done full justice to it.

"The Ruined City" is the title of a novel by Clay Putnam which casts a searching light on many of the problems of our day. "Tell Me Stranger" is the title of a new book by Charles Bracken Flood. It has its setting in Africa and other far off places of the present day. It is the story of a woman photographer and her adventures. "The Three Days" by Don Robertson is a story of the bloody battle of Gettysburg, a battle which decided the fate of a nation and also decided the fate of everyone who took party in it. The gifted author explores the absorbing story of human beings brought face to face with their destiny. For the vivid re-creation of an intensely dramatic event -for understanding of the human heart in mortal conflict, "The Three Days" invites comparison with the great war novels of the world.

For a thoroughly charming and light-hearted book, be sure to read "Hard Hearts Are For Cabbages" by Vll Putnam. This is the heartwarming tale of a family of California Gypsies. Each character is delightful and I know that it will be a popular book with our readers. "Too Near The Throne" is the title of a book by Molly Costain Haycraft. It is the story of Arabella Stuart, who was too close kin to Queen Elizabeth to ever be safe from intrigue and secure in her life. Mrs. Haycraft has done a beautiful job of presenting the fascinating life story of a girl who was almost a queen. "The Rainbow Sigh" by Alan Lomax is a novel which explains many of the folk beliefs of the south. "The Pack of Lies" by Gordon Ashe is a new mystery story and reader's of westerns will welcome "The Sudden Guns" by Giff Cheshire.

RUNNING THE SCALES

With JOHN CALE

Literary movements have held the spotlight on previous occasions, but at no time have we had among us such a thing as the breed of the "Beatniks."

In outward appearance, this cult resembles the "Bohemian" of a previous generation. But a Beatnik is a Bohemian who thinks negatively instead of positively.

The name they have chosen for their tribe shows a remarkable lack of word power. The "beat" part is supposed to suggest a generation where the creative mind is beaten down and the "nik" — from the tail end of Russia's sputnik — indicates somebody has gone into orbit.

MOVEMENTS

The tendency of more or less creative minds to get together and act oddly has been around since history was first recorded. This goes beyond the literary mind to be sure. The ancients must have regarded architects, mathematicians, astronomers, snake charmers, dancers, harp players, poets, cave painters, cooks, bakers and people who could read and write as off the beaten track.

Imagine what the drivers of passing camel trains across Egypt must have thought when a crew of calculating gentlemen measured the distance to the sun by short base and two angles. "Here we sweat it out with these sandstorms and bandits while those fellows over there look down in a well, up at the noonday sun then at each other."

But the people who made that measurement hit upon something the civil and space engineers, missile shooters and even press photographers still use, namely how to measure the distance to a point where you can't stretch a ruler. They were not "beat" and realized as much at the time.

More in line with what we now know as a "movement" was witnessed in the so called "Middle Ages" when students — probably away without leave from some of Europe's monastaries — got together to roam the countryside and get into as much trouble as possible without getting caught.

But these "Goliards" as they were called left behind songs which presented good accounts of everyday life during medieval Europe; accounts without which later historians would have been at a loss.

In fact, the late Middle Ages in Europe started what we now know as "'show business" with traveling troops of jugglers with or without dancing bears. Until this day, the people in charge of the purse strings find it difficult to draw a line between theatrical or literary art and show business and the clash was already evident in 1300 or thereabouts.

Subsequent "movements" worked their way through centuries and nations. There were the troubadours in France and Italy and the minnesingers in Germany. These were the spiritual ancestors of today's guitar pickers considering there is an admitted difference in the artistic level of a castle second story (or higher) and a blues basement (or lower).

THROUGH THE AGES

More recently have come the ages of the Baroque, Classic and Romantic, which alternated fantasy, fact and more fantasy. The advent of the machine and the bloody statistics of two World Wars have been factors in bringing the Beatnik to say, "I'm beat."

This is an unhealthy sign. Not one of the previous movements sketched above took a defeatist attitude. Granted, there is plenty to be confused over, but not enough to bring a generation to cry that there's nothing left.

Apparently the literary movements of the east and west coasts in the United States have gone to zero and have decided to let more constructive efforts continue to make progress inland. Maybe even the "pathetic" state of Louisiana — as one weekly news magazine so "Lucely" put it — has a chance.

BOOKS

The Years with Ross, by James Thurber (Atlantic Little, Brown): Harold Ross, an irascible genius of sorts who founded the New Yorker magazine, might be called the man nobody knew. He gathered together such greats as Robert Benchley, Alexander Woollcott, Ogden Nash, Peter Arno, Helen Hokinson, Charles Addams, John McNulty, Dorothy Parker, Wolcott Gibbs and James Thurber. He drove them, bullied them and got a mixture of devotion, admiration and sometimes revulsion. Thurber has turned out a fascinating book on this enigmatic man of strange moods. Ross, who died in 1951, had profound contempt for anything he did not understand. He fumed and cussed and pored over every manuscript and cartoon published in the New Yorker during his long tenure. Possessed of a sketchy formal education, he frequently checked practically every word of a manuscript with a dictionary.

The Holy Barbarians, by Lawrence Lipton (Messner): All about the beat generation, an uninhibited and full account of "the rebellious, the nonconformist, the bohemian, the deviant among the youth." Lipton is a poet and essayist who was a youth during the Jazz Age of the 20's. He reports frankly and comments with perspective on today's "'impatient young - men - in-a-hurry, the lost, the seekers, the beat, the disaffiliated, the educated, diseducated, re-educated, in quest of a new vision." For the non-initiate the vision is hardly discernible through the mists of marijuana, the beat of the bongo drums and the argot of the hipsters that fill these pages.

The Three Days, by Don Robertson (Prentice-Hall): It was inevitable that someone should finally get around to retelling the battle of Gettysburg from the individual soldiers' viewpoints. Robertson has done so admirably in this novel against a background of accurate, detailed description. It is the story of three participants and an on-the-scene girl. While nothing new has been added to the facts of Gettysburg, the author has not taken liberties with them either.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Garden Theme Well Executed

By MARY JARDINE

Today we would like to quote from a recent newsletter from our State President of the Louisiana Garden Club Federation: "Vision Into Reality" the theme of the 1959 National Council of State Garden Clubs Annual Convention held at the Chase Hotel, St. Louis, Missouri, May 10-14 was beautiful and well executed in every way.

It was climaxed by the dedication of our Permanent Home. We wish all of you could have attended. The modern building is situated in a beautiful setting of the Missouri Botanical Gardens (Shaw's Gardens) made us realize that dreams do come true. The program was developed along this theme, each event climaxing the preceding one with the Flower Show School Dinner open to convention, Flower Arranging Symposium until the Awards Dinner May 13.

TOP AWARD

This was really a high spot for us, because Louisiana won one of the top awards given by National Council, the Silver Seal which went to Miss Caroline Dorman, author of "Flowers Native to the Deep South!" Twenty Garden Clubs members from Louisiana attended the convention. Those from the Fifth District were, Mrs. Frank Kaylor, Fifth District Director, Mrs. J. D. Murry, Mrs. R. L. Vining, Mrs. Zollie Meadows, all of Ruston and Mrs. Guy Kincaid of Winnsboro.

Another honor presented to our beloved Miss Dormon was the Achievement Award presented by Judson College, Alabama. If you don't have Miss Dormon's book you certainly should plan to add it to your library soon. The wild flowers of Louisiana are part of our native heritage. The book has a limited printing and soon will be a collector's item. Order from your favorite book store or through the Garden Center.

SUN AND SAND SHOW

The Garden Center Show of the week was presented by the Sun and Sand Garden Club of Monroe and West Monroe.

Mrs. H. A. Malone created a lovely composition featuring a sea grape root. The twisted root in natural tan had most interesting curved lines. This was placed on a round base of natural wood, which in turn was placed on a woven straw mat. A diagonal line of glossy Buford Holly was placed diametrically in front of the curved root, further emphasizing the line. Three golden Calla lilies were placed in the center as a focus of attention. This would be most attractive in a contemporary living room or family room.

Flowers of the garlic were featured in Mrs. Luther Richardson's arrangement. The container selected for this design was a white compote with flaring sides. The plant material, placed in a pyramid triangular pattern followed the lines of the bowl. Background material was of dock in green, just turning to the light brown state, secondary placements were deep maroon leaves of canna forming a background for the lavender blooms of the garlic flowers. Most attractive and would be long lasting.

Mrs. Benny Strong is known in arranging circles for her original arrangements. A rectangular pottery bowl set on its own stand of black iron lace was selected for her design this week. Light green dock was placed in a right angle triangle with new growth of arborvitae in a lighter shade of green strengthening the line. Cabbage "flowers" were skilfully placed low in the design as a center of interest. The cabbage flowers were made from cabbage leaves, conditioned in cold water until crisp, and then rolled into rosettes and secured to picks with green floral tape. Another long lasting arrangement and suitable for any background because of the all green color scheme.

Have you mulched those flower beds? and provided water for the birds?

Suggestions For Presents To Newlyweds

June, the traditional month for weddings, also presents many persons with a problem: What would make a suitable yet "different" gift for the newlyweds?

A transistor portable radio is a gift a young couple will appreciate for years. It can be carried anywhere and will be a constant reminder of your good wishes. Some of these radios weigh less than a pound and can be carried easily in a coat pocket or woman's handbag. All feature light weight and convenience.

Along this same line is a phonograph, something that will provide many hours of enjoyment. To make it an extra-special gift, give a stereophonic phonograph. This need not be an expensive gift.

If the young couple likes outdoor living, outdoor furniture or a barbecue grill would make an excellent gift. Again, something different easily can be found. In this category is the Leisure Lounger furniture which is styled so it can be used either indoors or out. Such furniture and grills are things the couple can use immediately but probably wouldn't purchase themselves, which is an additional reason they are excellent gifts.

Especially suitable for the bride is one of the luxurious looking new arc-shaped ironing tables. This is an extremely practical gift, too, for an ironing table usually is something overlooked in the gift department but something that a couple needs almost immediately upon setting up housekeeping.

ERROR HELPS SHOW

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the oddest bits of recent show dancing occurs in the musical "Once Upon a Mattress." It reportedly is the result of a typographical error in the typed instructions.

Lilies Are Still Plentiful Here

By MILDRED SWIFT

There are many beautiful daylilies still in bloom in Ouachita Parish gardens. If you are in Baton Rouge, be sure to visit the LSU test plot on the campus. See the lilies in bloom, then you can choose the colors and varieties you want.

I can remember a few years ago, we only had yellow daylilies. We classed them as those that bloom early and those that bloom late. Even before the yellow, we found the old orange one. Now the lily people are giving us reds, some purple and pink. Since they are working with a yellow background, the hybridizers can hardly get a clear spectrum red. They're mighty pretty though.

ABOUT HYDRANGEAS

We talked about the beauty of hydrangeas last Sunday, but nothing about the varieties. The common one we grow is either blue or pink or a combination. Acid soil produces blue flowers, alkaline soil, pink. There's an improved variety often called the French hydrangea.

There's a white variety that is said to be native to Louisiana. I've never seen this plant, only read about it. If you have one, please call me.

Then, there's the oak-leafed hydrangea that is native in our state. The leaves are lobed. The flowers are elongated and taper into a cluster or panicle.

There is also a climbing hydrangea that is said to be just a relative of the real plant. I've never seen one of these in bloom, either. Strange that horticulturists still say plant hydrangea in full sun or partial shade. We, here in Louisiana, get our best results with plants on the north side of the house with partial shade.

ZINNIAS

It is possible to have a garden of nothing but zinnias and yet the planting not be monotonous. There are white zinnias, yellow, orange, red and purple. There are even bicolors. Usually, in this family, the large flowers grow on the tallest plants, the smaller flowers on the smaller plants.

One thing about zinnias, the inexperienced gardener can grow them as well as the older growers. I like to encourage new gardeners to grow a few plants because it gives them confidence to see a plant come up, grow and bloom in so short a time.

About the only requirements for growing zinnias are a fairly fertile spot, full sun and good drainage, and of course a package of seed.

The soil should be prepared, incorporating some 8-8-8. Let this bed stay idle for at least two weeks. Then you're ready to plant. The seed of zinnias are very large and germinate easily. Make a small trench, water it thoroughly, place the seed an cover slightly. Firm the soil, but do not pack. Plant 8 to 12 inches apart.

The results you get from transplanting zinnia plants are not too satisfactory, but it can be one. It's best to plant the see where they are to stay.

Zinnas are immune to plant disease except for mildew. To prevent this, give the plants of plenty of light an air which means not planting too close together. Also, avoid wetting the foliage of the plants. Moisture on the leaves is conclusive to mildew.

Among the strong points in favor of zinnias are that they give color in the yard and they are excellent cut flowers. Too, they bloom right through the heat of summer.

PLANTERS

Since the style for planters (outside) has spread, that's another garden problem. In fact there are a number of problems. Some planters are so narrow that the heat of the brick in summer cooks the roots of plants growing in them.

Some gardeners fail to provide a drainage of gravel or broken glass or similar material, in the bottom of the planter. Some use soil too heavy and it packs and allows no aeration. Some sand mixed with the soil will help with both of the above problems.

Some gardeners forget to mulch the plants. But - taking all the above precautions, when you confine soil and water to a small area high above the ground, you're going to have troubles. Eventually the soil will sour and mold and will have to be replaced. Be sure you're a gardener with patience before you plan to build an outside planter. Next winter when it's planting time we'll give you a list of suitable plants.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When putting the children's clothes away at the end of the season, let out hems in sleeves and at the bottom. There will be less crease to work out when you lengthen them at the beginning of the next season.

If you buy a full skirt dress that is too long, please don't cut the hem. The wider the hem the prettier the skirt. If you're making a dress with a full skirt, put at least a nine inch hem. A twelve inch is prettier, especially if the material is sheer.

Spring fashions favor sheer fabrics, but as the home seamstress knows, these fabrics have a reputation for being difficult to work with. First test the stitch on your fabric. For most sheers, the pressure on your sewing machine should be lightened slightly. This can be done by adjusting the screw at the top of the presser bar. The tension may need to be slightly loosened to keep the seams from pulling.

TIPS ON PAINTING

Seem like every place I've gone lately, somebody is painting. Here are some hints given by the specialists: Paint wrinkling results from applying too thick a coat of paint.

Remove all wax before painting a surface.

Apply the paint to the dry area and work it toward the still wet area. This permits an overlap to blend.

Place bucket of paint in a paper plate. It sticks and catches any spills.

If you'd rather see the grain of the wood, then you want to stain and not paint. Stain now comes in attractive colors as well as black, walnut, mahogany, maple.

Whatever finish you desire using, remember that the more thin coats you apply, the better looking and tougher the surface. Between every coat, sand carefully (good job for the husband). Be certain each coat is thoroughly dry before you apply the next one.

Take care to follow all instructions on the container. The manufacturer put them there for your benefit. He wants you to get the best possible results.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Go by the Mask residence, 1309 Cole, and see the large cape jasmine bushes. Not only the bushes are large, but so are the blooms.

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday, Mary Sue Nugent will show us how to keep finger tip beauty; Tuesday, Patsy Johnson will give us more beauty hints; Wednesday, flower arrangements with Mrs. Jardine; Thursday and Friday marketing with Mildred.

Mrs. Hazel Fusilier gave a demonstration on "Making Slip Covers for Lamp Shades." We have her mimeographed instructions, so if you'd like a copy, call FA 3-2251.

See you next Sunday.

BEST CRACKS BROADWAY

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Best is making his authorship debut on Broadway under sponsorship of a man who has had ample chance to see his apprentice work.

Best's play, "The Kids," is to be produced in the fall by George Hamlin and John W. Caldwell. Hamlin is executive director of the New Dramatists Committee, an agency set up by the theatrical profession several years ago to foster and guide new writers.

The drama, concerned with the Hungarian rebellion of 1956, is being tested in 34 original dramatic groups.

Gardens More Contrary Than Mistress Mary

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y.—It doesn't take a new homeowner long to discover how misleading an old nursery rhyme can be: it isn't the Mistress Marys who are so contrary, but it's the gardens themselves.

Wouldn't gardens be easy to get along with, for instance, if it were those specimen yews, which cost $25 each, that scattered seedlings all over — instead of the red maples? Wouldn't it be just dandy if the blue grass, the fescues and the bents in the lawn were aggressive and the crabgrass retiring? Or if delphinium, instead of Chinese lantern plant, knocked every other plant in its way right out of the ground in its determination to grow?

Roses, May-apples and peonies do magnificently for the gardener next door and poorly for me. But lupine, California poppies, columbine and forget-me-nots — with which most of my neighbors have little success — grow like weeds for me. In fact, in many cases, they must be hoed out if other plants are to have a chance.

One of the easiest mistakes to make in gardening is to try to produce too many plants and too much bloom. Mass plantings of any kind — a riotous mixture of colors or a careful design in color, height and shape — are usually delightful. But because seedlings are small when transplanted into a bed, most of us have a tendency to set them too close together. The result, of course, is that none of the plants has a chance to develop properly — underground or above it— with the result that bloom is sparse and meager.

Some plants — like hybrid tea roses — like to grow without competition from other plants, and have special feeding requirements (like a rich diet and plenty of water) so that the individual demands of the plants should be taken into consideration when thinking of the garden's form.

And, when arranging the garden's form, it is a good idea to consider the gardener's convenience. Some plants — like roses and lupine, again — need extraordinary attention to control insect pests. It saves time, muscle and insecticide if they are grouped rather than strung here and there around the garden.

Another time-saver involved in good garden practice is ease in weeding. When plants have plenty of space between them, cultivation to keep down weeds is easy. The main part of the job can be done with a long-handled pronged cultivator or sharpened hoe, and the gardener need get down on his knees for only light manicuring work around the base of each plant.

These things make a big difference on hot mid-summer weekends when a big chunk of the day is best spent under a shady tree.

During the very hot weather, of course, plants suffer as well as people. If it is necessary to water, the best time to do the job is in the early morning. It is better, particularly if foliage is wet, to give the sun a chance to dry the leaves and help nature control mildew.

BLAMES THE CRITICS

Gilbert recently produced the musical "First Impressions," which closed at an estimated loss of $300,000.

"And the depressing thing about it," he says," is when every once in a while you go in and watch a show and you see the people cheering and hear the bravos.

"But it was the kind of show which needs the critics."

Hibiscus Good Color Flower

By AUDREY DAWSON

If you are trying to decide on a plant to use in your garden for color when other flowers are not too plentiful or are of poor quality, try a few hisbiscus. The use of the hibiscus in our plantings in Louisiana has greatly increased in popularity during these last few years. It belongs to the mallon family which contains several of our well known plants such as cotton, and hollyhock.

When grown for cut flowers the double type blooms are likely to be found more desirable, but for color in the yard the singles are very good. Probably the outstanding hibiscus variety at present is Kona. It produces very large double pink blooms. It is a profuse bloomer and a vigorous grower. If only one variety is to be grown this is a good one to try.

I have a number of homemakers who want yellow in their garden and the hibiscus is one of the best. There are a number of good double yellow varieties. The following are recommended by our Experiment Station: Crested yellow, crown of Bahemia and Butterfly, Crown of Bahemia may have some orange color in them at times. Crested yellow is considered the best double yellow variety. It is not too late to add a few plants if you need color in your garden.

'APHIDS IN GARDEN'

Are you having trouble with aphids (another name - lice) in your vegetable garden? We have been getting a great number of calls regarding these pests. If you discover these pests, dust with 1 percent rotenone or 5 percent malathion at 10 day intervals. Rotenone can be used until harvest but malathion should not be used within 7 days of harvest. This cool weather we are having now tends to promote infestation so be watching carefully because the aphid can do a great deal of damage in a short time.

Save all grass clippings, leaves, vegetable tops, wilted flower arrangements and other garden derbis and make a compost pit or heap. It provides valuable material for any garden. If you want the material to decay quickly and add more food to the heap, sprinkle a layer of complete fertilizer over it.

'DAIRY MONTH'

June is dairy month - and you never grow too old to need milk. Milk is a food high in nutritive value, also is an excellent source of protein, calcium, ribaflavin and vitamin A. Milk as a food benefits people of all ages from babyhood to old age. At times of nervous strain, drink milk. Milk will soothe your churning insides, give your out-pouring juices something to work on. Milk tones the body up, contributes to your sense of well being and helps you relax.

It takes 15 carrots to give as much calcium as one quart of milk. It takes 146 bananas to give as much calcium as one quart of milk. It takes 23 oranges to give as much calcium as one quart of milk. It takes 37 eggs to give as much calcium as one quart of milk.

EATING HABITS

Some very interesting facts are noticed in a survey made of 4,000 American families with 14,000 members regarding eating habits. The survey showed that three fourths of all meals are eaten in the kitchen. Which makes it American's favorite dining spot. The survey revealed that the average housewife exhausts 60 percent of the items in her menu within two weeks. Breakfast turned out to be the family meal because more family members are present than at any other meal. Breakfast was also the meal at which the greatest number of dishes were served. This study also disclosed that 36 percent of the evening meals require 30 minutes to an hour to prepare - 27 percent takes 60 minutes to an hour and a half, while 21 percent needed only 15 minutes to half an hour. Six percent were thrown together in less than 15 minutes.

Green Thumb Substiute Is Good Hose

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — It has always been my theory that the best substitute for a green thumb in gardening is a good hose. When in doubt, is my motto, water thoroughly and let's see what happens. You'd be surprised how often the theory works.

Occasionally, however, the most tender, loving care lavished on a plant or a planting still results in failure. Sometimes a tree — particularly a poplar — will simply succumb to old age. A moisture - loving tree set in hard, dry upland soil can't possibly be fed enough water artificially to survive into maturity; a plant of any kind that thrives in well-drained soil will literally drown if set in heavy, wet, clay soil.

A gardening friend of mine set in two rather expensive specimen trees, each of which, after doing extremely well for three years, died. He probed with a crow bar and found there was a rock ledge a short distance below the hole he carefully dug to receive them. Another gardener had bad luck with an evergreen hedge until he excavated the soil further and found he was planting in an area where the house builders had neatly buried masonry debris — strongly alkaline chunks of plaster and limestone which was over - sweetening soil which should have been on the acid side to support healthy evergreens.

Those of us who live in areas without sewer systems would do well to know exactly where our septic fields run — and avoid planting the area with anything heavier than a grass covering. This is a sort of insurance against sewage trouble.

For those who have drains running through their property to carry off water caught in footing tiles, the best way to beat repair bills is to blueprint the course of the drains — and keep major plantings away from them.

One neighbor returned from a trip to find — in dry weather — a foot of water in her basement. Water - seeking roots of several trees had forced their way into her underground drains and there made knots of roots which dammed the pipes, thus forcing underground water into the basement. They were cut out by a special piece of reaming equipment — but unless she has an expensive digging job to replace the drainage pipes with those made of root - proof materials, she must have the surgery repeated every couple of years.

Still another enemy of the garden is gas—the heating and cooking kind. A couple of years ago a neighbor fretted that an increasingly large area of an especially fine lawn was dying. The initial diagnosis indicated a fungus. It was treated—but the area spread. Then, because of a slight odor, a neighboring septic field was suspect. Finally, however, the real cause of the trouble was discovered: the gas line more than two feet down in the soil, had developed several leaks and was literally gassing the grass to death.

Lawn Furniture Trend Towards Better Styling

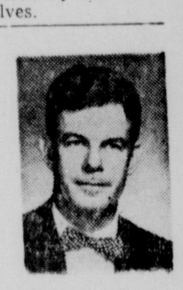

A major trend in outdoor furniture this year is the harmonious styling of nearly all pieces to form groupings. Thus, customers can purchase chairs, chaise lounges, hassock and cocktail tables that go together rather than clash as they have done so often in the past.

According to summer and casual furniture manufacturers, several new finishes and fabrics are making their appearance on the new summer furniture. An excellent example is the luminescent plastic fabric on furniture that retains its sparkle despite exposure to sun and rain. Used as webbing on aluminum-frame furniture, this material won't sag or stretch but provides comfort for even the heaviest persons.

The ultimate in harmony among individual pieces has been achieved in the Leisure Lounger group. Material used is a Saran puff which has a quilted appearance. The two chairs and hassock have slingtype seats. A matching cocktail table with a lift-off top that can be used as a serving tray is the fourth piece in this grouping.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Some Flowers Seldom Seen

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Three of the toughest old-fashioned flowers seem to be disappearing from some modern gardens.

Go to some old abandoned house place, and you will usually find growing among the high weeds about the fallen down chimney or near the smoke house some plants of honesty, dame rocket and, here and there, a spire or so of foxgloves. The old fashioned daylilies have now graduated into the modern garden as fine varieties, but some modern gardens lack the above-mentioned three.

Lovers of dried arrangements are apt to grow honesty for its silver "money". Its flowers are that shade of purple that just misses magenta. They look very much like the flowers of dame rocket because both of these plants belong in the family with turnip greens. Dame rocket is sometimes called sweet rocket. The tall spires come into bloom a month after honesty. Honesty is a good tough plant that will bloom with the violet tulips, while dame rocket blooms with the irises.

DAME ROCKET

There is a white form of dame rocket offered in the seed catalogues. Since the flowers are a good clean white and the plant grows almost like a weed, many experienced gardeners used to plant a lot of white rocket during June or July to bloom with their irises the next spring. Your columnist has seen Virginia gardeners tucking white rocket plants in, here and there, in late fall and early spring to produce "an effect" for the opening of their historic gardens in spring. Both rocket and honesty are biennials. When they are finished with their blooming, you can pull them up and let other plants fill in the pace. Plant a few seeds for next year to keep the succession going.

Foxgloves are biennials, too. The seeds from these tall spires usually manage to get about and come up like the rocket and honesty. Nothing in the spring garden provides us with just the size of the tall spires of foxgloves. These flowers are excellent in the background, but be sure to plant a few where you can come to close to them and see them close at hand. Man has been intimate with foxgloves for many centuries because they have provided him with one of his most important heart medicines.

There are probably more different kinds of digitalis than most people realize. Look in the seed catalogues, and you will find that there is even a yellow perennial foxglove.

This is a good time to sow seeds of these and the other biennials. For fall bloom, plant some of the many fine kinds of snapdragons now, too. These plants are really short-lived perennials. They usually go through all but the very coldest winters. Do not mind cutting snapdragons because what usually kills them is their overproduction of seeds. They literally flower themselves to death.

GREAT POTENTIAL FOR SUCCESS

Monroe's Industrial Future Lies In 772 Acres

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Monroe's future, industry-wise, is in 772 acres of land, flat as a billard table, on the eastern edge of the city and adjacent to Selman Field airport.

Just one year ago, after three attempts at reclaiming land used as an army air field during World War II, the city obtained full possession of the acreage, complete with a network of paved streets, utilities, and proximity to three interstate highway locations and to railroads.

The city dubbed the land "Monroe Industrial Park" and turned its development over to the Monroe Area Industrial Development Corporation.

Walter Koch, executive vice-president of MAIDCO, commented this week: "In 33 years of industrial development activities, I have had occasion to work with organizers of industrial districts in practically every state south of the Ohio River.

"I can say with confidence that in my experience, no industrial area offers a greater potential for success than the Monroe Industrial Park. It can't miss."

BORDERED

The park is bordered on the north by the Missouri-Pacific railroad, and on the south by the Illinois Central, with interconnecting lines and spur tracks to offer joint service to industries locating there. It is also in the switching limits of the city of Monroe.

Selman Field air terminal provides transportation on three airlines, Delta, Southern, and Trans-Texas, which goes into operation here tomorrow. Flights connect to all points in the nation.

Approximately 1,200 feet south of the park, coast-to-coast super highway 20 is proposed and will soon be under construction.

On the park's western boundary is direct north-south U.S. Highway 165 with 165 bypass under construction and on the north is U.S. Highway 80 coast-to-coast. Truck transportation will be another favorable factor for the park's industires.

A projected 9-foot channel on the Ouachita River is now under study by the Corps of Engineers.

CHANNEL

H. K. Thatcher, executive vice-president of the Ouachita River Valley Association, said last week that a newly-signed agreement for shipping gravel by barge down river will "more than justify the economic requirements necessary for assuring the nine-foot channel on the Ouachita."

The Moro Gravel Company of Warren, Ark. and the Arkansas Towing Company, Calion, Ark., completed a contract to ship 220,000 tons of gravel annually from Calion 100 miles down river to West Monroe.

This will add 22 million ton miles to the river's shipping records annually.

Since it is in the Monroe city limits, the park has a class three insurance rating, to provide a low rate of insurance on all industrial buildings.

"Monroe offers facilities which compare favorably with any other city of comparable size. Its Industrial Park has police and fire protection, and a new state highway patrol office is in the process of construction adjacent to the park," commented Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard.

The park is located in Ouachita Parish, which has seen a jump from 59,168 in 1940 to 89,100 residents in 1959.

SALES

Manufacturing output spurted from $121,000,000 in 1954 to $197,000,000 in 1958 and per capita income rose from $1,361 in 1954 to $1,515 in 1958.

The net effective buying income of the parish last year was $135,020,000 among 25,700 families. All these figures indicate continuous advancement in growth and business trends, factors essential for industrial expansion.

With this in mind, the city acquired the park land for the sole purpose of attracting new industries and new payrolls.

"The city's intention is not to sell the land and make a profit," pointed out Howard.

"The purpose is to lease this land on a long-term basis up to 99 years at a very nominal rent, depending on the size of the payroll involved," he continued.

"The government and citizens want industries, and we intend to use this park to secure new payrolls for our area. We won't let cost to industry be a deterring factor," he stressed.

Under terms of the Louisiana Industry Inducement Program, the city has a plan by which a building may be constructed to specification on a lease-back proposition.

Another advantage of the park is that it is city-owned and exempt from state and local ad valorum taxes.

LEASE

Since opening the park to industry, Concrete Products Co. has obtained a 20-acre lease, and several concerns are in the negotiation stage.

"The city has requested MAIDCO to handle promotion of the park," Howard noted. He continued, "We would like to express our appreciation to Richard Hale, president of the organization, W. E. Whetstone, vice-president David C. Silverstein, secretary-treasurer, and all members of MAIDCO for the splendid support and interest which they have given to this undertaking."

A park development committee, headed by Conway E. Crossland Jr., has been appointed, to serve as a coordinating group or liaison between the city and MAIDCO, to work out and recommend a comprehensive long-range master plan for development of the park, and to aid prospective industries in working out all phases of industrial location.

Howard noted that "labor, business, government and our general citizenship are anxious to assist in securing industry."

"A strong desire exists on the part of all our citizens for new industry. We have, in abundance, a wonderful attitude of cooperation and a large pool of responsible and dependable labor and natural resources," he continued.

POTENTIAL

"The fact that several national concerns have recently acquired land in Monroe and are building new shopping centers and stores indicates a strong potential for development here," city officials said.

The city council has indicated its "genuine pleasure in working with so many citizens who are interested in bringing more industry to Monroe."

"We have a product that industry needs: a fine city and area in which to live and do business and wonderful people who are ready to fill its needs," council members added.

The center of a 16-parish trade area, plus South Arkansas trade, Monroe also has a favorable climate which allows industrial employees to work on a year-round basis.

The weather also allows construction throughout the year, and the park area is completely drained.

The city has enacted certain regulations governing construction of buildings in the park, to insure orderly growth and attractive buildings.

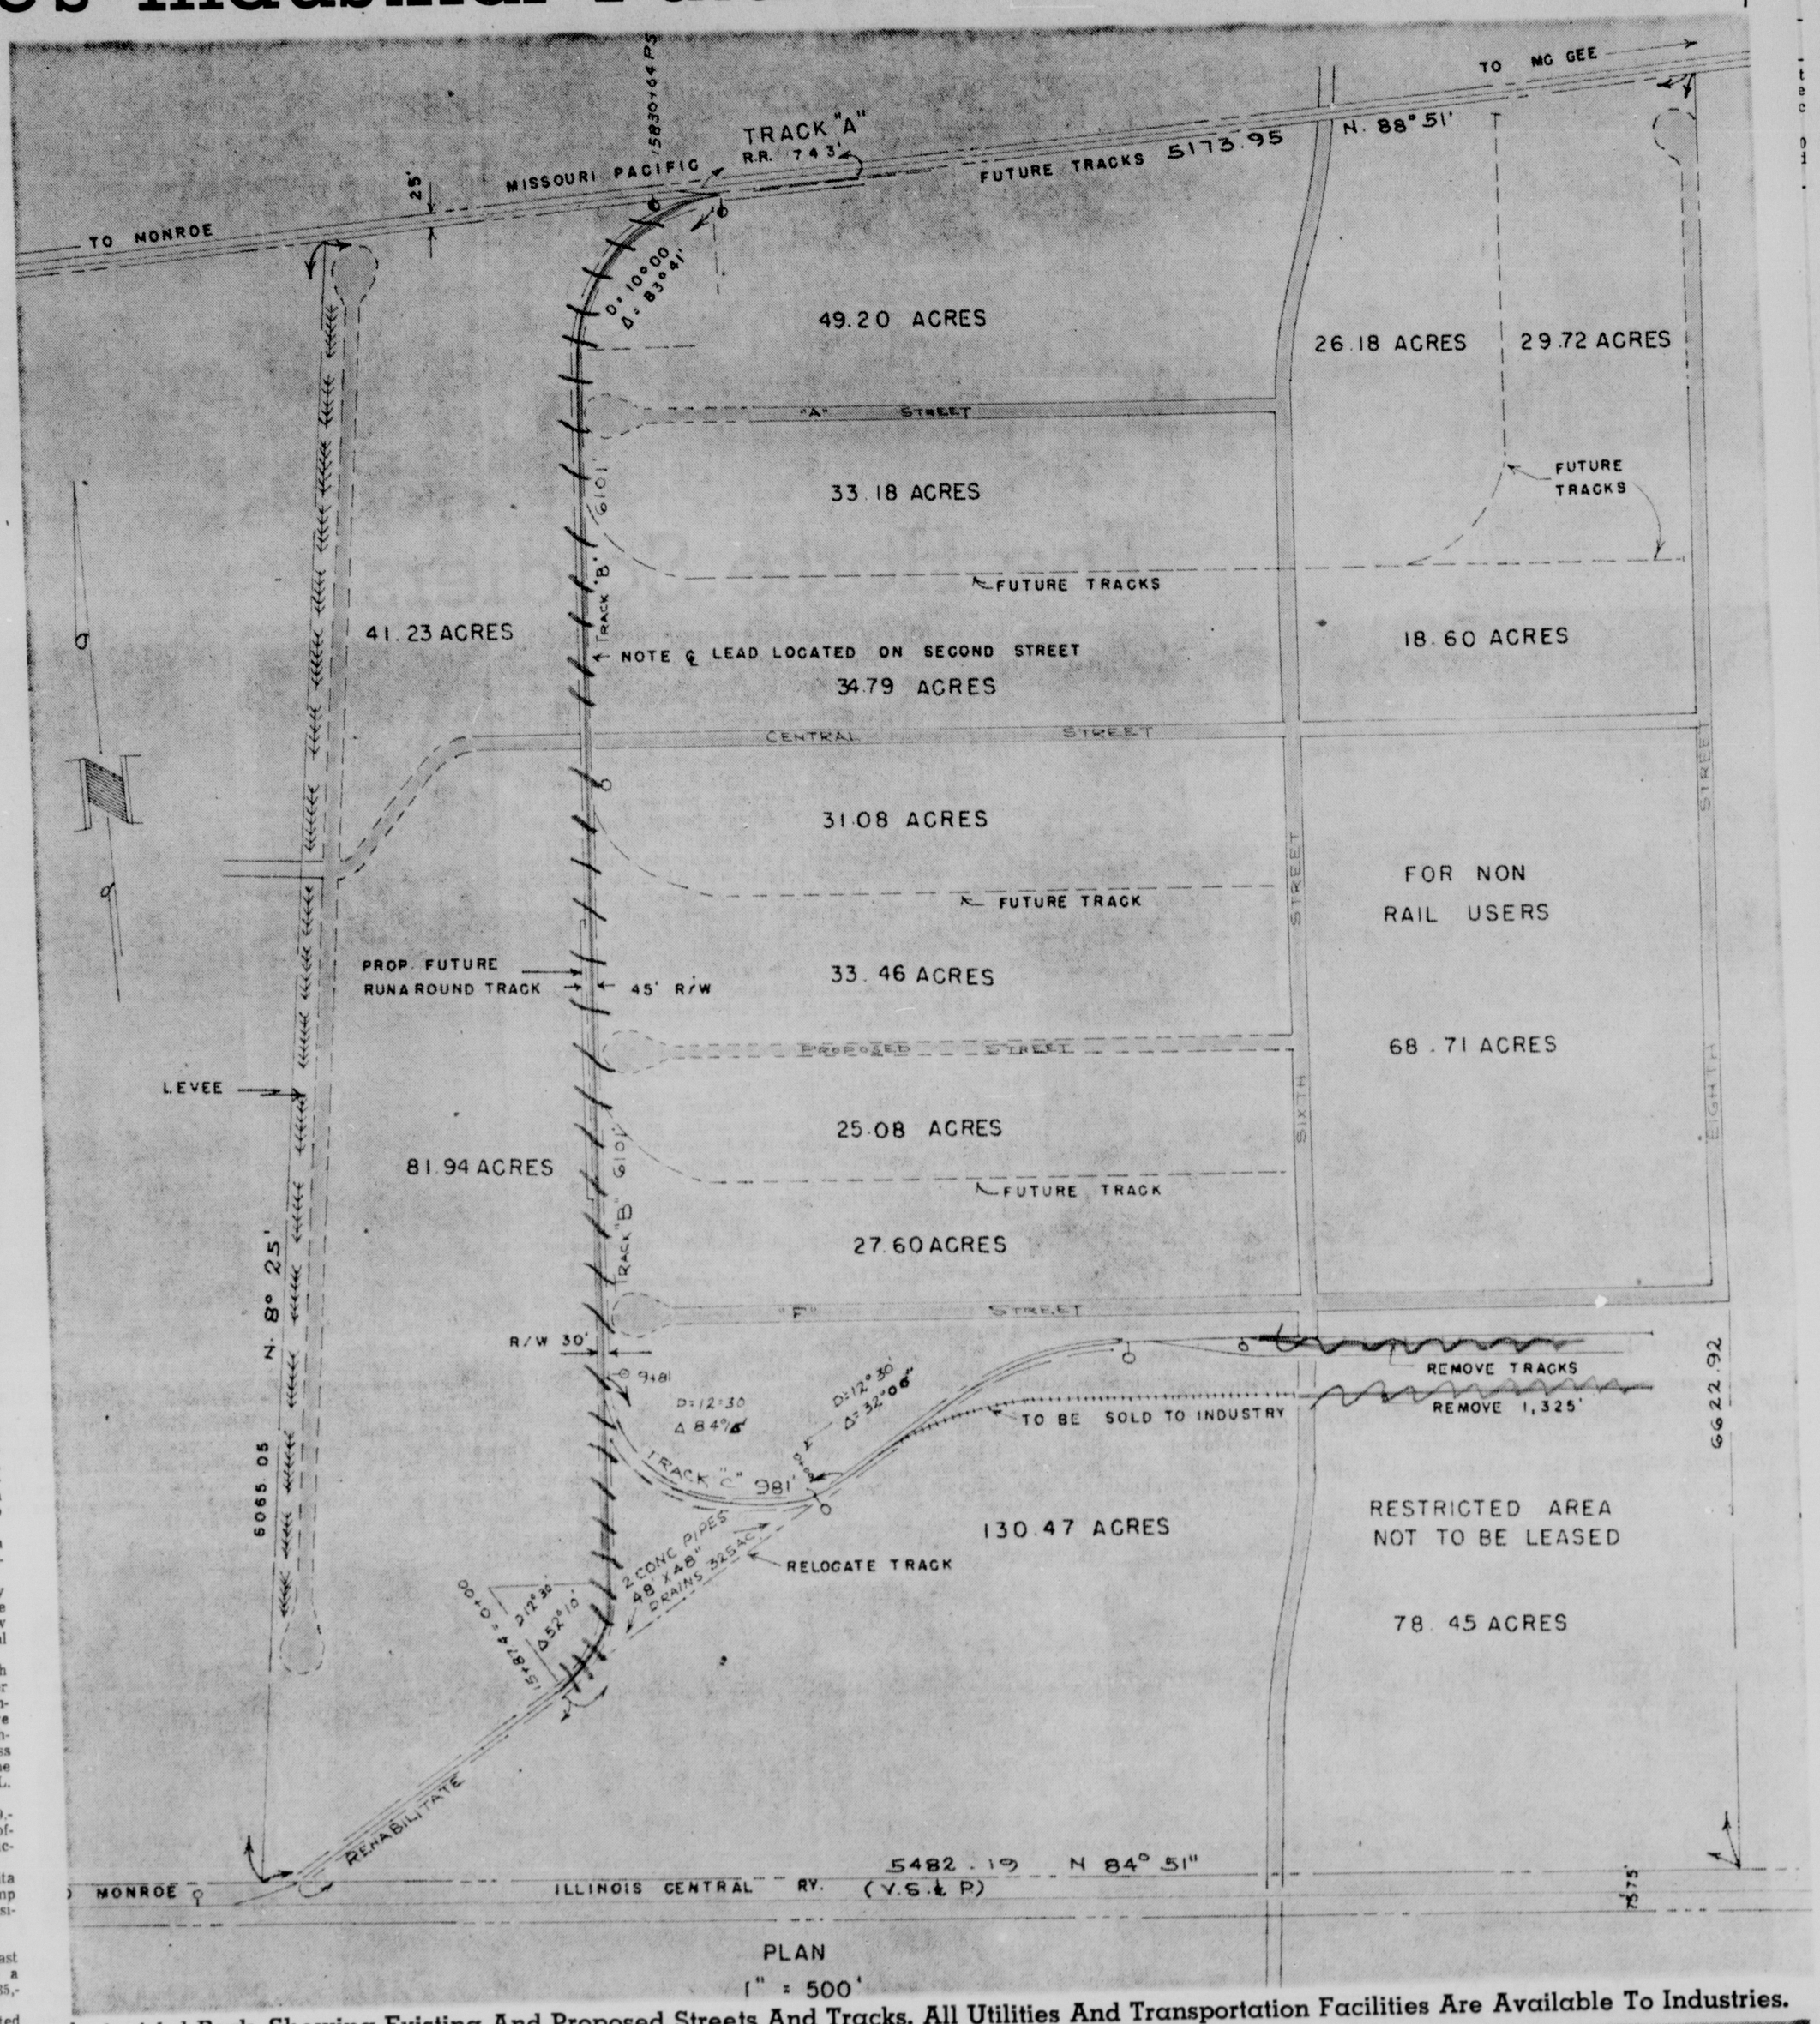

REGULATIONS

The regulations set aside certain areas for heavy industry using rail service, and other areas for lighter industries and non-rail users.

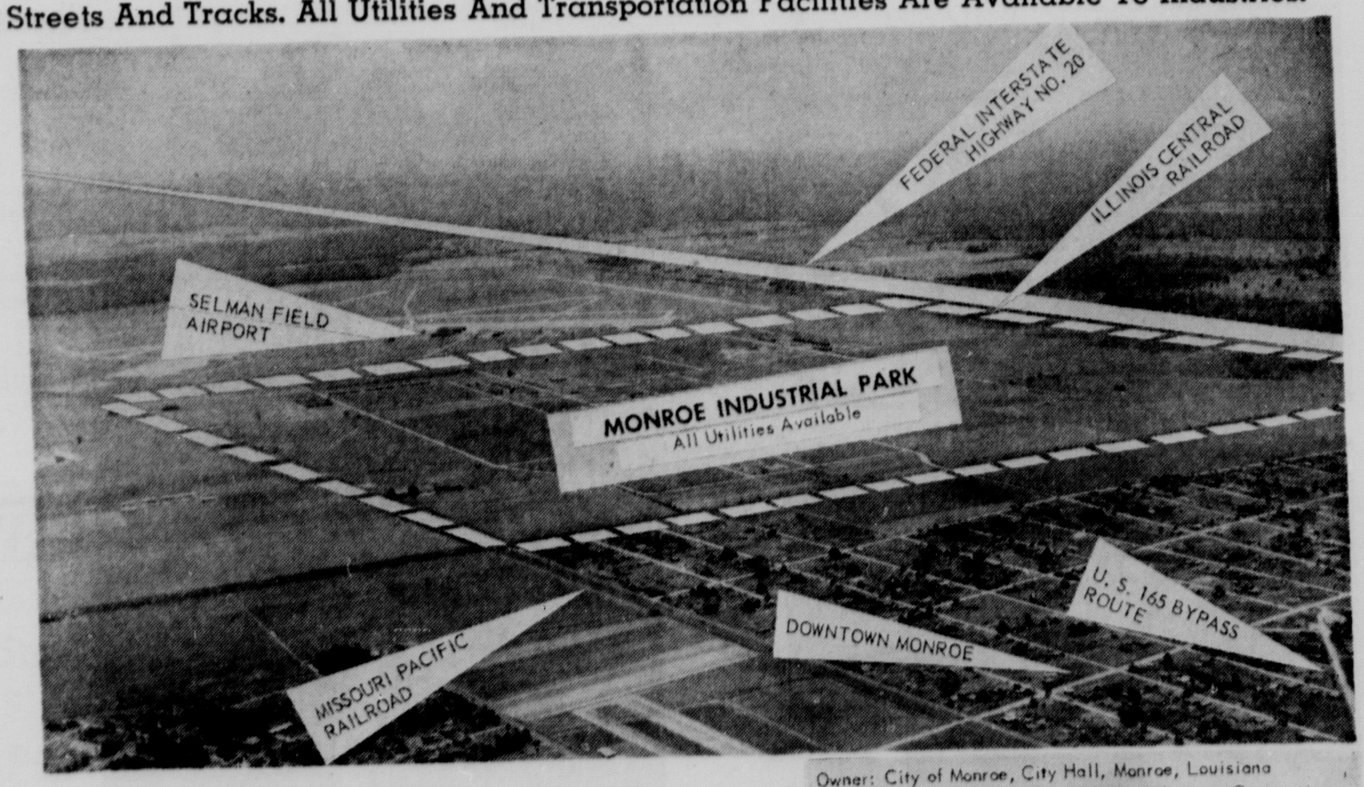

Such factors as set-backs from streets and adequate off-street parking all have been provided for in the restrictions placed on the park by the city.

Hale, MAIDCO president, voiced the sentiment of the organization and Twin City residents in commending the Monroe council's foresight.

"We appreciate the City of Monroe's action in making the Industrial Park available to the community. The great potential for future industry in the park, plus the extensive growth of business and residential expansion throughout Monroe, indicate continuous progress in the Twin City area," he stressed.

The Horse Soldiers

TEXT AND PHOTOGRAPHS By ROBERT EWING III

Through three long chill months during this past winter some of Hollywood's finest talent worked at a desolate location in the foothills of Natchitoches and for a two-week span in Natchez, Mississippi filming the five-million dollar color and cinemascope movie, 'The Horse Soldiers."

John Ford, one of filmdom's older and better directors, brought actors, actresses, photographers, technicians, costume and food trucks, horses, cameras and all other necessities that go into use in the filming of a big Hollywood production and set up his main location several miles from the outskirts of Natchitoches. John Wayne, William Holden, and a brilliant newcomer to stardom, Constance Towers formed the core of Ford's troupe.

The movie is basically an out of the ordinary Civil War story about the Union Army raiding behind the Confederate Lines to cut off supply routes to Vicksburg, Miss. It is fairly factual and takes place just prior to the Seige of Vicksburg.

Wayne and Holden portray two Union officers with conflicting ideas on war and mutual attraction toward the leading actress, Connie Towers.

Malcom Steen, formerly of Monroe and now a resident of Hollywood, has his best acting part to date in the film. Mike plays the part of a lieutenant in the Union ranks and is seen in a number of scenes throughout the movie. He took this writer on location several times and introduced him to just about everyone there and this was a tremendous help in obtaining permission to take the photographs published on this page that tell a story all of their own.

The time and effort that can be and quite often is consumed in a single scene that theatre audiences view for a few brief seconds may have taken a whole morning or even a day to complete. After many weeks of such work, the "on location" filming was completed and the company returned to Hollywood to add the final touches for the completion of the movie.

The movie will be released June 17 and Shreveport will have the honor of being the first city in North Louisiana to host a world premiere. The film will be shown there on that date after a day of entertaining the stars and other persons instrumental in the production.

Miss Constance Towers

Connie Towers, pretty newcomer to stardom, has her hair set prior to an upcoming scene. Miss Towers is appearing in her first movie and considers her part in The Horse Soldiers as the "best role since Scarlet O'Hara."

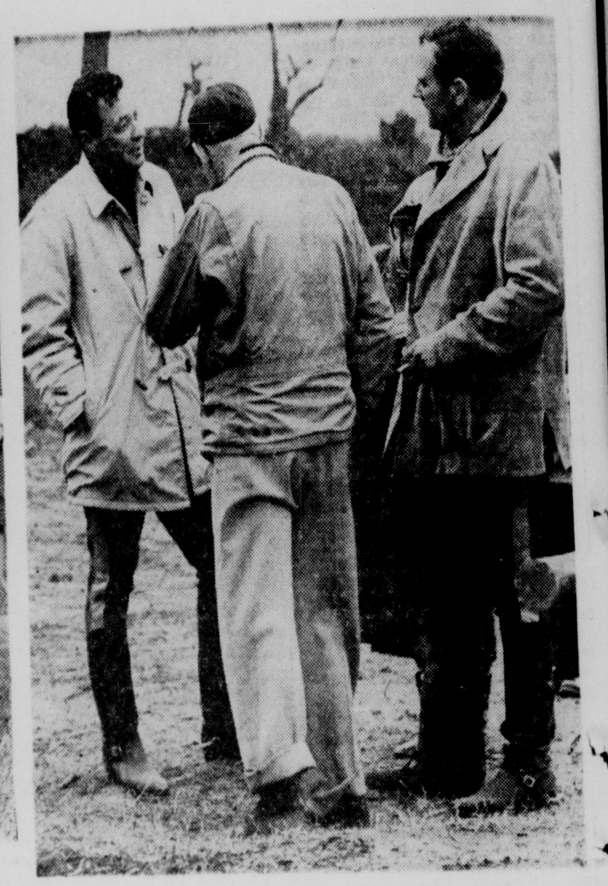

Coffee

Director John Ford pauses for a cup of coffee before the day's filming begins. Ford is a retired Admiral and has been directing movies since the silent film days.

Coffee too

John Wayne also stops for coffee before shootng begins on a brisk winter morning. Wayne at the age of 57 is still one of Hollywood's top attractions.

Scene discussion

William Holden, Director Ford, and John Wayne go over some of the finer points of a scene to be acted out between Holden and Wayne. The actors spent a great deal of their spare time going over minute details to make every scene to be filmed appear as natural as possible.

"Hoot" Gibson

One of Hollywood's oldest but not forgotten charcters, "Hoot" Gibson, returns to the screen for his first part in a film in many years. Gibson was one of the early western movie heros in an era of silent and then sound films . . . an era long since past that saw former westerern stars such as the late Buck Jones and Tim McCoy come and go.

House Takes Up Foreign Aid Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House takes up Monday a whittled-down and redirected version of President Eisenhower's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid program.

Leaders predicted passage about Wednesday, but foresaw tough negotiations later to reconcile the House bill with a still different version taking shape in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The House bill would authorize a $3,642,600,000 program for the year beginning July 1. This is $266,800,000 less than Eisenhower proposed, but the net reduction does not tell the whole story.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee cut $366,800,000 from military and grant economic aid items but added 100 million to Eisenhower's 700 million dollar recommendation for the development loan fund. This is the source of loans for hard-to-finance projects in underdeveloped countries.

The House committee moreover provided for a powerful new office, outside the Foreign Aid Administration, to keep a tight fiscal rein on the program.

The Senate committee also has shown preference for economic loans over grants, but in a way not likely to win favor in the House. The committee has put into its draft a provision for five-year financing of the development loan fund through loans from the U.S. Treasury.

But this method of financing is anathema to powerful members of the House, notably Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) and the rest of the appropriations committee, and Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va) of the rules committee. Smith has introduced a bill to ban what he terms back door financing.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said in an interview he will oppose the Treasury loan financing in any Senate-House conference and will so advise the House if the question is raised.

Some sources suggested that ultimate agreement might be reached on a two or three year financing plan based on a continuing authorization for appropriations rather than Treasury borrowing.

EXCELLENT construction. On big corner lot. To build this home today on this lot would cost double — ask any carpenter or contractor! It represents real livability — you really must get inside to feel the spaciousness of this fine home. None other on the sale market can compare with it in many ways. There are 3425 sq. ft. Large 26 ft. living room with fireplace, 20 ft. dining room, 11 ft. breakfast room with China cabinets built-in, very large kitchen with huge pantry, tile counters and floors, 4 of the 6 bedrooms are carpeted, 2 very large ceramic tile baths, side and back screened with ceiling fans. Air conditioned, 12 large closets, oak floors, floor furnaces, attic fan, ceiling fans through the house. Big double garage, maid's room and bath. Sleeping porch. Lifetime roof. Lot 125x145, pretty shade trees. After you've enjoyed this home with your family and children for many years, it will still be a good home with apartment possibilities. More than a home, it's a future investment. Call us for appointment.

We Have To Offer
WHAT THE AVERAGE HOUSEWIFE Is Really Looking For!

YOU ARE Invited to come out and see this home with large rooms, large grounds, large closets — in fact, space, space, space everywhere with a place for everything! The owner of this property has had long time experience in inspecting homes as her profession and has incorporated all the features essential for livability into this, her personal home. Only illness puts this home on the market now! The tastefully decorated interior has living room with mantle, separate dining room, TV room, and an exceptional kitchen —it's 12x24 ft. with 34 ft. of Formica topped cabinets, a "can goods" cabinet (6 ft. high) along entire wall, 10 windows, 20 electrical outlets in this room alone, and floors are lifetime terrazzo. Each of the 3 bedrooms have walk-in closets, 2 baths (one has dressing room). And you'll enjoy many hours on the 10x23 concrete porch and adjoining 16x32 patio. Other features include: the finest of drapes made by the Palace throughout the home, hardwood floors, Venetian blinds, attic fan, 220 wiring, insulation, aluminum awnings. Double carport, 10x16 storage room, solid concrete drive to street, sidewalks, and cool and shady well landscaped 75x150 ft. St. Augustine lawn with large shade trees. Located within walking distance of Neville, grammar schools, shopping (5 blocks of Dixie Dandy), all churches, and park. You can't find more for your money anywhere, but it will take a little money to handle. The price is $27,500 —$5000 down, no closing, and owner will take the mortgage. We invite you to see this today! Ph. FA 2-0270.

BOY, OBOY! ALL MY LIFE I'VE DREAMED OF COMING BACK... AND HERE I AM!

HOT DINGIES! IT'S EXACTLY AS I REMEMBER IT! PARADISE!... C'MON, UNCLE LUCKY, AND DON'T HAVE THE PLANE COME BACK FOR US FOR A WHOLE YEAR.

MAKE IT TEN YEARS! LOOK!... DIDN'T I TELL YOU THE GIRLS WERE BEAUTIFUL?

WELL, BY GEORGE! SO THEY ARE, NEPHEW!

BUT SURELY YOU REMEMBER ME! I WAS SHIPWRECKED HERE DURING THE WAR! I WAS THE ONLY MAN TO SET FOOT ON PINGO-PONGO FOR 17 MONTHS!

NO REMEMBER!

BUT YOU FOUGHT OVER ME! YOU CROWNED ME CHIEF! YOU...YOU...

MAYBE MAMA REMEMBER.

SCRAM, YOU! LEAVE OUR WOMEN ALONE!

ROSCO, HON-EE! BABY-PIE! YOU COME BACK!

WE COOK UM FEAST!

WE SING FOR HIM!

WE DANCE FOR HIM!

HELP! HOLD THE PLANE, UNCLE LUCKY! HOLD THE PLANE!!

The PHANTOM

By Lee Falk and Wilson McCoy

SKULL MARK~ ON YOUR JAW~ WHERE HE HIT US~

(GULP) WON'T COME OFF~

US CONFESS? YOU CRAZY?

YOU WANT TO CONFESS TO THE POLICE, OR COME TO THE JUNGLE WITH ME?

WE'LL CONFESS!

WHAT WERE THOSE SKULL MARKS ON THEIR JAWS?

THAT IS THE MARK OF THE PHANTOM WHEN EVIL HAS BEEN DONE. I MUST GO NOW!

GOODBYE, CONLEY. YOU ARE A GOOD BOY. GROW UP TO BE A GOOD MAN. REMEMBER, YOU WEAR THE GOOD MARK OF THE PHANTOM.

WILSON McCOY 6-14

STEVE CANYON

COL. CANYON, AN AMERICAN CAN'T KEEP MANY SECRETS OUT HERE...

...BETTER ACCEPT MY POLITE BLACKMAIL OFFER TO GO ALONG WHEN YOU MEET 'CONVOY'

AS YOUR OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENT, ALL I ASK IS A FEW MILLION WORDS OF EXCLUSIVE COPY— IF 'CONVOY' IS A GOOD STORY...

OTHERWISE I WILL IGNORE YOU—AND EVEN SPELL YOUR NAME WRONG IN MY MEMOIRS!

OKAY, SCRIBBLER! DON'T BEEF IF THIS TURNS OUT TO BE A PUBLICITY STUNT FOR SOME STATE-SIDE OIL COMPANY!

I FIGURE 'CONVOY' TO BE A PERSON

IF SAID PERSON IS IN THE HILLS AND YOU MUST HAVE A VEHICLE TO REACH THEM THE REDS WILL KNOW IT AT ONCE...

BESIDES, THE LOCAL WHEELS FORBID YANKEE SERVICE TYPES TO ROAM THE COUNTRYSIDE

IF YOU MAKE A MOVE, I'LL KNOW IT, TOO... SO YOU'RE COVERED, EVEN IF YOU DID SNUB ME!

LET ME THINK IT OVER, JOHNNY! —I'LL GIVE YOU AN ANSWER IN THE MORNING

NEXT MORNING

HAS COL. CANYON COME DOWN?

NO, EFFENDI MINK! HE HAS NOT YET EVEN RUNG FOR THE MORNING MEAL

HEY—DOOR'S OPEN...

AND SO IS THE HOLE IN MY HEAD!

STEVE'S GONE!

THREE OF 'EM! WHEN DO Y'FIGGER THEY GOT WALLED UP IN THERE TO DIE, FROG?

MUST HAVE BEEN IN 1932. THAT WAS WHEN TH' DUKE GOT KILT IN A DUEL IN SPAIN AND TH' DUCHESS CAME BACK HERE TO TH' CASTLE!

HAD A PUNY LITTLE GIRL CHILD, SHE DID. REAL SICKLY! HAD IDEAS, TOO, SEEMS AS HOW! REAL CRAZY, BAD IDEAS!

FIRST, THERE WAS HER BROTHER'S PRETTY WIDOW! SHE HAD A RIGHT TO HALF THE ESTATE! ALIVE SHE DID. THAT IS! TH' DUCHESS SAID SHE'D RUN OFF WITH A SAILOR! THAT'S HER IN THERE, IN TH' PINK DRESS!

'BOUT TH' SAME TIME SEAWEED SUE'S DAUGHTER CAME T'WORK AS A MAID FOR TH' DUCHESS. HER HUSBAND HAD BEEN LOST AT SEA. SHE HAD A BEAUTIFUL BABY, NOT A SICK, BAWLIN', PUNY ONE!

TH' DUCHESS ALWAYS FIGGERED TH' BEST WAS HERS, BY DIVINE RIGHT! TOO MANY FOLKS SELFISH THAT WAY! ALL FOLKS HEARD WAS THAT TH' MAID AND HER BABY FELL FROM TH' ROCKS IN A STORM, INTO TH' COVE. THE DUCHESS SAID SHE SAW IT!

BUT FROM THEN ON HER BABY WASN'T PUNY AND SQUALLIN' NO MORE. IT WAS HEALTHY AND ALWAYS LAUGHIN'!

WHY, THAT BABY MUST HAVE BEEN AUNT SUNDAY!

YEP! SUNDAY! HER MAW'S TH'ONE IN THERE IN TH' BLUE DRESS! AND TH' DUCHESS' SICKLY BABY'S IN THERE, TOO! ALL OF 'EM, FOR NIGH ONTO TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS NOW!

LEAPIN' LIZARDS!

THEN THE DUCHESS IS A TERRIBLE, CRUEL, WICKED MURDERER! C'MON! LET'S GET TH' COPS!

WHOA, ANNIE! BELAY THERE, MATEY! KNOWIN' A THING AND PROVIN' IT IS LOTS DIFFERENT! THERE'S TH' RUB!

WE'RE JUST LITTLE PEOPLE! SHE COULD SAY SUE AND ME DONE IT, FOR SPITE OR GREED OR JUST CUSSEDNESS! WE COULD GET HANGED!
